Mothers' Destiny.
Time Writes On Faces.
Beer Dearer, Judas Sad.
Beware of Diet Fads.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

YESTERDAY was Mother's Day. Florists sold more flowers.

Mothers probably got a few more perfunctory kisses than usual. But Mother's Day does not change the destiny of mothers.

They are here to create the children, care for them while they are helpless, watch their success, at a distance, when they succeed, and take them in, as failures, when they fail.

HOWEVER, a human mother's fate might be worse. A wolf, two years old, will help eat its mother if she is badly wounded. And the young of the scorpion cling to their mother's back, as she walks with them in the sunlight, gradually devouring her body until nothing is left but the empty shell. That at least is the reputation they bear.

WHAT TIME does to our faces you may learn from two photographs of Masefield, new poet laureate of England. The first shows Masefield when he tramped the roads, worked in a New York barroom and wrote, in verse, of his devotion to the workingman and tramp.

Then his hair was thick, his eyes flashed, his face was thin.

Now his hair is thin, his face fatter, eyes calmer. The changed face reflects a changed mind. The Masefield appointed poet laureate by the former workingman, MacDonald, in the name of King George, is not the Masefield that was barroom worker and friend of the workingman. We go with time, and time transforms us.

DR. LEOPOLD STIEGLITZ, brilliant physician, one of the ablest diagnosticians in America, said, speaking to this writer as a patient, not as a newspaper man:

"Beware of one-sided diets."

He included vegetarianism in his warning. One patient came to him in a bad condition, his blood 60 per cent below par, apparently headed for pernicious anemia. He had been living without meat, attempting to reduce weight.

DR. STIEGLITZ prescribed for him three heavy blood transfusions, which he was able to stand. They greatly improved his blood count. Then said Dr. Stieglitz:

"You cannot live on other people's blood. I want you to eat a big porterhouse steak every day, and build up your own blood."

The patient obeyed, his blood count went to normal, and instead of going to the grave, for which he was headed, he is back attending to business.

THIS IS PRINTED as a warning against food fads, also to encourage farmers that raise steers and sheep and Mr. White, of the Armour Company, and Mr. Swift, of his company and others that sell the meat.

We have in our mouths the teeth of wolves and of sheep, also part of the character of each. And we need the food of wolves and of sheep, meat, vegetables, fruit, plenty of it, and sour milk, especially in old age, to attack the intestinal bacteria.

A man's work is to cultivate the earth, and wise Providence has made him need all the earth's products.

It is unpleasant to disturb the kind-hearted vegetarian theory. But every competent doctor knows that the genuine vegetarian is usually more or less anemic.

JUDGE PARKER having failed of confirmation by the Senate, the President selects O. J. Roberts for the Supreme Court. Mr. Roberts' energy in prosecuting oil frauds for the government certainly has made him acceptable to any rebellious radical and his nomination probably will be confirmed.

AT THE SAME time, Mr. Roberts once ventured to criticize the prohibition law, and even the Constitutional amendment. Senator Sheppard takes that very seriously and Mr. Roberts' opinions, public and private, on prohibition are to be investigated minutely.

When will Supreme Court nominees be investigated for their religious beliefs? Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, professed no religion, imported his wines from France and recommended an English brewer to the Legislature of Virginia. He could not be confirmed if nominated to the Supreme Court today.

THE EARTHWIDE interest of the Roman Catholic church is illustrated in the present Eucharistic Congress at Carthage, site of the ancient city. A preceding congress was held in Chicago, great modern city.

ANCIENT CARTHAGE, great Semitic power across the Mediterranean, menacing Rome's existence, telling the Romans where they might and might not trade, was obliterated, burned, its site plowed and covered with salt, that grass might not grow again, by Pagan Rome.

Now Christian Rome sends many bishops and cardinals to the spot where the ancient city stood.

"MAN CANNOT foretell his destiny."

Cities cannot foretell theirs. New York may some day be a mass of intertwined fallen steel towers, a flying human race having moved away to the mountains and hilltops, no longer needing low, flat islands or waterfront facilities.

INDIA REBELS RAID BRITISH SALT PLANT

Police Take 215 in Clash; Poetess Heads Revolt as Gandhi's Aide Is Jailed

BOMBAY, India, May 12.—(AP.)—The first great raid on a salt depot by Mahatma Gandhi's followers occurred today at Shiroda.

Police swooped down on the Hindu raiders, caught them in the act and arrested about 150.

News of the wholesale arrests was communicated to Bombay this evening by the Maharastra Satyagraha (civil disobedience) Committee.

Two groups of volunteers had worked half an hour unmolested when the police arrived. Of the 150 arrested, all but about 20 leaders were released.

NEW RAIDERS TAKE SALT

Meanwhile another body of volunteers reached the depot and removed large quantities of salt. Police arrested sixty-five more raiders.

Great crowds of villagers surrounded the raiding parties, eagerly buying the misappropriated salt.

The raid followed by a few hours the arrest of Abbas Tyabji, successor to the captive Mahatma Gandhi, and a demonstration outside the jail at Navsari, where Tyabji was lodged.

The restless crowd milled about the jail and sang Nationalist songs.

Tyabji was arrested with 59 of his followers when he started on a march early today to raid government salt depots at Dharasana.

Coal Operator's Wife Ready To Appeal Death Penalty Before Courts, Governor

WHEELING, W. Va., May 12.—In an effort to save Irene Schroeder, "blonde trigger girl" and former Wheeling waitress, from the electric chair, Mrs. Ella J. Mountz, wealthy wife of F. J. Mountz, coal operator, of Smith's Mills, Clearfield County, Pa., has written to the Rev. H. O. Teagarden, of Piedmont, O., a letter in which she says that she "will stick to Irene until the end."

Irene is confined in the Lawrence County Jail at New Castle, Pa., along with W. Glenn Dague, both sentenced to death in the electric chair following conviction of the murder of State Highway Patrolman Corp. Brady Paul, of Pennsylvania, near New Castle, December 27 of last year.

DEFENSE FUND RAISED

Mr. Teagarden was formerly pastor at the Sandhill Methodist Episcopal Church, where Dague was superintendent of the Sunday School class. He is taking an active part in the defense and is raising money to carry the case to the higher courts. Acting for the pair, Mr. Teagarden left today for New Castle and Youngstown to confer with counsel for Irene and Dague.

The wealthy coal operator's wife is quoted by Mr. Teagarden as saying in her letter:

"I want to write to you to tell you that I have decided to assist you in your effort to save Irene Schroeder from the electric chair. You can tell her that I will never desert her and in my opinion she will never get the extreme penalty. I expect to appear personally before the Pennsylvania governor and also the pardon board of the state, as well as calling attention to the Humanitarian Court Council of Philadelphia.

ATTACKS STATE LAW

"Do not be discouraged and tell Mrs. Schroeder that I will stick with her until the end. Pennsylvania has a criminal law. The state only executes the poor. The wealthy are always acquitted.

"I call attention to the case of the State vs. Hamilton and Gibbell, of Philadelphia, where convictions were pushed for the murder of an officer and the wounding of another, in which they were both acquitted.

"Irene Schroeder was left motherless at the age of 9. She should receive pity instead of being censured. Capital punishment has no place on the statute books of any state. I expect to use all of my influence to prevent the execution of Mrs. Schroeder and you can rest assured that I will help you."

Mrs. Glenn Dague has visited her husband on several occasions since his conviction, according to Mr. Teagarden, and will continue to assist in his defense.

FINAL TRIBUTES PAID WINTERS

Activities at the City-County Building were suspended today while city officials and employes of many of the city and county departments attended funeral services for City Controller Daniel Winters, who died last Thursday in Cleveland.

Hundreds of South Siders viewed the body in the South Side Presbyterian Church from 11 o'clock today until services started at 2 p. m. Children and adults formed the long line passing down the center aisle of the edifice, where the Rev. Dr. Robert L. Hutchinson and the Rev. Dr. C. W. Petty would conduct services.

Additional services were to be conducted by Pittsburgh Commandery, Knights Templar. Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, held services at the home, 1905 Carson street, Saturday night.

Secretary of Labor Davis, who was expected to fly here from Washington today to attend the funeral, was unable to do so because of poor flying conditions, his secretary, Fred W. Jones announced. Davis and Winters were close friends for many years.

French Flier Off to Brazil With Mail

PARIS, May 12.—(INS.)—On the heels of the ill-fated attempted long-distance flight of the Mexican ace, Pablo Sidar, an adventurous French airman, Jean Mermoz, took off from St. Louis, Senegal (West Africa), today, in an effort to fly across the South Atlantic to Natal, Brazil.

A dispatch from the Senegal port stated Mermoz started at 11 a. m., Paris time (6 a. m., Eastern daylight savings time).

Mermoz is attempting the hazardous flight in a new type of hydro-airplane constructed especially for him. He is carrying a cargo of mail and hopes to cut down the usual time required for shipment of the post from the African to South American shores.

In an effort to ensure the flier's safety, four speedy sea-going tugs were stationed along the trans-Atlantic route to aid Mermoz should he be forced down on the crossing.

Rover Boys' Creator Dies, Burial Today

NEWARK, N. J., May 12.—(INS.)—Funeral services will be held here today for Edward Stratemeyer, who wrote the Rover Boys series under the pen name of Arthur M. Winfield. He was 67.

PIRATES SET TO BREAK TIE

Their consistent skidding having dropped them into a three-cornered tie for fourth place, the Pirates are back home this morning on top of a very disappointing day in Brooklyn. Uncle Robbie's lively athletics subdued the Buccos by a score of 10 to 2.

The two teams headed for Pittsburgh at the conclusion of the contest, they being scheduled to wind up their series this afternoon at Forbes Field.

The Phillies will come to Pittsburgh tomorrow to start a four-game series.

Bank Wins Appeal In Cambria Verdict

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(INS.)—The Supreme Court here today, in an opinion by Chief Justice Robert Von Moschzisker, reversed the Cambria County Court and gave judgment against S. H. Cauffiel in favor of the First National Bank of Hooversville, in an action involving $6,500 notes. The Cambria Court is directed to assess the amount due.

The bank sued Cauffiel over seven notes issued by Gibb & Brown, Inc. The notes contained a guarantee signed by Cauffiel, who claimed they had been stolen before they could be put into circulation.

Cardinals Observe Pope's 'Name Day'

VATICAN CITY, May 12.—(AP)—The Vatican today celebrated Pope Pius' "onomastico," or name day. In accordance with custom, those cardinals resident in or visiting Rome called upon him to congratulate him.

Pope Pius' name is Achille. St. Achilleius, whose feast it is today, is considered his patron. In most of Italy "onomastico" is observed almost as birthdays are in Anglo-Saxon countries, but Pope Pius will be 73 on May 31, so there will be no celebration on a large scale until then.

Police Rush Oxygen to Ammon

Police of the South Side Station today were summoned to the home of Attorney Franklin A. Ammon, of 2258 Dellrose avenue, Carrick, and stood by prepared to administer oxygen to the stricken attorney, whose condition today took a sudden turn for the worse.

Mr. Ammon suffered a stroke last Monday. His physician, Dr. C. E. Kirk, fearing that the crisis would come today, had summoned police to administer oxygen if that should prove necessary.

Ammon was leader in the movement which resulted in Carrick's annexation to Pittsburgh. He defended Joseph Valotta, whose trial for murder attracted much attention in the state, and resulted in several appeals for clemency being made to the governor. Valotta died in prison while waiting action on the appeals.

John D.'s Golf Foe To Undergo Surgery

BOSTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Gen. Adelbert Ames, 93, oldest ranking general of the Civil War, was in Massachusetts General Hospital today for a serious operation.

Gen. Ames was governor of Mississippi immediately after the Civil War. He married a daughter of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. He is now a resident of Tewksbury, Mass. Gen. Ames is a close friend of John D. Rockefeller, Sr. and they have had many battles on the golf links.

Ice Breaks as Yukon Welcomes Summer

DAWSON, Y. T., May 12.—(AP.)—The ice in the Yukon River in front of Dawson commenced to break up and move down stream at 6:43 o'clock last evening, heralding the advent of summer and the opening of navigation. The ice moved out quietly with the lowest water stage ever recorded here.

BLUE LAWS HIT IN HEAVY VOTE

The return in the Blue Law poll of Pittsburgh by the Sun-Telegraph is just two ballots short of 5,000 with the latest count of votes.

The new figures make virtually no change in the ratio of eight votes favoring repeal for every ballot cast in favor of the blue law in its present form.

While that ratio is maintained, the overwhelming majority of the registered voters advocating an open Sunday, instead of the rigidly closed Sunday prescribed by our Colonial fathers, is rapidly mounting with each new tabulation of votes.

STANDING OF POLL

For the Blue Law	531
For modification	308
For repeal	4,159

A high average of ballots returned promptly by the voters of the 32 wards of the city is shown by the compilation of figures for the first five days since the counting began. They average 1,000 a day, indicating that more than 25 per cent of voters receiving ballots

SLAPS TRADED IN VOTE RACE

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(AP.)—This is the "crucial" week in Pennsylvania's Republican primary fight between candidates on the various tickets.

One week from tomorrow voters throughout the state will go to the polls to decide the fate of their favorites for governor, United States senator and lesser offices. All candidates will be busily engaged this week in winding up their campaign tours.

The Davis-Brown committee made public a long list of labor organizations which have in-

Hoover Holds Stag For Earl of Derby

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP.)—President Hoover invited a small company to a White House stag luncheon today in honor of the Earl of Derby, who stopped over on his way to Louisville to witness the Kentucky Derby. Those invited were Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, Secretary Mellon, Undersecretary Mills, Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia, and Hugh Wallace, former ambassador to France, whose guest Lord Derby is while in Washington.

Uniontown Mine Fire Under Control

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 12.—After 10 hours of continuous effort, mine rescue crews and others succeeded early today in extinguishing the fire 800 feet from the mouth of the Clyde No. 2 mine of the W. J. Rainey Company, Washington County.

The blaze originated yesterday from a short circuit of electric wires and rapidly gained headway. No one was in the mine at the time of the fire.

Brown's $1,000,000 Estate Left to Daughter

Pittsburgh charities are remembered in the will of Louis Brown, 704 Amberson avenue, formerly president of the Oil Well Supply Company, which was filed for probate today, disposing of an estate estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The Episcopal Church of the Ascension receives $10,000; St. Barnabas Free Home, $10,000; Y. M. C. A., $5,000; Pittsburgh Skin and Cancer Foundation, $5,000.

A daughter, Mrs. Margaret E. Fleming, is given the residue of the estate, more than one-half, after additional bequests, as follows: Four grandchildren, Margaret E., Thomas, III, John E. and Louis B. Fleming, $75,000 in trust each until they are 21, when they receive the principal; his brother, Albert Brown, of Los Angeles, $100,000; his son-in-law, Thomas Fleming, Jr., $25,000; Emanuel Yuon, butler, $2,500, and Harry Lane, chauffeur, $2,500.

BODIES OF MEXICAN AIRMEN RECOVERED AFTER CRASH

FALL IN SEA ON RECORD FLIGHT

Capt. Pablo Sidar, Mexican Ace, and Capt. Rovorosa Killed in Heavy Storm

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 12.—(AP)—The bodies of two Mexican airmen, who survived bullets but died in an electrical storm, lay today in a morgue at the Atlantic coast town of Porto Limon, after a gallant but futile attempt to break the world's long distance flight record.

Col. Pablo Sidar, ace of the Mexican Aviation Corps, and his co-pilot and mechanic, Capt. Carlos Rovirosa fell into the sea about three miles south of Porto Limon about 5 p. m. yesterday, while flying to escape an electrical and hail storm.

BOTH BODIES RECOVERED

With their crash, far off the planned course down the American Pacific Coast to Chile and across the Argentine, a distance of 6,000 miles, they had traveled about 1,000 miles. They left Cerro Loco (Crazy Hill), near San Geronimo, Oaxaca, Mexico, at 5:21 a. m., almost 12 hours before the disaster.

Boats from Porto Limon recovered the bodies of the two men, that of Col. Sidar being dashed into fragments. The monoplane, of American make, and known as the Morelos, after the Mexican independence hero, was smashed into bits.

HERO OF REVOLUTION

Cause of the accident was undetermined, but it was believed the unusual weight of the plane, which carried 1,030 gallons of gasoline and weighed five tons, together with hazardous atmospheric conditions brought on by the approaching storm, caused the crash.

Col. Sidar largely had taken the place in Mexican affection left vacant with the plane crash death of Capt. Emilio Carranza two years ago at Mt. Holly, N. J. Just 27 years old, he had earned a name for daring and skill. During the revolution of a year ago his observer once was shot dead in the plane beside him.

U. S. ORCHESTRA PLEASES ITALY

TURIN, Italy, May 12.—(INS.)—The New York Philharmonic Orchestra today had won the excited approval of a band of music lovers, with Italy's beloved Arturo Toscanini leading it on to triumph.

At the completion of the concert in Regio Theater here Sunday night, the demand for encores was so insistant that lights were turned out and the theater placed in darkness to compel the audience to leave.

A long line of patrons had formed at the theater eight hours before the concert began. Hundreds were turned away.

Unidentified Body Taken From River

The body of an unidentified white man, about 45, was found in the Monongahela River at Wood street today by George C. DeWees, an employe of the steamboat Liberty. On the man's body was discovered check No. 18 of the maintenance of way department, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad.

INDIANS RAID SALT PLANT

Naidu, Hindu poetess, selected by the Mahatma to succeed automatically as leader.

Mrs. Saironji Naidu, impetuous Hindu poetess on whose shoulders today fell Mahatma Gandhi's mantle as leader of the civil disobedience campaign, is the only woman ever to preside over the Nationalist Congress. She steered the all-India National Congress in 1925 safely through a political fight.

Gandhi, prior to his arrest, fixed the order of succession to the leadership to include first Tyabji and then Mrs. Naidu.

STEPS TO TIGHTEN REIN

The seizure of Tyabji coincided with government plants for a tightening of control of the entire Indian situation.

While the arrested leader and his cohorts were being transferred to the jail just outside of Navsari, civil authorities in Sholaspur announced two more military detachments had been sent from Poona, the second battalion of the Royal Ulster Rifles and a battalion of headquarters troops, to complete military control of that disturbed community.

Almost simultaneously British authorities in the Gujerat district sent a final notification to the Haji of Turangzai, serving notice to remove speedily with his followers from the vicinity of the recently embattled Peshawar.

THREE KILLED IN RIOT

SHILLONG, India, May 12.—(AP.)—Belated reports today said casualties of 100, with three killed and 10 seriously wounded, resulted Saturday at Digboi during a riot between Hindus and Moslems.

The riot occurred when a bullock, regarded as sacred by the Hindus, was led to sacrifice by Moslems in a festival.

Twenty-four arrests were made.

COMMISSION TO REPORT

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—The report of the Simon commission on India will be submitted in June, Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India, announced today in the House of Commons.

British Air Forces Raid Haji's Troops on Border

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—A British airplane raid was made yesterday against the forces of the Haji of Tuangsai on the nothwestern frontier of India, Wedgewood Benn, secretary of state for India, announced in the House of Commons today.

Benn added the results of the raid were not yet known.

Benn said the air raid became necessary when the Haji had met a warning to leave by blocking the highroad with felled trees.

At that time he was within 20 miles of Peshawar.

Death of Girl, 18, In Creek Mystery

NEW PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—A verdict of death from unknown cause was indicated following the investigation into the death of Clara Campbell, 18, of Newport, whose body was found in Stillwater creek Friday afternoon by Sheriff Harry Smith and Coroner J. F. Lewis. No evidence of violence was found.

Deer Drive Halts Until Fawns Grow Strong

NOME, Alaska, May 12.—(AP.)—Three thousand reindeer, being driven into Canada on order of the Canadian government, have halted their long march in the Hunt and Colville River section until the end of the fawning season, when newborn deer are strong enough to join the drive.

A surgeon who was accompanying the herders, a Dr. Benson, was in a hospital here today, recovering from what was believed to be frozen lungs after being brought to Nome in a plane piloted by Victor Ross.

marked and deposited them in the mail without delay.

The tabulation for the fifth day comprised 997 ballots, where were divided as follows: For the Blue Laws, 128; for modification, 63; for repeal, 806.

DIVISION OF VOTE

The division between men and women in the total vote to date is:

For the Blue Laws, 313 men and 218 women; for modification, 175 men and 133 women; for repeal, 2,974 men and 1,185 women.

Postcard ballots are now being mailed to the second 25 per cent of registered voters in each ward of the city. The first distribution of ballots was limited to approximately 25 per cent of voters in each ward so that the sentiment in every section might be registered before completing the poll in individual wards.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—The returns of the Blue Law poll of Philadelphia by the Philadelphia Record to date on the three questions presented to the voters are:

For the Blue Laws	25,085
For modification	7,395
For repeal	96,556

Pope Holds Immoral Venice Art Exhibit

VATICAN CITY, May 12.—(AP.)—The Osservatore Romano tonight quoted Pope Pius X as condemning as immoral pictures exhibited in the Venice Biennial Art Exposition. Previously the Cardinal Patriarch of Venice had ordered non-attendance at the exhibition.

The Pontiff's speech declares showing of such pictures in Italy is contrary to the letter and spirit of the Lateran treaty.

Henry Rodman, of Evans avenue, McKeesport, was placed on trial in Criminal Court today charged with the murder of Joseph Silan, merchant, of 625 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, last February 2 in a holdup of Silan's store. Judge J. H. McLaughry, of Mercer County, presided.

Fined $100 in Using Slugs in Telephone

Sam Harris, 38, of Buffalo, N. Y., was fined $100 by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today on an accusation that he had placed slugs in telephones in the Fort Pitt Hotel when making long distance calls. He was charged with being a suspicious person.

FACTION SEEKS TO HALT TAXI PEACE

Rival Meeting Called In Attempt to Thwart Vote; Guard Duplication

With balloting in progress on acceptance or rejection of the taxicab companies' proposal for their return to work, a meeting has been called by a group of striking cab drivers seeking to thwart the vote. Ballots were mailed to the drivers Saturday.

The meeting, called by John E. Tait, Thomas E. Hoover, P. McCann and Fred Shaffer, former cab drivers, was to be held in the assembly hall of Old St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Seventeenth street and Liberty avenue.

Father James R. Cox, pastor of the church, who sponsored the proposal made to the men by the companies, said that he knew nothing of the meeting, but that the hall is available to all strikers and has been at all times.

CHARGED TO RADICALS

Ralph Trafford, chairman of the relief committee, and other members of the strikers' executive committee, have charged that the movement to upset the peace proposal vote is being sponsored "by a handful of radicals representing the Trades Union Unity League, a Communist organization."

Representatives of the strikers' committee and the Parmelee Company said today that a reported duplication of ballots for the peace vote was erroneous.

It was said that to prevent any duplication, each ballot is initialed by a company representative and a representative of the strikers as it is printed and mailed out.

INVESTIGATION ON

In one reputed case of duplication, envelopes were sent out to L. Henderson and R. G. Henderson, both at the same street address. An investigation showed that there were two such persons and that both resided at the same address, Parmelee officials said.

The probable way that a duplication might occur, officials of the company declared, would be in cases where a driver for the Yellow Cab Company might have switched over to the Green Cab Company a few days before the strike, or vice versa and their names for that reason appeared on both payrolls.

FILE FRAUD CHARGE

George Seibert, business agent of the Pile Drivers and Dock Workers' Union; Jack Tait and Thomas Hoover, striking drivers' leaders, called on officials of the Postoffice Department charging that the balloting was fraudulent. Postal authorities attributed the alleged duplications to clerical errors in mailing the ballots and said they saw no basis for the fraud claims.

are gathering, and the price of beer has risen.

Actors are not paid, depending on a share of the profits, and using their homes as boarding places. A pathetic figure is Guido Mayr, playing the part of Judas. Nobody will board at his pension. Sad for him, but interesting as demonstrating the religious sincerity that draws the crowd.

ONE INDUSTRY, cigarets, during 1930 will show greater profit than in any year in history, sales increasing, profit forty cents a thousand greater than last year.

Cigarets are smoked by 24,000,000 people in this country. Once the cigaret was considered effeminate. Now it is essential in the equipment of a movie or theatre hero.

PUBLISHERS will note that cigaret prosperity is based on aggressive advertising, with the popular brands, in alphabetical order, Camels, Chesterfields, Luckies and Old Gold, spending each many millions a year.

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—Miss Edith McClain, 25, Philipsburg, was killed early yesterday in an automobile accident which befell a party of three while they were en route to their homes to spend Mother's Day. Her neck was broken.

Miss Vera Hummel, 27, of Mt. Lebanon Township, Pittsburgh, suffered concussion of the brain and remained in an unconscious condition in the Westmoreland Hospital here.

The driver, Stephen Stugas, 28, of Export, failed to see a horse in the road in time to avoid striking the animal, whose head was thrown through the windshield. Sturgas lost control of the machine, which crashed into a house. Sturgas was only slightly injured.

PORTS REOPEN IN BLACK SEA

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 12.—(AP.)—The first tourist steamer to venture, or to be allowed to venture, into the Russian ports of the Black Sea since Russia went Bolshevik arrived here yesterday. She is the Atlantis of the Royal Mail Line and carries 220 tourists, mostly English.

The ship left today for Odessa, Sebastopol and Valta, one of the most popular summer resorts in the Crimea in Czarist days. A Soviet agent arrived here to conduct the tourists in and out of Russian territory.

JAPAN FLOATS NEW WARSHIP

YOKOSUKA, Japan, May 12.—(AP.)—Japan's newest cruiser, the Takao, was launched here today with Empress Nagako and a dozen other members of the imperial family, as well as a large group of distinguished men and women, watching the ceremonies.

Attending the Empress were Princes Fushimi, Kanin and Kuni, Princess Chichibu, wife of the heir apparent, and eight other princesses of the imperial family.

The Premier and acting minister of the navy, Yuko Hamaguchi, Home Minister Adachi and high naval officers were present. Admiral Togo, Japan's naval hero, was indisposed and did not attend.

Yokosuka was brilliantly decorated with flags and bunting. The weather was overcast. About 50,000 persons witnessed the launching—one of the most pretentious in Japan since the Washington conference stopped battleship construction.

The Takao is a 10,000-ton craft, fifth of the famous Nachi class and ninth of Japan's cruisers carrying eight-inch guns.

SAYS HOOVER KEPT HANDS OFF PACT

Stimson Tells Senate Group Naval Delegates Acted on Own Initiative

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Hoover at no time intervened with any instructions as to what the American naval delegates at London should or should not do, Secretary of State Stimson declared today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"If any mistakes were made," Stimson said, "the responsibility rests with the delegates themselves."

Stimson was the first of the treaty's defenders to appear before the Senate committees that plan to anlyze it thoroughly before ratification.

WITHOUT INSTRUCTIONS

Stimson said the American delegation went to London without any specific instructions from the President.

"We are profoundly grateful for that conduct for it was an intricate situation and no negotiations can be carried on by persons 3,000 miles away," he said.

The mission of the American delegation, Stimson said, was to co-operate in terminating naval competition, assure equality between the United States and British navies, assume satisfactory naval relationships with Japan and try to reduce general tonnage.

"We were concerned with the naval construction program of France, Italy and Japan only so far as they affected the British Navy," Stimson said.

TONNAGE ACCORD

Complete agreement was reached in tonnage limitation and the only problem upon which complete solution was not reached was that of British-French-Italian relations.

"On every major question," he said, "unanimous agreement was reached. The American delegation knew its own mind and knew it was unanimous. That had a great effect on the conference. It resulted in an ultra-unanimity on the part of the naval advisors which stood out as one of the features of the conference.

"It's rather difficult to exaggerate the differences which bristled at this conference. Unlike conferences over technical matters, each delegation felt that it knew thoroughly what it wanted in the way of armaments."

Borah adjourned the hearing until tomorrow before Stimson had finished reading his statements.

BISHOP BACKS ARMY, NAVY

NEW YORK, May 12.—(INS.)—There is a great deal of "loose talk" about the United States Navy and those who think America no longer needs the Army and Navy ignore the "plain facts of life."

That was the message carried today by more than 1,000 officers and enlisted men of the Navy who heard Bishop William T. Manning speak Sunday at a special service in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

It is the duty of the nation to maintain both the Army and Navy, the Bishop said.

Man Helpless Nine Hours, Wrecks Fan to Bring Aid

A brick tossed into a ventilating fan of the restaurant of J. Rookley, at 3710 Forbes street, was David McHugh's means of summoning aid after being injured in a fall.

McHugh, 59, of 2434 Bates street, is employed in a building near the rear of Rookley's restaurant. In search of a mop, McHugh, police said, went to the roof of the structure, a three-story brick, approached too near the edge, lost his balance and fell.

He regained consciousness nine hours later. His screams bringing no aid, McHugh resorted to the brick-tossing act, which proved effective. The tangled fan caused the restaurant to fill with smoke. McHugh was found after an investigation and taken to the Homeopathic Hospital. He suffered a fractured leg.

Boys Lose Real Pal as Pet Dog Gets Rabies

They went to school today—Harold, Stanley and Neil Robson—but their hearts were heavy and they really were not interested in what the teacher would have to say to them.

The three little boys have lost a real pal and his passing has been so overwhelming that as yet they have not become accustomed to his absence.

For "Gyp," their dog, was such a nice little fellow with his short slender legs, soft hair and sharp voice. In the morning as they dressed for school, he frisked about them, stealing shoes and stockings; upon their return he raced around them in noisy welcome.

They did not know just what kind of a dog "Gyp" was and they did not care because he was their dog, and because he recognized only them as his masters.

"Gyp" became ill Friday night, and though their mother, Mrs. Adelaide Robson, 1128 Moyer street, doctored him, he just moped around. He was taken to a dog hospital, but the doctor couldn't help him. Gyp had been fighting with another dog and after it bit him he became sick, the boys told the doctor.

"Sorry, boys," the doctor replied, "but you can't have 'Gyp' any more. He's a mad dog now and we'll have to keep him."

5,000 Brave Rain to See Passion Play Open

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, May 12.—(AP.)—Despite downpours of rain, the premiere of the decennial "Passion Play" of Oberammergau yesterday gripped an international audience of 5,000 spectators and moved some to tears. The playhouse was filled to capacity.

A large contingent of Americans was conspicuous among visitors from all parts of the globe. Many English were present, and Spaniards and Latin-Americans as well even an Indian nabob with his retinue, in the picturesque costumes of the East, followed the drama of Christ with devout attention.

Late in the afternoon the sun broke through the clouds for a moment, but half an hour later gloomy weather and rain returned just before the Crucifixion scene.

Alois Lang, impersonator of Christ, who suffered from a high fever at Thursday's rehearsal, was in much better form vocally and dramatically.

LEAGUE COURT FOES HAIL G. O. P. REVOLT IN NORTHWEST

ACTION SEEN AS SENATE WARNING

Anti-Dry Chiefs in Nation's Capital Join in Rejoicing Over Republican 'Mutiny'

By ARTHUR HACHTEN,
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Overwhelming repudiation of the League Court by King County, Washington, Republicans, in convention assembled, is making a tremendous impression upon official Washington today.

At the same time the demand of the King County Republicans that the Volstead act be modified in the interest of true temperance was regarded as of unusual significance.

Anti-prohibitionists and foes of the League of Nations' Court were highly elated by the news from the far northwest.

As Washington had been generally accepted as dry, the blow dealt Volsteadism was believed to be only one of many to follow in other supposedly prohibition states.

GROWING REVOLT SEEN

Coming on the heels of the victory of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick on the League Court issue in the Illinois Republican senatorial primary, the action of the Washington Republicans was seen as evidence of the rapidly growing revolt that is sweeping the nation on this issue. And with the League Court issue still hovering over the Senate, it will be a dominant issue in the forthcoming senatorial elections, it was pointed out.

Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Johnson, of California, plainly were jubilant over the action of the Washington Republicans on the Court issue, though they declined to discuss the matter for publication at this time.

DILL PLEASED

Senator Dill (Dem.), of Washington, declared himself pleased by the action of the Republicans in his state, as he has been consistently against entrance of the United States into the League or any of its creatures, such as its Court.

Senator David I. Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts, described the action of the Washington Republicans on prohibition as being "very significant" while Senator Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, was comforted by the decision on the court.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican Senate leader, said:

"The actio of the Republicans in Washington did not surprise me. I believe that after a battle on the League Court in which it is thoroughly discussed and all sides have their say, the result would be the same in every state as it was among the Republicans of Washington state."

INDIA DOWAGER, EX-RULER, DIES

BOMBAY, India, May 12.—(AP.)—The death of the dowager Begum of Bhopal, one-time the only woman ruler of an Indian state, was announced today. She was 72 years old.

The Begum of Bhopal abdicated in 1926 in favor of her son, the Nawab Zada Hamidulla. The nawab, who is now 25, had been carefully trained in statesmanship under his mother's direction. He was on the staff of the Prince of Wales during the prince's visit to India.

The begum was much beloved by her people. She made many gifts to educational institutions, and while on a visit to London once ordered 2,500 watches for her people in India. She was known as a strong believer in the prohibition of liquor and once was quoted as saying that in Bhopal men no longer beat their wives now that her country was dry.

WOMAN SEEKING GOVERNORSHIP AS SOCIALIST

Daughter of Gilman, First Head of Johns Hopkins, Fights Ritchie in Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—(AP.)—Nominated by the Socialist party for Governor of Maryland, Elizabeth Gilman, daughter of Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman, who was the first president of Johns Hopkins University, said today that she would wage an active campaign.

She was named yesterday by the Socialist state convention at Hagerstown. Miss Gilman will oppose Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, seeking a fourth term. Miss Gillman long has been identified with the Socialist party and was actively engaged in social relief work during the miners' strike in West Virginia.

She advocates closer co-operation with labor, public ownership and democratic control of basic industries, and unemployment and old age pensions.

Miss Gilman remarked that although she did overseas work during the World War for two years, she was "absolutely for peace in international affairs."

GLOBE-GIRDLING FLIER IN AIR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 12.—(INS.)—Taking on 83 gallons of gasoline here, John Henry Mears, globe-girdling aviator, hopped off at Mars Hill airport here at 8:35 a. m. today for Roosevelt Field, N. Y., in his Lockheed-Vega monoplane.

Mears and his party were here about an hour and a half after leaving St. Louis early this morning.

PLANS WORLD HOP

Mears left Kansas City last night. He is being accompanied on the flight by Charles La Jotte, pilot, his daughter and a dog mascot.

Mears said he planned to refuel at Indianapolis and then continue on to New York, where he will start on an attempt to establish a new round-the-world speed record.

CROWDS HAMPERING FIREMEN AS $60,000 COURTHOUSE MOB FIRED TO DESTROY NEGRO IN VAULT BURNED FIERCELY

Courthouse at Sherman, Texas, burning while part of the mob that fired it interfered with firemen and cheered and jeered. The building was fired to kill George Hughes, accused of assaulting a white woman. He died locked in a vault guarded by officers.

PROBE TEXAS LYNCHING

SHERMAN, Tex., May 12.—(AP.)—A military court was called here today to inquire into action of a mob which Friday night fired the courthouse, killed a Negro who had attacked a white woman, and then destroyed three blocks of property in the Negro section.

Sixteen men were held awaiting action of this court. Fourteen of the prisoners also were charged by federal officers with violation of the prohibition laws.

A coroner officially declared George Hughes, the mob's victim, to have been suffocated in a vault in the courthouse. His body, nevertheless, was dragged through the streets and then burned at a prominent corner in the Negro district.

Private John T. Heard, of Troop A, One Hundred and Eleventh Cavalry, Dallas, was wounded in the leg when a pistol he was cleaning accidentally discharged. It was the only casualty yesterday.

Most of Sherman's Negro population of 1,500 to 2,000 was back at home after having fled at the inception of the mob action.

Weather Conditions.

The eastern high pressure area is now centered off the Middle Atlantic Coast, and relatively high pressure overlies all the Atlantic Coast states and the Gulf states. The Plains states low, moved northward over the plains, and is now centered over Minnesota, lowest barometer reported, 29.64 inches, at Moorhead. It produced showers and thunderstorms over the northern and central plains and eastward over the lake region, though Ohio Valley states and the South Atlantic Coast states the rainfall was light generally, except in the Dakotas, where moderately heavy rain occurred. The disturbance will now move eastward north of the Great Lakes and cloudy and showery weather will continue over this section during the next 24 hours. The temperature changes were slight, but generally toward cooler over the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

GOLDSBOROUGH WINS RECORD

NEW YORK, May 12.—(INS.)—Frank Goldsborough's youthful face glowed with sunburn and pride today. The 19-year-old son of Brice Goldsborough, who went down in the sea with the ill-fated Dawn, landed in New York Sunday afternoon, completing his round-trip transcontinental flight, twice breaking the junior pilot's record for crossing the United States.

His actual flying time for the trip from the West Coast was 28 hours and 18 minutes as compared to 34 hours and three minutes for his westward jaunt and 48 hours for the record established more than a year ago by Richard James, Flushing, N. Y., high school boy.

Goldsborough used a Kinner-motored fleet biplane, Christened "The American Boy."

O.K. OF ROBERTS SEEMS SURE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(INS.)—Threatened opposition to the confirmation of Owen J. Roberts as associate justice of the United States Supreme Court by the organized drys, faded still further in the background today.

Homer W. Tope, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in Pennsylvania, sent a telegram to Senator Reed, (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, indorsing the Philadelphian.

Senator Sheppard, of Texas, a dry, who had indicated opposition to Roberts because of a 1923 speech by him, said today he was satisfied with the explanation that Roberts had not denounced prohibition in that talk.

Roberts' nomination was referred to the same Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee—Senators Borah, Herbert and Overman—that considered the appointment of Judge John H. Parker, of North Carolina, which was rejected.

Parker called at the White House this afternoon to thank the President for his support. Despite his defeat, Parker was smiling and genial.

HARMAR GAINS 100 PER CENT

Harmar Township showed over 100 per cent increase in population and Ross Township slightly less than 100 per cent since 1920, according to census figures for these communities completed today.

Harmar Township's population for this year is 2,703 against 1,230 in 1920. Ross Township's population is 8,505 against 4,949 in 1920.

Emsworth Borough's population was found to be 2,709 against 2,163 in 1920, and Franklin Township's 1,031 against 847.

Houston, Texas, Passes Rival Cities of State

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Increasing by 110.3 per cent since 1920, Houston, Texas, the forty-fifth American city in 1920, jumped into the 200,000 class in the 1930 census, passing several cities on her way up, including her neighbor and rival, Dallas.

Houston's population was announced today as 290,811 as against 260,397 for Dallas, forty-second city in 1920. Dallas, which increased 63.8 per cent, passed in turn many of the slower-growing, older population centers.

Houston played leap-frog over Akron, Birmingham, Memphis, Syracuse, and Worcester in returns already in.

However, Syracuse, increasing 20.5 per cent, also travelled past the 200,000 point, her present population being reported as 207,007 as against 171,717 in 1920, and Syracuse, thirty-seventh city in 1920, passed Worcester, thirty-fifth at the last census.

WOMEN WIN FIGHT TO BE ELDERS

Struggle for Equal Suffrage Among Presbyterians Won After Long Campaign

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Women, after many years of struggle, have at last won equal suffrage with men in the ruling bodies of the Presbyterian churches of the United States, according to the results announced here today of a poll of the various Presbyteries.

An overture made by the 1929 General Assembly placed the matter before the Presbyteries for a vote. The vote, as tabulated at this time, revealed 151 in favor of women serving as elders, in other words having equal rights with the men members in the governing bodies of the churches.

So far 114 Presbyteries have voted against it, but inasmuch as 147 votes is a majority, the overture has been carried by a margin of four votes.

The overture will go into effect as soon as announced by the General Assembly at the meeting in Cincinnati on May 29.

An overture also was sent to the 297 Presbyteries asking for a vote on the right of women to preach. This was rejected, according to the returns tabulated a few days ago. A motion to grant women the right to serve as evangelists is still before the Presbyteries.

CANNON ADMITS FUND SECRECY

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(INS.)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, personally received and expended "practically all the funds" used by the Virginia anti-Smith Democrats in the 1928 presidential election, he reported today by telegraph to Senator Caraway, (Dem.), Arkansas, chairman of the Senate's Lobby Investigating Committee.

Cannon said he had made report of these receipts and expenditures "as none was required by law."

He said he would shortly return to Washington from the convention of his church's bishops at Dallas, Tex., and would appear before the committee at its convenience. He is to be questioned on testimony E. C. Jamesen, of New York, contributed $65,000, and he reported receipt of only $17,000.

DALLAS, Tex., May 12.—(AP.)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, today voted, by a large majority, to deliver a reprimand to the press for giving publicity to charges brought against bishops. The action was taken on a motion of Dr. G. C. French, of Denton, Tex.

The Rev. Rembert Smith, of Washington, Ga., charged Bishops James Cannon, Jr., Washington; Edwin D. Mouzon, North Carolina; John M. Moore, Texas, and H. M. DuBose, Tennessee, with "undue political activities," in the 1928 presidential campaign and with having opposed Alfred E. Smith because of his membership in the Roman Catholic Church.

Theodore Roosevelt Visits White House

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, of Porto Rico, paid his respects to President Hoover today at the White House.

Roosevelt said 10 days would be spent here conferring with cabinet members on Porto Rican affairs. He hopes to appear before the House Appropriations Committee on funds for storm relief in the islands.

Pilot Battles With 'Drunk' In Midair, Saves Six

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—A two-minute fight 3,000 feet in the air between an airplane pilot and an intoxicated man who wanted to fly the plane ended yesterday in victory for the pilot, whose skill in uppercutting probably saved six lives.

With five passengers, including two women, Tex Anding took off from the Gates Flying Service Field in Jackson Heights. He did not know that one of the men had been drinking until the passenger tried to jerk him away from the controls. While the others watched in terror and the plane swayed dizzily, the pilot and passenger fought furiously until finally Anding knocked his opponent unconscious with a blow to the chin.

He landed immediately, and the man, reviving, scurried away, flinging stones as he left. He was not apprehended.

Anding, a stripling with a slow Texas drawl, was calm as he told of his breathless struggle with the drunken man.

"I had to hit the guy after he almost sent us into a loop," he said, "and if I'd had a hammer I'd have hit him with that."

PINCHOT AGAIN HINTS TRADES

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 12 —(AP)— The charge that the Philadelphia Republican organization is preparing to trade off other candidates on its ticket in order to obtain sufficient votes to nominate Francis Shunk Brown, its gubernatorial choice, was made here last night by Gifford Pinchot, Brown's opponent.

Pinchot, resting at Williamsport from the strenuous activities of his tour last week through Western and Northwestern Pennsylvania, said in a statement he has learned:

"Brown leaders in different parts of the state are getting ready to ditch Brown's running mates wherever that will get a vote for Brown and they go so far as to say so."

Moreover the independent candidate said it is already well known and universally accepted that the Davis-Brown candidate for secretary of internal affairs, Philip H. Dewey, will be cut in Philadelphia in the interest of James F. Woodward, completing his third term in that office and running for a fourth term.

Woodward was described by Pinchot as "the friend of the gang." His defeat at Harrisburg, the gubernatorial candidate said, has long been the headquarters of the "Philadelphia gang leaders."

JUDGE MAXEY INDORSED

Stanley M. Carrington, candidate for Congress from the Thirty-fifth district and a supporter of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, declared in favor of Judge George W. Maxey, who is running for Justice of the Supreme Court on the Davis-Brown ticket.

Carrington addressed the following letter to Judge Maxey:

"I am a candidate for Congress in the Thirty-fifth district and after reading James M. Magee's indorsement of your candidacy for the Supreme Court published in Pittsburgh papers, I am very glad to give you my support, although I am affiliated with Mr. Pinchot who is a candidate on a ticket opposed to yours.

"It has always been my thought that judicial elections should be kept as much as possible out of politics, and I was glad to learn Mr. Magee's opinion of your fitness."

Girl Reserves to Open Camp June 9

The Girl Reserve camp at Pleasant Hill Farm, Coraopolis, will open June 9 and continue to June 23. Final details for the outing are now being worked out.

Six Auto Thrill Seekers Hurt in Trolley Tube

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—Three young couples today were suffering from serious injuries after the driver of their automobile, in search of a thrill, plunged the car down a street car tunnel beneath the Chicago River yesterday.

The car bounded down the inclined street car tracks, smashed into an abutment and was wrecked. The driver, Joseph Broderick, 23, suffered a possible skull fracture and three broken ribs.

PHILLIPS GOES ON AIR TONIGHT

Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor on the anti-dry ticket, will broadcast a speech at 6:30 p. m. today over Station KDKA in behalf of himself and his running mates, Francis H. Bohlen, for United States senator, and Charles Dorrance, for lieutenant governor.

Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, will ask support for the anti-dry ticket in a broadcast at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, over Station KDKA.

SLAPS TRADED IN VOTE RACE

CLAIM LABOR AID

The statement said:

"Indorsement of James J. Davis for United States senator, and Francis Shunk Brown for governor by labor organizations has been one of the remarkable features of the present campaign.

"The significant feature is that, for the first time since he has figured in Pennsylvania politics, Gifford Pinchot has been deserted by labor. Of course, nobody expected Grundy would receive any approval from labor. His whole record in public life has shown him to be such a consistent opponent of labor and welfare legislation that only repudiation of his stand on these public questions could be looked for."

Assertion that Brown would oppose the use of voting machines if he is elected was made by Judge Arthur C. Dale, chairman of the Pinchot-for-Governor State Committee.

VOTE MACHINES ISSUE

Dale added:

"The Governor appoints the secretary of the commonwealth, and if he does not perform his duty the Governor can summarily remove him. With Gifford Pinchot in the governorship, there is no need to say that his secretary of commonwealth will see that the demands of the people for voting machines are complied with."

Brown, the statement continued, would do nothing for those advocating the machines "with the Vare organization standing at his elbow, dictating his politics."

Randolph W. Childs, campaign manager of the Bohlen-Phillips-Dorrance anti-dry ticket, attacked ward leaders of Philadelphia for their failure to reply to his open letter asking them to state their position on the dry issue.

Childs accused the ward bosses of "carrying on the campaign for a dry senatorial candidate and straddling governor candidate, while they "sip, sip, sip the products of Camden's beer gardens."

PINCHOT TO END DRIVE HERE

Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot will end his campaign for another term in Pittsburgh when he will be principal speaker at a rally Saturday night in the Davis Theater, according to Frank I. Gollmar, his local manager.

Pinchot is expected to arrive here Saturday morning for conferences during the day with western leaders. At 7:45 p. m. he will broadcast over WJAS. Pinchot's speech at the Davis Theater will be broadcast over KQV from 8:35 to 10 p. m., according to Ralph H. Smith, chairman of the local committee on meetings and speakers.

Noon meetings were resumed today in Magee Building headquarters, 336 Fourth avenue, with Attorney J. H. W. Simpson as chairman. Speakers were A. D. Brandon, former Morals Court magistrate, and E. J. Kent, Jr.

Mrs. A. L. Fillmore will address a Pinchot meeting in Community House, Union avenue, North Side.

A Pinchot meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Monessen High School will be addressed by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, former President of Council James F. Malone and Chairman Smith.

Miss Ella Graubert will address a women's meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Forest Hills Municipal Building, Ardmore boulevard.

County Chairman Gollmar has announced the opening tonight of Pinchot headquarters at 425 St. Clair street, McKeesport, with Andrew Hunter as chairman and Mrs. W. S. Riggs as head of the women's division.

McKeesport headquarters will be opened with speeches by Attorney Joseph A. Richardson, former assistant United States district attorney, and Ralph H. Frank.

Movie Accidents Fatal to 16 in Year

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—(INS.)—Behind the lights of Hollywood's film studios is a story of tragedy revealed today in statistics from the State Industrial Accident Commission. Last year 16 men were killed on Hollywood lots, nine were injured permanently and 1,272 men and women were hurt enough to require a physician's attention. The fatalities included two actors and two stunt men.

4 Doctors Baffled By Death Mystery

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—With four physicians baffled by the illness that brought the sudden death of Mrs. Julian Bomash, 29, the coroner today ordered a postmortem examination.

Stricken while at the dinner table yesterday with other members of the family, Mrs. Bomash died in two hours. Mrs. Bomash was the wife of an official of the Advance Fuel Corporation.

Colfax Teachers, Parents to Elect

The Colfax school Parents-Teachers Association will meet in the school auditorium tomorrow night. The program consists of the election of officers and an address by Dr. Roswell Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh on the "Control of Human Evolution." A social hour and refreshments will follow.

THREE SLAIN IN FLAT GUNFIGHT

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Three men were shot dead and three others, one of them an investigator for the state's attorney's office, were wounded in a gunfight in an apartment at 3258 North Clark street early today.

One of the men slain was Jack Hayes, who lived in the apartment, which was operated as a beer flat. The other two to die were members of a band of four robbers, who attempted to hold up the place.

The other two robbers were wounded, but escaped. Joseph Altmeier, a special investigator for the state's attorney and assigned to extortion cases, was slightly wounded.

The robbers, forcing an entrance, leveled their weapons at Hayes and the patrons of the place. Hayes drew a pistol and opened fire. He was shot dead by the robbers as the state's attorney's men rushed in, with guns blazing, and dropped two of the bandits.

In the excitement of the pitched gun fight that followed the other two robbers, wounded, slipped out and escaped.

URGES NORMAL SCHOOL NEARBY

Mrs. Mary P. Walthour, of McKeesport, has announced her platform as candidate for the State Senate in the Forty-fourth District, which includes a declaration favoring the construction of a normal school in the McKeesport district. Mrs. Walthour stated:

"I have an option for the state on 50 acres of ground for the best price obtainable and without commission to anyone. This property is situated on the McKeesport-East Pittsburgh boulevard. I had this option since August, 1925, before the boulevard was improved. Property has increased doubly since.

"One friend of the boys and girls said he would give $50,000 to help build such a school if it was so situated that children could go to school in the morning and return home at night. Other offers reached the amount of $500,000."

MARTIN LEADER BACKS DAVIS

Alexander P. Lindsay, manager of the late Judge Richard W. Martin's mayoralty campaign, will urge support for Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for United States Senator; Francis Shunk Brown, for governor and their running mates, in a broadcast at 6:45 p. m. tomorrow over KDKA.

Voters of the Thirty-second Ward, formerly Overbrook borough, will hear speeches for the Davis-Brown ticket at a meeting tomorrow night in Overbrook Central School, Library road.

Speakers will include Representatives M. A. Musmanno and Dr. J. G. Steedle, who are seeking re-election to the Legislature from the Sixth district.

O'MALLEY BUSY IN 6TH WARD

P. J. O'Malley, of the state auditor general's office, who is running for Congress in the Thirty-fourth District, will center his fight this week in the Sixth Ward, home of Congressman P. J. Sullivan, seeking re-election.

Leaders of the 10 wards comprising the congressional district who are supporting O'Malley met yesterday in the Pittsburgher Hotel to perfect organizations and arrange ward meetings for the final week of the campaign.

A committee of World War veterans in the Second Ward, who served in France with O'Malley and who are enlisting the support of former service men, declared at the meeting that their candidate is assured of an almost solid soldier vote.

KING ALFONSO HAS PRAISE FOR U. S.

Spanish Monarch Feels Prohibition, Tariff Wall Are Barriers to Business

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 11.—"I've always had a lot of affection for America. I've worked a quarter of a century to bring about close relations between our two countries."

King Alfonso XIII of Spain is quoted in these words in the current issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine by Frazier Hunt, noted newspaper and magazine writer, who interviewed the quick-smiling, 44-year-old ruler in his private study in the magnificent royal palace in Madrid.

REAL DEMOCRAT

Hunt describes King Alfonso as "a real democrat"—eager about everything and tremendously interested.

Hunt writes:

"He's what we'd call at home, 'a great fellow.'"

King Alfonso said during his interview:

"Spain is a great potential market for United States manufactured goods—if only you allow us to send something back in return. But today the balance of trade is so much against us that it is alarming.

"We buy more than $80,000,000 worth of American goods, but sell you only $20,000,000 worth.

"The biggest blow to our exports to the United States was when you voted for prohibition. In one sweep that cut off millions of dollars worth of wine exports. Then our fruit was excluded, and a year ago the barrier was raised against our onions."

ESCAPES CRASH

King Alfonso was asked if he got caught in the Wall Street market crash last fall. He smiled and shook his head negatively. He said:

"One thing I wish you would bring out is the idea that when America establishes her new steamship routes she would have one touch directly at a Spanish port. For instance, a line from New York to Naples, to stop at Cadiz.

"With the reorganization of our railroads, it will soon be possible to go from Cadiz to Madrid in nine hours—then from Madrid to the French frontier in seven hours—and from there to Paris in 11 hours—27 hours in all.

"By a direct steamship line from New York to Cadiz and then with fast service to Paris, you would overcome the possibilities of fog delay, at the cost, at the most, of one additional day's travel."

OBITUARY

Muhl Funeral.

Funeral services for John J. Muhl, 72, who died Thursday at his home, 1249 Ridge avenue, North Side, were to be held today in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Liverpool street. He was born in Germany and had lived in Pittsburgh 42 years. He was a member of the Catholic Knights of St. George, Branch No. 4, and St. Joseph's Church. Besides his widow, he leaves two daughters, Sister Aurea, of the Sisters of Divine Providence, a teacher in the St. Norbet Parochial School, Overbrook, and Mrs. Anna Stimson, of Buffalo, and five sons, Joseph, Edward, Fred, Albert and George Muhl, all of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Charles Rennie.

Funeral services for Mrs. Daisy Dunbar Rennie, of 3317 Milwaukee street, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at her home. Interment will be in the Plum Creek Cemetery at New Texas, Pa. Born in Pittsburgh, she was a daughter of the late J. Crawford and Sarah Alter Brown and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She leaves her husband, Charles Rennie; two sons, Everett B. and James C. Dunbar, Pittsburgh; two brothers, Samuel M. and Andrew B. Brown, Pittsburgh, and a sister, Mrs. W. E. Donaldson, Chicago.

Ben T. Bromley.

Ben T. Bromley, Pittsburgh policeman for 23 years, died yesterday in the home of his son-in-law, Albert Spreen, 111 Overbrook boulevard, Carrick. Interment will be on Wednesday in South Side Cemetery. Bromley served as a patrolman for 15 years and as a wagonman for eight years. He retired about three years ago. He was a member of the Concord Presbyterian Church and the Police Veterans' Association. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sarah Henry Bromley; a daughter, Mrs. Albert Spreen; a son, William Bromley; three sisters and a brother.

Schrott Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth D. Schrott, who died at her home, 7244½ McClure avenue, Swissvale, were held in St. Anselm's Church at 9 a. m. today. She leaves two sons, Lawrence and Robert Schrott, and six daughters, the Misses Camille, Henrietta and Alice Schrott, Mrs. J. T. Yarnall and Mrs. V. I. Dessell, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. M. S. Tarner, of Harrisburg.

The Horne Chorus

Sings Tonight
At Carnegie Music Hall

The Horne Chorus of 100 voices, which has been heard by many over the radio at the Christmas season, will give its Annual Spring Concert this evening at Carnegie Music Hall. An attractive program has been arranged, which includes a number of popular soloists, all members of the store organization. The proceeds will go to Camp Horne to provide free summer vacations for junior employees. Tickets, 50c, $1.00, and $1.50, may be had today at the Personal Service Desk, and tonight at the box office.

Store Your Furs

Where They'll Be Safe
And Off Your Mind

You can take up your summer sports, go on your vacation trips, with never a pang about your furs, if you store them in Horne's scientifically modern vaults.

If you are as modern as we think you are, you will appreciate the DRY cold air process used here, which is the most modern and highly approved method of refrigeration for furs. And this storage costs no more than the uncertain, ordinary kind—3% of a fair valuation, with a minimum charge . . . Call Court 3000, and we will do the rest.

Ensembles

Of Smart, Rough Sports Silks
—A Sports Week Event

$15

Rough-surfaced silks—the sporting thing, the cool-looking thing, the fashionable thing for summer 1930! And here is a widely planned event which offers these much wanted fabrics in a great collection of smart ensembles at a very special price . . . In the following four departments:

The Sunshine Corner

Women's ensembles of shantung, with full-swing sleeveless frocks and finger-tip jackets. In white, Antibes blue, linen blue, nymph green, pink and maize . . . Also ensembles of novelty silk pique . . . Sizes 34 to 42.

The Misses' Shop

Ensembles of chuddah, having sleeveless frocks with Empire revers and glass buttons, or tuck-in blouses and skirts, accompanied by three-quarters coats. White, linen blue, dusty pink, maize, peach, and Nile green.

Junior-Misses' Shop

Ensembles of chuddah, with three chic types of jackets, including nipped-in waist models and a sleeveless cape jacket. In opaline pink, linen blue, maize and white. Sizes 11 to 17.

Sportswear Shop

Ensembles of Chuddah and Buddah weaves, with dresses and collarless jackets suited to active as well as spectator sports wear . . . Aquatone blue, opaline rose, maize, green, linen blue, natural, white, navy, brown, black.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Decidedly the Sports Vogue

We've seen more linen sports shoes so far this season than we usually see in a whole season—proving that the vogue for linen shoes is widely accepted. No wonder they're so popular. With plain linen pumps and some pumps and one-straps with an embroidered design on the vamp—that can be tinted (without charge) any shade you like. Or the model illustrated at left, from Sandalari of Paris, with the linen shoe trimmed with brown, or blue kid. $10.00 to $15.00 pair.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

Plain or Printed YO-SAN

$1.95 Yard

The Silk Department observes Sports Week by offering this remarkable rough silk at a special price . . . far below its usual cost. The plain colors are those pastels so fashionable this year for spectator or active sports costumes. The printed designs are small and colorful . . . and combine beautifully with the plain colors. And remember that Yo-San is washable!

Other Smart Sports Silks

Honan—A heavier grade of spun silk with the rough surface that makes it adaptable to tennis and golf dresses. Plain colors. 95c yard.

Tweed Shantung—A Shantung silk in pastel colors with a tweed fleck in interestingly blended colors. Smart and new at $1.95 yard.

Silk Shirtings—These striped silks—all color-fast—offer you the chance to indulge any color preference. $1.95 and $2.95 yard.

Printed Shantung—The favorite among sports silks now becomes a successful fashion in a printed version. $2.95 yard.

Models Wearing Dresses of Sports Silks Will Promenade the Silk Department from 11 to 1 and from 2:30 to 4:30

. . . Horne's, Main Floor . . .

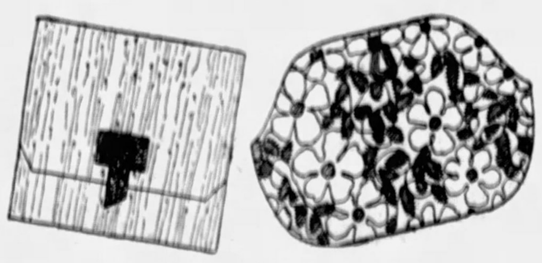
Sports Girdles

One can be comfortably corseted for any kind of sports if she wears an all-elastic girdle—without the slightest bit of unyielding bone. These elastic girdles are fashioned in the newest silhouettes.

One particularly appropriate imported sports girdle is priced $8.50. Others $2.95 to $16.50.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Sports Handbags



The handbag is an integral part of the costume . . . and with dresses and ensembles of sports materials, one carries handbags of linen, of shantung, of embroidered crepe, all-over wool-embroidered bags and other fabrics that belong with summer sports frocks. $2.95 and $4.95.

. . . Horne's, Main Floor . . .

Tots' Pongee Outfits

In Cool Pastel Shades

Not to be outdone by smart grown-ups in the pursuit of summer comfort . . . Sonny and Sister choose matching suits and dresses of pongee in delicate pastel shades—at this modest price of $2.95!

They're so cool and attractive, and above all, so easy to launder, that they're just the togs to wear for any outings all summer. In green, maize, blue, and peach, trimmed in white. Sizes 2 to 5 years.

. . . Horne's, Third Floor . . .

27.5 knots, smallest turret gun, 14-inch.

This treaty proposes that we cancel the provision of the Washington Treaty which authorizes us to ultimately equal the British capital ship strength by scrapping down four new capital ships during the next two years, but requires us to scrap at once three of the capital ships we already have.

5-5-3 Forgotten
Japan Scraps One Capital Ship to Our Three

It removes all vestige of the 5-5-3 ratio by requiring Japan to scrap but one capital ship to our three.

It authorizes Great Britain to still retain a greater tonnage of capital ships than we, but forbids us to build anything to overcome either British or Japanese present advantage in speed.

It enables the British to continue their superiority in capital ship strength with faster and more homogeneous vessels.

The superior speed of the British and Japanese capital ships would enable them to select the time and conditions of battle to our great disadvantage. They would be able to avoid battle if they so desired.

The treaty increases both British and Japanese relative cruiser strength, but reduces ours by forbidding us to build any battle cruisers.

Capital ships are very important because they are the only type large enough to carry heavy guns or any protection. Nothing equals a heavy gun in sustained power of attack. It fires a projectile weighing as much as a ton with a high explosive charge equal to a large bomb or mine, is as accurate as a target rifle, and is the only weapon that can repeat its attack dozens of times in a day with accuracy at distances far beyond the horizon.

Speed Factor
U. S. Battleships Slower Than Britain's

In these days of great and increasing air activity the capital ship is particularly valuable because it is the only type large enough to carry any protection whatever. Any other vessel may be destroyed by a single heavy bomb, mine or torpedo, but the capital ship is large enough to carry efficient deck and side armor and to have the elaborate underwater subdivision to enable it to sustain repeated explosions of bombs, mines or torpedoes without sinking.

Speed is a very important factor in war vessels but it can only be obtained by sacrificing protection or gun power unless the ship is very large. All our battleships are slower than any British except their four oldest ones.

Under the Washington Treaty we scrapped the six powerful high speed battle cruisers we had building, but the British retained four, including the Hood, the largest and most powerful war vessel ever built and much larger than the new 35,000 ton limit.

Seriously damaged vessels are a great liability in war. Unless they reach port quickly they are generally lost and greatly hamper the movements and power the fleet that has to slow down or detach vessels to convoy them. This is important to us due to the long distances our Navy has to cover and lack of bases. On this account capital ships with their ability to withstand injury are relatively more important for us than for Great Britain and Japan so it is only natural that they should seek to further reduce our strength in this type.

A fleet which lacks an important type that others have is bound to be handicapped. Battle cruisers have the practical equivalent in speed of regular cruisers, especially under normal rough weather conditions at sea, and greatly outrange and exceed them in gun power so a nation lacking battle cruisers is handicapped compared with others not only in capital ship category by relatively in cruisers as well.

Bases Needed
Forces Exposed Longer, Lack Repair Facilities

Under the Washington treaty we are authorized to lay down two new capital ships next year and two more in 1932. These, while they could not equal the much larger British Hood, could be fairly effective battle cruisers without sacrificing the all important quality of protection. If we could be persuaded to forego our treaty of laying down these ships the British would retain their present superiority in that type.

The number of units has a great significance in these days of sustained air and underwater attack. Seriously damaged vessels and some losses are inevitable. Again the question of our bases comes in with our forces not only longer exposed but lacking repair facilities in important areas. The British could well afford to scrap their four oldest battleships and the pre-war battle cruiser Tiger if we would forego our right to build modern vessels.

Our scrapping three units would still leave them an equal number of capital ships of greater tonnage, more modern vessels, three battle cruisers and a homogeneous battleship force including their two new Rodneys, and the five fast Queen Elizabeths, while the one lone 12-inch gun battleship we retain would not fit in with any of our others.

It is not difficult then to see why the British back this arrangement in which we surrender the right to eventually equal their capital ship strength.

In some ways the comparison with Japan under the new treaty is even more to our disadvantage.

The Washington Conference at least established the accepted ratio of 5-3 in actual vessels. This again did not mean that ratio in fighting strength for the Japanese navy also included four battle cruisers which are very effective against any regular cruisers we build.

Under the proposed treaty Japan would scrap only one capital ship while we must scrap three, leaving her nine capital ships including three battle cruisers to our 15.

Since the London Treaty makes no allowances for our weakness in bases, the reduction in our present authorized capital ship strength is decidedly to our disadvantage and to the relative advantage of both the British and Japanese.

CHURCH HONORS MOTHERS

FORTLAND, Ore., May 12 (AP).—Thousands of worshippers and sightseers gathered before the grotto of the Sanctuary of Our Sorrowful Mother here yesterday to celebrate the institutional feast day, "Behold Thy Mother." It was the first observance of the kind in North America, held by permission of Pope Pius XI.

The Rev. A. M. Mayer, rector of the sanctuary, said the eyes of the world were focused on it because Portland is considered the birthplace of the fast.

The quotation "Ecce Mater Tua" or "Behold Thy Mother," hung across the mouth of the grotto in red and white roses, expressed the spirit of the day, which henceforth will coincide with Mother's Day throughout the world.

Quality, Price and Terms—All Combined

A Co-operative Plan Between Ourselves and the Manufacturers of the Famous

EVERETT
Grand Pianofortes

The Whole Proposition in a Few Words

1. The Everett is the most moderately priced fine grand piano in America. At its regular price—it is conceded to be the best value in the moderate price grand piano field.

2. The model chosen for this co-operative proposition is generally thought to be Everett's most beautiful style and is regularly and nationally priced at $695, F.O.B. factory.

3. With 6 per cent interest added, were you to purchase one on the terms granted under this arrangement, the total price would be $749.49.

4. On this proposition you may make your selection from our quota of forty grands, for $645, with no interest or carrying charges, to be added.

5. Instead of a usual cash payment of $69.50 (10%), your initial cash payment, under this proposition, is $34.50—a little less than half.

6. Instead of usual payments of $25 per month, plus a carrying charge, your monthly payments will be only $18.50, with no carrying charge to be added.

7. As guarantees for your protection, all of which are given you in writing:
   a. You may have your money back, at any time within 30 days, if for any reason you are not thoroughly satisfied.
   b. You may exchange your piano, at any time within six months, without loss of a single penny.
   c. You may exchange your piano, at the end of the first year, at a cost not to exceed $1.25 per month for the whole year's use of your piano.
   d. Or, you may exchange it, at the end of the second year, at a cost not to exceed $2.70 per month for two years' use.

8. You have the privilege of making larger payments than $18.50 a month, and effect additional savings by earning profit sharing dividends of $1.50 per month, in cash, for each and every month you thus shorten your payment period.

9. The piano is Warranted, unconditionally. The Warranty will be given to you in writing and signed jointly by the Everett Piano Company and ourselves.

10. A matching seat, also by Everett, is included without extra charge.

11. The piano will be delivered immediately.

12. And finally, should you pass on before your payments have been completed, it will be our privilege and practice to cancel the unpaid balance of your account, and turn over a receipt in full for the piano to your family.

THE essence and intent of this entire proposition, both on the part of the Everett Piano Company and our house, is to supply you with a fine, beautiful Baby Grand Piano of standard make and known reputation . . . to save you money . . . to make your payments small and easy . . . to give you every protection and safeguard in your purchase we can think of—even more than you yourself could have suggested—all for $645, without interest, carrying charges or extras of any nature to be added. The unusual high character, benefits and advantages of this whole proposition are so clearly outstanding, it must be very plain that those at interest cannot delay.

This is the most compelling opportunity we have ever announced. And—owing to the fact that our quota of these beautiful Grands is strictly limited to forty instruments—we cannot impress upon you too strongly to select and reserve your Grand at your very earliest convenience.

HERE ARE THE RULES FOR "PIRATEPUZ"

(1) Every day until further notice the daily Sun-Telegraph will print a frame, or diagram in squares, each containing the letters, that will, when placed in order, spell the name of a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball player.
(2) In this frame it may be possible that abbreviations and nicknames will be employed. The readers of the Sun-Telegraph in solving the daily PIRATEPUZ are to endeavor to submit as their answer the full, complete and correct name of the player, devoid of nickname or abbreviation, other than that of the middle initial, if there happens to be one.
(3) This is a contest that will test the skill of the readers of the Sun-Telegraph as to their knowledge of the names of the players of the Pittsburgh club.
(4) There will be a new PIRATEPUZ every day and daily prizes for the correct and most nearly correct answers will be awarded as follows:
1st Prize ....$10.00 in Cash
2nd Prize .... 5.00 in Cash
3rd Prize .... 2.50 in Cash
Next 25 Prizes—Each a Grandstand General Admission ticket to the Pirates' games, good any day during the season.
(5) Neatness in the preparation of answers submitted will be a factor in the judging. In case of ties, the contestants so tied will be given an equal award. The decision of the judges will be final in all cases. Contestants agree that entries become the property of the Sun-Telegraph. The contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls—no matter where they live, with the exception of employes of the Sun-Telegraph. You do not have to purchase a copy of the Sun-Telegraph to enter this contest. The files of this newspaper are available at the Sun-Telegraph Branch Office, Fifth Avenue and Market Street, where any person can copy or trace the puzzle.
(6) All answers must be addressed to the PIRATEPUZ Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and must be postmarked not later than midnight of the day following the publication of the PIRATEPUZ for which the answer is submitted. Contestants are requested to place the number of the puzzle on the low outside left-hand corner of the envelope.
(7) Winners will be announced one week after the publication of the PIRATEPUZ—on the corresponding day.

HUGE ALCOHOL PLANT RAIDED

CLEVELAND, O., May 12.—(AP.)—Breaking through a steel door camouflaged with a layer of hollow tile, a police squad yesterday seized more than 37,000 gallons of industrial alcohol in vats awaiting distillation and several hundred gallons "cooking" in a huge still in a three-story brick building in the business district. The alcohol was valued at more than $100,000.

Evidently hearing the raiders approach, operators of the plant escaped through a 75-foot tunnel that had been dug to the rear of a store room on another street.

On the first floor behind the camouflaged steel door were found 18 steel vats containing more than 1,700 gallons each. A wooden vat found on the second floor contained more than 6,000 gallons.

GOSSIP FROM HOLLYWOOD, PHOTOPLAY REVIEW AND AMUSEMENT NOTES

Terry Carroll, Younger Sister of Nancy, May Try Films

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.

Nancy Carroll in en route to New York where she may get in a bit of a vacation before starting work in "Laughter" at Famous' Long Island studio.

Incidentally, come June and Nancy may be getting picture competition from a younger member of the family. Terry Carroll. Terry is in New York but, according to a yarn relayed direct to this department she plans to trek West next month and settle down to a picture career.

Nancy Carroll

She is said to resemble her sister, Nancy (hair and all). They chorused in a Winter Garden show together some years ago. This, before Nancy came to Hollywood and, with the screening of "Abie's Irish Rose," climbed to stellar heights.

NO REST FOR MARJORIE

Marjorie ("Sunny Side Up," etc.) White and her young Irish husband, Eddie Tierney, have returned from a vacation East. Their first since landing in the colony a year ago.

After seeing the new shows in New York they trailed on to Toronto to visit Marjorie's parents. Her fame as a flicker-ite preceded her, however, and the Toronto visit was anything but a rest. Marjorie had to forsake her mother's house for a hotel in order to get a little sleep. She's back in the cinematropolis a week ahead of schedule. This years to be the best spot for taking life easy.

Hum. Maurice Chevalier arrived in town t'other eve sporting a straw hat. Eugene Rallette reckoned he'd try rushing the straw season himself. He is.

AGAIN, DIAMOND LIL

It may or may not be news, but word drifts to this department that Mae West contemplates starring in an outloud version of her play, "Diamond Lil." A warm play, this, with more than one type bustle in it. . .

Jack Mulhall has just recovered from a devastating cold that laid him low for days. Jack took the air yesterday, via a game of golf. He reckons his unfaithfulness to the game hasn't improved his swing any. As a matter of fact, Jack bemoans the fact that he gets downright sore at the pellet on occasions. The last time he lost his temper, he "busted" three clubs. And, by the by, did'st know the boy had signed with RKO to make three pictures?

Jack Mulhall

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

Hum . . . Zelma O'Neill was introduced to some one as "Mrs. Peck" instead of Mrs. Bushell. Zelma took it big, merely inquiring if the introducer hadn't confused his weights and measures. He had.

Victor McLaglen vacationed to La Jolla to rest from the Kliegs. As the charming beach site is within mileage of Caliente, Vic must have strayed further South, for he returns home vowing he has bought the boys with the green eye shades their last round of new suits!

AT THE NIGHT CLUB

SCREENALITIES: Monte Bell, director and former head of Famous Long Island studio, has arrived in Hollywood to resume flick activities here . . . "Buddy Rogers dancing with Mary Brian at George Olson's new club . . . Espied in the same entertaining spot, Noah Beery supping on ragout fin, a midnight feature of the menu. . . . Sally Blane (Loretta Young's sister) doing a tango with Bobby Agnew. . . Sid Grauman dancing with one of the Brox sisters. I don't know which one. . . . Wynn Gibson waltzing with Clarence (Director) Brown . . . Rube Goldberg, W. K. cartoonist, taking it all in. . . Director Reaves "Breezy" Eason has reported for Bridgeport, near June Lake, Calif., to search for locations for "Rawhide," which will star William (Pathe) Boyd. . . . Well, I'll be seeing you.

"Skinny! I Gained 11 Lbs. in 8 Weeks and Boy Friend"

"After trying several tonics tried Ironized Yeast. In 8 weeks gained 11 lbs., new complexion, rounded limbs, best of all a boy friend."—S. M. Salino.
Men and women are amazed at gain of 5 to 25 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows vanish. Bony limbs round out. Sallow, blemished skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear overnight. Sound sleep. New pep from very first day.
Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ⅓ time. No yeasty taste, no gas.
Don't go around "skinny," ugly, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with results.

WILLIE RIDES 'BIKE,' JAMES ROWS BOAT IN THE HARRIS

By MILDRED FILLMORE

"The Hideout," a sort of mixture of the bootleg racket and college life, is the current picture in the Harris. It is all about a campus hero, the pride of his school, who, in reality, is wanted by the law.

A keen sleuth locates him and threatens his arrest unless he "throws" a boat race. This the hero, who is the key man in the crew, promises to do. But, at the crucial moment of the race he decides differently, and is the direct means of having his college win.

Of course, he expects the "copper" that he double-crossed will be along with a pair of handcuffs. And sure enough, the sleuth turns up. But instead of taking Mr. Hero to jail, he lets him remain free. That "throwing" the race idea of his was just a test to determine whether the collegiate youth really wanted to follow the straight and narrow path.

There is a girl in all this and she is in the usual place at the fadeout—in the boy friend's arms.

James Murray and Barbara Kent head the cast.

On the stage is Willie Mauss, billed as a champion cyclist. He goes whirling around on a bicycle, that in turn, whirls around the inside rim of a giant revolving wheel. It is quite a breath-taking spectacle.

Tom Mix, Circus Will Be Here Next Week

Sells Floto Circus this season features Tom Mix, the famous Western cowboy and film star, and his equally famous horse, Tony. Both will be here May 19 and 20.

The Sells Floto program includes the Cervantes troupe of acrobats, the Juliettes and the Adonis troupes of aerial stars; the Schwarz Sisters, German riding act; Koban, the funny Japanese, who walks upstairs on his head; Mabel Pelkey, gymnast, and the Flying Wards, who provide many of the thrills of the circus. There is a 42-den menagerie and, of course, the clowns.

Mt. Lebanon Home Building Gains

Building operations in the Mt. Lebanon show little or no abatement, regardless of a lull in realty business, 38 permits having been issued by Building Inspector G. J. Irwin from March 22 to May 3. Permits issued from January 1 to May 3, inclusive, numbered 88. The estimated cost of this construction was $932,140. The 88 permits are for 57 dwellings, five duplex houses, one duplex, nine remodeling, 10 garages, four apartments, one public building and one business house.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Things I Never Knew Till Now

That an Omaha reporter once interviewed Ethel Barrymore when she was playing in vaudeville there. He asked her: "In your opinion who is America's greatest actress, Jane Cowl or Pauline Lord"?

That a rhinoceros costs more than any other circus animal.

That almost any Pullman porter can tell at a glance after looking at your feet who manufactured your shoes.

That a moo-cow has no upper molars (teeth to you).

That a tornado can drive a straw through a tree trunk.

That if you close your eyes or blindfold them, you do not get the same wallop out of smoking a ciggie or cigar.

That a horse cannot breathe through its mouth.

That the origin of the expression, "Another feather in his cap," comes from the ancient Lycians, among whom a feather was added to the headgear of a warrior every time he slew an enemy.

That Charles Dickens also was a prison reformer.

That there is a new type of jewel box on the market that rings like a fire bell if anyone touches it while you sleep.

That if you sleep in a room packed with flowers and keep the door and window closed you can go to sleep and never awaken.

That a pinch of bicarbonate of soda will keep your cream from turning on you like a Broadway pal.

That the cost of a drawing-room from New York to Reno is $106.50. Two tickets must be purchased. Y'welcome, ladies.

That no member of the N. Y. Giants baseball team was born in New York City or lives there.

That a string wound around the little finger (pinky to you) of the left hand, from base to tip, will halt a nose bleed almost immejitly.

That when you have a cold in the head it does not cause you to "talk through your nose," but through the mouth. Hold your "Jimmy Durante" and prove it.

That the Central Branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Philly is co-ed. They have floors for single women and men and married pipple.

That it is unlawful to illustrate a U. S. postage stamp.

That in parts of Ireland they use dry wheat kernels for buckshot when they go hunting.

That a restaurant on Broadway between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets will not serve German mustard, the big patriots!

That Ingersoll, the agnostic, did not recant on his deathbed, as his enemies would have you believe.

That the American Indian is not "dying out." As a matter of fact, in 1820 there were 314,000 Injuns. Now there are 400,000.

That the reason a typewriter keyboard is not arranged alphabetically is that if it were the keys would get in each other's hair.

That people were afraid to eat tomatoes until 1840. In France at one time the tomato was known as "The Love Apple."

That the Battle of Bunker Hill was fought on Breed's Hill.

That among the more ignorant class of miners there is a superstition about women entering the mines, the miners considering it an evil omen. If a femme enters one the miners will walk right out.

That mice sing! Like the faint twittering of a canary.

That the expression, "A man may be down but never out!" wasn't coined by the Salvation Army. It originated during the Boer War.

That the word "symposium" means a booze party.

That the reason it is called the "X-ray" is that the inventor says he did not understand their nature, the X representing that which had not yet been explained by science. They are often called Roentgen rays, after the name of the inventor, Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen.

That Scotland Yard is a group of buildings surrounded by a courtyard in London, once the h'quarters for the police force.

That the word "news" was not derived from the initials of North, East, West, South, as is popularly supposed.

That secret service men did not guard the President until the assassination of McKinley in 1901.

That the word booze is not of recent coinage. It is said to come from the surname of a Philadelphia distiller named E. C. Booz, who about the middle of the Nineteenth Century sold hooch in bottles stamped "E. C. Booz's Old Cabin Whisky."

That Delilah didn't cut Samson's hair while he slept, at all. She had one of her admirers do it.

That the late Breitbart, the "world's strongest man," couldn't do his act one night because he had a tooth pulled.

HUSBAND IS DIRECTOR OF PRISON DRAMA WIFE WROTE

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.

For a number of years, motion picture producers have dreamed of making a mighty picture depicting life within the gray walls of a great prison. There were many obstacles to be overcome. Such a picture would cost a tremendous amount of money. The story would have to be appealing and sympathetic even though its principal characters were criminals. It would be difficult to successfully interpret many of the scenes on the silent screen. The advent of sound solved the latter problem.

For two years Frances Marion had longed to write a scenario on this engrossing subject. It fascinated her. Time after time she visited the great prisons throughout the country gathering material here and there and hoarding it for the day that she knew would come when she would have the opportunity of writing such a scenario. When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer decided to make a prison story as a Cosmopolitan Production, Frances Marion, of course, was selected to do the scenario. Her big opportunity had arrived.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

It was particularly fortunate that George Hill was decided upon as the director of the proposed prison story as Frances Marion about this time had become the wife of Mr. Hill. Together they worked night and day upon the idea. The result was one of the most sensational and thrilling scenarios ever written which Mr. Hill has transferred to the talking motion picture screen with all the forceful drama of which he is a past master. The story was called "The Big House." Soon it will be shown in leading theaters throughout the country.

The import of the title, "The Big House," depends upon its pronunciation. The word "Big" must be accented. The title is "The Big House." Among criminals and underworld characters, the big prisons of the country are known as "The Big House," to differentiate them from the prisons of lesser importance. Just where the term originated is not definitely known.

IT MEANS PRISON

According to Jack Lait, noted newspaper reporter, famous writer and playwright and penologist, because of his interest in underworld characters, the name, "The Big House," was first applied to the big penal institution at Joliet, Ill. Reporters on Chicago papers first used the term to distinguish the Joliet penitentiary from the city and county prisons. Incidentally, Jack Lait has novelized the story of "The Big House" into one of the most fascinating pieces of literature of the day.

Certain other penologists claim that the term, "The Big House," was first applied to Sing Sing, those from the Pacific Coast, say it was first used in connection with San Quentin. At any rate, all of the famous prisons of the coutnry are now known as "The BIG house."

The cast for "The Big House" is headed by Wallace Beery, who has the role of a murderer serving a life term in "The Big House." It is this lifer who heads the prison intrigues and leads a revolt which is one of the big scenes of the picture. Among the other principals are Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery, Lewis Stone, George Marion, J. C. Nugent, Karl Dane, Leila Hyams, Eddie Lambert and DeWitt Jennings. More than two thousand others are seen in this photoplay.

SLAYER DROPS AIM TO DIE

RENO, Nev., May 12.—(AP.)—R. H. White, a gambler, who recently announced that he preferred to die in the lethal gas chamber at the Nevada State Penitentiary rather than spend the remainder of his life in prison, has changed his mind.

His wife, Mrs. Katherine White, said she had persuaded him to ask for a commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment, a course he previously has declined to follow on the ground that he would be too old if released within 15 or 20 years to again start life on the outside of the prison wall. White is now in death row at the prison awaiting execution set for June 2.

His attorneys announced they were preparing a petition upon which to base their plea for clemency. White was convicted on a murder charge.

IRENE'S JUDGE ON CASE HERE

Judge R. L. Hildebrand, of Lawrence County, sat in Criminal Court as a visiting judge here today for the first murder trial conducted by him since Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague were convicted in New Castle of slaying Corp. Brady Paul.

William Lunsford and Carroll Jackson, Negro youths, of Woods Run, were placed on trial for the murder of Emmett Curtis, Negro, of 7343 Idlewild street, last December 31. County detectives charge that the slaying resulted from a feud between rival gangs of lottery racketeers. Ulysses Pridgeon, Negro, of Jacks Run road, was found guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation of life imprisonment last week in the same case.

PLANE STUNTER HURTS WOMAN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 12.—(AP.)—Identity of an aviator who terrified the Sea Breeze section by low flying stunts yesterday afternoon and caused serious injury to an aged woman was being sought today.

The injured woman is Mrs. Katherine Kolb, 77. Walking with her grandchild in her arms she was terrified when the flier swept within 150 feet of the ground. She fell over backwards, striking her head on a stone. Her condition is critical.

Shortly before the accident to Mrs. Kolb, passengers on a Sea Breeze car flung themselves on the floor and the motorman speeded up, fearing that the trolley would be struck by the low-flying plane.

CATHOLICS END WORLD MEET

CARTHAGE, May 12.—(AP.)—The nearly 20,000 clerics and laymen who have been in attendance at the thirtieth Eucharistic Congress, scattered today, happy to have been here.

Two hundred and sixty Americans were aboard the Araguaya, which left at 8 p. m. Sunday night for Naples, where the Americans will go on various tours. The Rochambeau goes today to Rome with other Americans. Many are going to the Vatican, where the Pope has promised an audience, and to the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

More than 100,000 swarmed the ruins of St. Cyprien Church for the pontifical mass Sunday.

Find 1,550 Gallons Of Alcohol in Car

Prohibition agents reported seizing a freight car containing 1,550 gallons of alcohol suitable for beverages in the Manchester yard of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad today.

The alcohol had been shipped from New Jersey. The agents said the shipper's and receiver's names were fictitious.

Last Honor Paid Deadwood Dick At Burial

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 12.—(AP.)—In a grave blasted out of rock on the Bismarck trail on Sunrise Mountain, Richard Clarke, better known as Deadwood Dick, one of the last scouts of the pioneer days of the Middle West, was buried at sunset yesterday as several hundred friends gathered for a final tribute.

After brief church services, the body was escorted up the mountain to the cabin in Pine Crest Park where Deadwood Dick had lived most of his 83 years. In the procession were Black Hills pioneers, who rode in an old Deadwood stagecoach; the band from the Army post at Fort Meade, and relatives, who followed the casket on foot, despite a snowstorm on the mountain top. An Army squad fired a volley, and taps were blown as the body was lowered into its rocky grave.

SEEK SLAYERS OF PAYMASTER

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 12.—(AP.)—The killing of Paul L. Keating, of Oil City, Pa., in a payroll robbery at Barranca Bermeja, Saturday, was being actively investigated by Colombian authorities today.

The Governor of Santander province has sent his secretary of state to examine a number of suspects arrested by the police. The authorities observed great secrecy about their plans.

Keating was paymaster for the Tropical Oil Company. Accompanied by three employes and a member of the constabulary he was paying the workmen from funds of about 35,000 pesos (about $33,350) when robbers appeared and opened fire with revolvers.

The American was killed and his slayers sped away with the payroll. They are believed to have fled to forests in the Carare district.

RECLUSE SLAIN IN HOME

NEW YORK, May 12.—(INS.)—A murder mystery fit for a fictional detective ace was presented to police today.

Jacob Willits, 70, a recluse, was found beaten to death in his apartment. His rooms were ransacked, but nothing was taken. The murderers didn't even disturb a valuable diamond tiepin he was wearing nor a large sum of money in his pocket.

The aged victim had no known enemies. His main enjoyments were throwing pennies to neighborhood children and going to the movies.

Before he died he held up two fingers. Police inferred from this there were two murderers.

Duce in Tuscany, Made 'Liege Lord'

LUCCA, Italy, May 12.—(AP.)—Received like a medieval conquerer, Premier Mussolini today entered the City of Lucca as another step on his tour of Tuscany.

At the arch which stands just outside of Porta Elisa—one of the city's historic gates which weathered many sieges, the premier was told by the Fascist federal secretary that he had been made "Dominius," or Liege Lord of Lucca.

Hoot Mon! Lofty Ben Lomond to Be Sold

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—Ben Lomond, perhaps the most famous peak in Scotland, shortly will be sold at auction.

The Duke of Montrose has decided to sell many thousands of acres in the counties of Stirling and Lanark, and included in these will be the greater part of the lofty Ben Lomond, renowned in song and legend.

A year ago several of the islands in Loch Lomond were offered for sale by the duke. The coming of these lands into the market, at a time when there is much talk of obtaining a national park for Scotland, has aroused much interest in their eventual disposal.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

ERIC COATES' "Bird Songs at Eventide" will be sung by Richard Bonelli, baritone of the Chicago Opera Company, in tonight's Family Party on WCAE at 9:30. Bonelli, one of the few Americans who have achieved success in the operatic world will also give Danny Deever" the music written by Walter Damrosch, great American conductor.

Richard Bonelli

James P. McGuire referred to as the Modern Patrick Henry," will entertain KDKA listeners at 7:30.

A boat ride on the River Seine in Paris with its accompanying orchestra and pleasure-seeking crowd will be a picturesque presentation of WJAS at 9:30. The entertainment will give the impression of a romantic and musical adventure on a warm Parisian spring night with the stars and moon for company and the soft rippling of the River Seine beating a rhythm for the orchestra.

KONJOLA WINS VICTORY: ALL OTHERS FAILED

Pittsburgh Lady Finds Long Sought For Relief in New and Different Medicine.

Just think what it means that fifteen carloads—more than a quarter of a million bottles—of Konjola were ordered within a period of 48 hours in January, 1930. Just think what it means to know that more than 7,000,000 bottles of this new and different medicine were used in two years. Surely a medicine must have merit to be in such demand as these figures indicate. And Konjola has merit, and tens of thousands of men and women know it. Konjola is not a so-called "cure-all"—there is no such thing under the sun. But Konjola does bring relief in many cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Give thought to the fine experience that Mrs. George Greenwood, 7723 Hillcrest avenue, Pittsburgh, had with Konjola and then resolve that you will get all the facts about this new medicine. Get these facts from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is passing out free samples and free literature. But read now the statement of Mrs. Greenwood, who said to the Konjola Man:

"Konjola benefited me so much that I am glad to indorse it so that others may benefit by my experience. I was in a very nervous and rundown condition. I had a nervous breakdown and was depressed mentally. I had been in that condition for quite a while and had tried in many ways to find something that would help me regain my former health. But nothing reached my trouble and I began to lose hope of relief.

"Then I found that Konjola was just what I needed. Until I started on this medicine I also had but little appetite and was always tired out, finding it hard to sleep well. I was skeptical about Konjola at first but finally decided to get a bottle. I was very pleasantly surprised with the first week's treatment. I immediately started sleeping soundly and feeling more rested each morning. My appetite increased, and best of all my nerves were quieted. I eagerly continued with Konjola and now feel 100 per cent better. I intend to continue with Konjola as I know it will be only a matter of time until I am completely well. I recommend this medicine to everyone."

Konjola has become the most talked-of medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial. Six to eight bottles are recommended as a fair test.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold also by all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

Chickie Refuses to Keep Money From Barry

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

Barry's face turned searchingly to her. It was piercing in its white, quivering anxiety. "Chickie, where were you? Why didn't you come?"

She felt his hand on her aching arm, and this touch of his was more unbearable than the fainting hurt. She said dully, "You go—go now," and never looked at him.

They passed a lamppost. The light fell on them. In its glare he saw her dripping saw her dragging and the deathly pallor of her cheeks; then her feet leaving wet prints on the cement. He stopped quickly and touched her shoes—the wet edges of her coat.

His lips shook. "Chickie, what did you do?"

She shut her eyes.

"Chickie— He clenched her arm. The pain stabbed into her like red hot knives.

She reeled, pleading softly—"Don't—let go—oh let it go—"

He did. Her hands dropped heavy and limp to her sides. But she swayed and he put his arm about her waist. She had to endure it and his words. "Chickie—what did you do? Where in the name of heaven were you? This won't do any good. You'll only make it worse — make it frightful. Chickie—listen—"

She turned from him, mumbling—"Oh go go! I don't want you here."

It seemed that he was beating her; his hands thudded on her raw heart.

They reached the steps. The little yellow cottage was all in darkness except for the hall light they left for her. Chickie leaned against the post, shoving his arm away. She wished to say a thing to him—say it quietly. But her mind was dim; it was far from her, sunk in heavy fogs. She leaned at the post, wondering vaguely if the kitchen window was latched; if she could open it with her tortured hands.

Barry Sees Injuries

And she turned suddenly, running along the garden fence to the alley. When he followed, she said with a little shrill moan: "Oh go! You go!" And chanced to see his face. She stopped in shock. It was so pale; its mouth so drawn—a twisted, suffering thing.

"I'll not go! Until you tell me! Until you go in. Where were you, Chickie? What did you try to do? Your coat is soaking, and your shoes. Were you at the beach? Were you? Lord, Chickie, can't you see? This is the worst way in the world to do! Do you want everyone to know? Chickie—listen—"

She went stumbling through the alley. He kept pace with her—begging—pleading: "What are you going to do, Chickie? Won't you speak to me?"

"Hush—they'll hear—"

"Give me your key—you better go in—"

"I have no key." She crept up the steps to the porch. The moon was soft on the climbing roses. Chickie reached the window.

He saw her hands with the swollen wrists, saw the skin torn. He leaned down and turned them palm upwards, his breath choking.

For a long while he held her hands, staring at them, biting his lips. She had no strength to draw away. She feared to speak.

He ran a hand heavily over her hair; there came a broken pleading in his voice: "Lord, Chickie—or Lord—what did you do to them?"

"Ho—ho—"

Pain Agonizing

He trembled. And suddenly, opening the window for her, he pressed his face against the sash, hiding it with his upstretched arms. Like a figure hanging on a cross.

There was an oppressive stillness about him when he turned: "Chickie—bathe your hands. Put them in hot water—"

"Ho—my hands—"

He shuddered: "Don't go on like this. You can't! Chickie, there's only one thing to do now. Go away—I'll do anything—"

She felt an insane laughter tearing at her throat. But it made no sound. It ripped things—made the blood go warmly, in a heavy sickness round her heart.

She said again: "Go—go now—"

The dog whined. She gave a whispered cry: "Wildie—hush—" He came to the window.

Chickie tried to raise herself on her elbows, climb in. The pain, like a great, cruel hand doubled her.

He saw the ashen misery; saw the wincing. He put his arms about her: "You'll have to let me help you—" He lifted her gently and said to her: "Oh, God—Chickie—"

The dog raised his paws to her shoulder. She buried her head in the sleek mane. Without a look outward, she sank on a chair in the corner.

Many moments. The window closed softly—

Chickie pressed her mouth against the dog's head—sat there, her hands hanging limp. "God—oh, God—"

And presently she went into the bathroom and held her hands under the hot water. Her teeth drove through her lips. But she half smiled. She said to herself: "Ho — my hands!"

She kicked off her shoes and hid them in the closet—hid her coat away, going about her room with a stealthy caution. Jennie was never to know.

She lay awake, staring into the dark. Sometimes she held her arms upward because this seemed to ease their flame, their iron weight. Sometimes she let them hang over the side of the bed, and then the agony stopped her thoughts. And tears ran away from the corners of her eyes to the pillow.

Afraid of Morning

When she turned, she felt the wind sinking against her head; felt the darkness closing about her and that flapping of her hat—

She lay rigid, seeing herself kneeling at the pier, staring at the black waters. Terror lapping at her heart. She said, moaning: "Bear it—I can't do that again."

She knew that she wouldn't. No—she would never ride out there and run like a crazy thing behind the lumber piles. Not again.

But when she said to herself: "Bear it—" she turned miserably. Go away—yes—oh—that's what he wanted—hide away—but where? No thoughts came to her—only images. First it was an image of Jennie puttering in the closet, coming upon the soaked and ruined shoes, holding them up with a frightened: "Why, look at these!"

Then it was Janina, saying with narrowed eyes: "Going away? So? I wonder why?"

Then it was Jonathan: "Leave us—Chickie girl? You mean to leave your old dad—"

She went through this hour after hour. She got up sometimes and bathed her hands. She was afraid of the morning; afraid of the questions they would ask.

When finally it was light—when finally Jennie tapped at the door with a bright: "Late, Chickie! Better be getting up." She answered:

"No—Jennie dear—I've a day off—vacation starts—" Then in a sudden inspiration she called out: "Jennie, darling — come here—"

As Jennie came in she said: "Some one phoned last night, Chickie — a young man — he phoned twice. Do you know what it is?"

Barry Sends Money

She bluffed: "Let him ring again, mother. 'Twill wait. But look, Jennie. I fell last night—hurt my hands—look—"

Jennie's face grew pale—she touched the bruised skin. "My—my goodness!"

Chickie said: "Oh—it's nothing—but doesn't it look gorgeous and awful sore?—after a bit you can bathe them—how's that?

Jennie smiled and brought the basin—she believed.

Before Chickie was up there came a registered letter. It was from him.

"Chickie—give me a chance to say something. Come and see me tonight. The same place. If you won't, then you'll have to let me help. I'm sending this—not to hurt you. You can understand. If it's frightful for you—it's hell for me. I'll do my share—such as I can now—"

In the sheet and folded was a $100 bill.

She stared at it. The last pulse in her heart chilled. Then she folded the bill between two blank sheets of paper. She wrote, with a hand that could scarcely form the letters, his name on the envelope—and sent the thing back to him.

Household Hints

To clean a discolored enameled bath, use kitchen salt moistened with paraffin.

Play that extra rubber with a clear conscience when you know there is a can of good tomatoes on the pantry shelf. The family will think you've been spending the afternoon concocting an appetizing dish if you drop a little Worcestershire sauce in with the salt, pepper and lump of butter seasoning as the tomatoes are heated.

* * *

To prepare spiced pears drain a can of pears, heat the liquid with one teaspoon each of whole cloves, allspice, ginger root and nutmeg tied in a muslin bag. When it reaches the boiling point add a few pears at a time, turning and basting constantly. When well coated with the spiced juice, remove pears to a platter, cook the juice until thick, remove the spice bag and pour juice over pears. Chill.

FAY-KING

By FAY KING

I LATELY browsed through an old snapshot book.

What laughter over old styles. What sighs over old smiles now changed to frowns.

It seems impossible that a few short years could bring so many changes in those merry groups.

The affectionate couple hand in hand in every snap have long since separated and are more apart than time or distance.

This handsome jolly fellow came to such a sad end!

Who thought then that those so congenially gathered together would scatter and drift away.

We can't even recall the names of some who seem such good pals in these old pictures.

What changes a few years bring.

What a story without words the old snapshot album is.

But pleasant memories are unchanging and last forever.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Loves Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Bewildered With Father's Precautions

My answer to my father's last question concerning the connection of Marion's mysterious sandalwood box with the attempt to burglarize the farmhouse was prompt, for I already had been mulling over that particular theory.

"Possible, but not probable," I said. "If any intimate of Marion's father or grandmother knew of the box would he—or she—not have made an attempt to get it years ago instead of waiting all this time?"

My father nodded, but his eyes were doubtful.

"It is the most plausible theory, certainly," he said, "but did you not say that Marion's grandmother stipulated the 'fortune' would not be worth much until she was eighteen years of age?"

"That is what Marion told me," I answered.

"Well, then"—his finger tips began their tapping again—"if, we grant the extraordinary hypothesis that Marion's feeble old grandmother knew what she was talking about the rest falls into line. It cannot be so many years now until Marion's eighteenth birthday."

The assertion was really a question, which I promptly answered.

"She was 17 last August."

"I thought so." His finger tips were pressed tightly together now and for a few seconds his gaze was directed toward the floor, as if he expected to find an answer to the problem there. When he looked again at me a little quizzical smile was quirking his lips.

"At least the first act leaves us in suspense, that first requisite of a good melodrama," he said. "We know the burglary was attempted and we have made one fantastic conjecture as to the reason."

"What is your own theory?" I asked respectfully as he paused.

"I have none," he returned. "One guess is as good as another. Marion's sandalwood box may be their objective, or some document which they believe Harry Underwood to possess. One thing is certain—the burglary attempt was not a genuine one, or if it were it was staged by escaped inmates of a lunatic asylum. But the whole thing strikes me as either an attempt to frighten us, although even that theory is based upon the essential feeble-mindedness of the men attempting it, or else it was a practical illustration of the old saying concerning the drawing of a red herring across the trail—an attempt to keep our attention fixed in this locality for a while. That it was all elaborate hocus-pocus I am quite sure, even to their protecting themselves with Junior."

There was something in his tone which told me that he attached more importance to the theory of the box being the objective of the burglarious attempt upon the farmhouse than he had indicated to me.

I looked at my watch.

"The bank is closed by now," I said.

"That makes no difference." His tone was rigidly decisive. "There is someone there working until 5 o'clock.

"Get your things on while I telephone," he said. "By the way, didn't I hear Jerry Ticer's voice downstairs?"

"Yes. I arranged that he and his father should have lunch with Katie and Jim because we did not want them to be within reach of Mr. Halset's telephone until we had found the missing key to The Larches."

He nodded, patently impatient of the explanation.

"The important thing is that he is there," he said. "Don't give a hint of why you want him, but tell Jim to take him along with us upon some pretext which he will give the boy. Tell Jim he is to go with us and to bring the usual companion of his journeys. I don't mean Katie," he explained with a quirk of his lips. And I shivered as I realized that he did mean Jim's revolver.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Her Trusting Heart

One of the eternally and supernaturally astonishing things in this world is Woman's Trusting Heart.

Every breach of promise suit is a monument to this beautiful trait of feminine nature. She "trusted him so!" She trusted

She is always shocked, astonished and disappointed, when a man who has been deceiving the world and two-timing his wife for her sake, runs true to form—and double-crosses HER for the next woman.

* * *

A man can make a woman believe anything on earth that she WANTS to believe!

He can always make her believe that he loves her, that she is beautiful, that she looks 10 years her own junior or that he can make a fortune for her, overnight, just by a simple twist of the market.

Beauty specialists have grown rich, fortune-tellers own limousines and Wall Street promoters have garnered in millions on the strength of Woman's Trusting Heart.

Lots of big business enterprises and great national industries have been built on woman's sublime and unquenchable faith. Her faith that a few pills will reduce a mountain of flesh to a sylph-like shadow. That silk stockings will make knock-knees alluring. And that a vanishing-cream or a bottle of imported perfume will turn a plain Jane into a houri!

* * *

The only thing that astonishes a man more than the ease with which he can convince a woman that he loves her, is the difficulty he has in persuading her that he no longer loves her.

He can break his word, his dates, his sacred promises, his wedding vows and her heart—and she will still go right on trying to "win him back to his better self."

He can black her eyes or knock her unconscious, and she will still believe that it was "because he loved her so."

A woman may lose faith in Heaven, but she will never lose her faith in her own charms. She may doubt the promises of the Scriptures—but never the promises of a handsome young real estate salesman with a tender manner and a caressing voice.

A man may buy a lottery ticket, put his faith in a bottle of hair restorer, and squander his fortune on a false tip on the stock market. But no man ever bought a car because the automobile salesman had fascinating eyes and told him he had cute little feet.

Yet, nothing is colder than an automobile salesman's love after you've picked out the car, signed on the dotted line and made the first down payment.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Oysters Are Swallowed Whole

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you be good enough to help me in settling a dispute? Should oysters always be swallowed whole, or is it permissible to chew them, at least a little?

E. W. H.

OYSTERS should be swallowed whole.

Important Points

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. In serving a salad with the the meat course, does one use the salad fork as well as the dinner fork?

2. How are stuffed peppers eaten? Just the inside, or all?

3. When invited to dinner, and the hostess is unable to meet you on arrival, later, when she enters the room, should you rise to greet her?

4. How should an introduction be acknowledged when one is seated at the table?

5. Is it ever correct for a lady to rise when a gentleman is introduced, an elderly man?

6. Should a lady rise when introduced to a lady?

7. When is it proper to shake hands?

WANTS TO KNOW.

If you wish to. Usually the extra fork, the salad fork, is placed, and then the guest may or may not use the extra fork, as he or she prefers.

2. All—if you like them.

3. Yes.

4. If you are a gentleman, and are being presented to a lady, you rise. If you are a young woman being presented to a much older woman, you would rise. If you are a woman being introduced to a woman of about your own age, you would not rise.

5. Yes, if she wishes to show a special tribute of respect to an older man or a very distinguished, older man, she rises.

6. If she wished to, but unless there is a marked difference in their ages, usually nowadays they do not rise.

7. When one wishes to. There are no rules for this. Handshaking means cordiality, enthusiasm—or should—and whenever these are called for, one may shake hands. But the tendency to shake hands is not so marked as formerly.

Presenting the Bride in Marriage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper for a mother to give her daughter away in marriage at the altar, or is it proper for a male relative to do this?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

EITHER is correct, and it is for the bride and her mother to determine which form they prefer. If the bride has no father, she usually has a male relative—an uncle, or a brother, or a cousin—or a friend of her family's, an older man, for instance, who had been a friend of her father's for many years, give her in marriage. But, if she prefers—and many brides do, and correctly—she may have her mother present her in marriage.

When the mother presents the bride in marriage, the bride either walks up the aisle with a male relative, or she walks alone. The mother steps forward as the clergyman says, "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" takes part in this short part of the ceremony, and then returns to her seat in the first pew on the left of the aisle.

The Rhyming Optimist

The Songs Men Weave

As swift years go,
What do they leave
Of hopes and dreams?
The songs men weave!

Down centuries
Long vanished now
We glimpse the curls
On Helen's brow,

We hear the clash
Of Trojan arms,
See Priam's grief
And war's alarms.

Men from the first
For you, for me,
Have woven in song
Life's tapestry.

And though they joy,
Or though they grieve,
Time gives us still
The songs men weave.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

The Monday Blues

There are a lot of things I want to know. One of them is why we speak of the first week day as "Blue Monday."

DR. COPELAND

In spite of all we say to the contrary, most of us really like to work. We pretend to hate work and sputter about it a lot. But really we are miserable without. Even a gloriously happy bridegroom longs for the office.

Sunday is a "day of rest." Theoretically, it is a day of rest. In reality, it is anything but that. For many it is a day of riotous living, of overeating, of exercise generally. No wonder Monday is such an off day!

But there are plenty of persons who practice on Sunday exactly what are supposed to be the rules for the Sabbath. Yet lots of them suffer the discomforts of "Blue Monday." Why is it?

I want you to think it over and write me how you usually feel on Monday and the excuses you have for your weekly symptoms. It is my intention to analyze these letters and see what the popular explanation is for "Blue Monday."

The trouble with many of us is that we take no exercise during the week, leaving to Sunday the only activity of the seven days. Consequently we overdo and are tired out on Monday.

During the week-end we should not treat our bodies as if they have unlimited powers of resistance. Swimming, horseback riding, tennis, walking, ball playing—all these are good. But to indulge a lot in one of these pleasures on Saturday afternoon and Sunday and to take no exercise whatsoever during the week is sure to have unpleasant effects. Moderation should be the rule.

You get up later on Sunday. Surely you eat more on Sunday than on the other days. A marked change from your usual habits is certain to bring a reaction by Monday morning.

These are some of the thoughts I have about the reasons for Blue Monday. But I want to know what your reasons are.

Perhaps you and I together can work out some new theories about this thing. Anyhow, let's try.

There can be no doubt that to many persons Monday is a long, hard day, the worst of the week. I wish we might find a way to make it better.

I shall look for your letter.

Answers to Health Queries

MRS. B. M. Q.—Would chronic bronchitis cause a pain in the middle of the chest and shortness of breath?

A.—Yes. You should practice deep breathing and exercise daily in the open air. Take cod-liver oil as a general tonic.

MRS. N. B. H. Q.—What causes itching of the body?

A.—Itching of the body may be due to constipation, autointoxication, intestinal disturbances, poor nutrition, overeating or to some food poisoning. Fear, embarrassment and certain diseases of the nervous system may cause this condition.

MARIE K. Q.—What can be done for bow legs?

A.—Consult an orthopedist for his opinion and advice.

MRS. E. C. Q.—What do you advise for diabetes?

A.—Anyone suffering with diabetes should be under the care of a doctor, as each case requires specific treatment.

A. B. C. Q.—Could you suggest something to make my legs stouter and my waistline thinner?

A.—It is difficult to increase or decrease any part of the body without increasing or decreasing it generally.

P. C. Q.—What do you advise for a discharging ear?

A.—See an ear specialist for treatment.

ARTHUR C. C. Q.—What do you advise for nasal catarrh?

A.—Nasal spray used in the nose and throat night and morning may prove very helpful.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Considering the delicacy and softness of facial tissues and muscles they stand up pretty well. Women don't wrinkle as early as they used to, judging by the phizes of our noble ancestors as recorded in the old family albums. There's less worrying going on, and practically no weeping. The average woman never bawls or kicks up a rumpus. She's too much of a man to do that. Emotions and ill-health are two influences that destroy the firm contour of the complexion. If a woman has a good digestion and a firm rein on her emotions she should keep wrinkles away until she is well past her fiftieth birthday.

Since nobody ever died of falling hair or baldness, the illustrious medical profession of past years didn't turn its scientific eye upon these matters. But times have changed. There are capable medical men who handle such cases. Often complete medical examinations are made, blood tests and everything. The health of the hair depends to a large extent upon the health of the body, proper assimilation, proper elimination. Nervousness depletes the glorious crown. Loss of sleep and worry have a bad effect upon it. Samson had a lot of wool, and see what a big, strong boy he was!

In middle age freckles have a mean, sneaking way of developing into moth patches. Exposure to wind and strong sunlight encourages the discolorations to form. A lotion that will remove them if they are not old timers is made by combining four ounces of rubbing alcohol, two ounces of rosewater and 15 drops of simple tincture of benzoin. The benzoin is the bleaching agent. It fluffs away the epidermis in flour-like particles.

Beauty of movement distinguishes a woman as much as beauty of features. There are women who walk so lightly and beautifully that they seem to float through the air. Grace is natural to some, but any woman with a seeing mind and a will can acquire it. There must be spring in the step, the body must be held splendidly, movements should be easy. There must be no tight muscles, yet every muscle should be strong and resilient. By joining a gym class a woman can gather helpful ideas.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, May 13.

Adverse conditions generally may be expected to prevail on this day, according to the inauspicious stellar activities. There may be setbacks, injuries, sickness and sorrow, as well as betrayal and misrepresentation. But much depends on a philosophical way of encountering these minor anxieties, which will not be tempered by ill will, violence or rash and hasty words and deeds. Be very cautious with all writings.

Those whose birthday it is may not look for an entirely propitious state of affairs during the coming year. There may be delays, illness, sudden change and suffering through treachery or malice. But calm and philosophic attitudes may bridge over difficult situations. Be carefull with speech and all writings.

A child born on this day may be restless, changeable, erratic and subtle, although clever and versatile. It may bring on trouble for itself through rash and ill-advised speech and writings.

NATION LEAGUE CONVENES

GENEVA, May 12.—(INS.)—The fifty-ninth meeting of the council of the League of Nations opened here today with M. Marinkovitch, of Jugoslavia, presiding.

Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, arriving at the meeting, entered with a group of detectives following him.

It was believed in league circles that Grandi and Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, would refrain from engaging in naval limitation conversations, fearing the effect such conversation might have on the action of the United States Senate, which is now considering the London naval pact.

One of the first acts of the council was the acceptance of the resignation of Charles Evans Hughes from the bench of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Evangelical Church Conference Opens

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 12.—The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Evangelical Church opened at the new structure in Davistown, today. The Rev. R. C. Miller, of Indiana, presiding elder, was in charge. The program closes Wednesday.

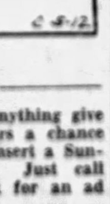
Corns

Put them to Sleep Instantly, then Lift them Off!

Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.



Leaves Your Hair Lovely and Alluring

"Beauty Shampoo in 10 minutes"

Quickly, Easily, at a few cents cost—you can have a Real "Beauty Shampoo" that will give Your Hair a Loveliness, quite unobtainable by Ordinary Washing.

YOU CAN SAVE TIME, expense and inconvenience, by adopting this simple method of "beauty shampooing" which gives truly professional results at home.

The beauty of your hair, its sparkle . . . its gloss and lustre . . . depends, almost entirely, upon the way you shampoo it.

A thin, oily film, or coating, is constantly forming on the hair. If allowed to remain, it catches the dust and dirt—hides the life and lustre—and the hair then becomes dull and unattractive.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a glass or pitcher with a little warm water added, makes an abundance of . . . soft, rich, creamy lather . . . which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing with it every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Only thorough shampooing will . . . remove this film . . . and let the sparkle, and rich, natural . . . color tones . . . of the hair show.

Ordinary washing fails to satisfactorily remove this film, because—it does not clean the hair properly.

Besides—the hair cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali, in ordinary soaps, soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why women, by the thousands, who value beautiful hair, are using Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. It cleanses so thoroughly; is so mild and so pure, that it cannot possibly injure, no matter how often you use it.

You will notice the difference in the appearance of your hair the very first time you use Mulsified, for it will feel so delightfully clean, and be so soft, silky, and fresh-looking.

Try a Mulsified "Beauty Shampoo" and just see how quickly it is done. See how easy your hair is to manage, and how lovely and alluring it will look. See it sparkle—with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store, or toilet goods counter, . . . anywhere in the world.

STATE LEADS IN ROAD BUILDING

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Highway construction projects undertaken in the United States during the first quarter of 1930 represent an expenditure more than 100 per cent in excess of that which was begun during the same period last year. Secretary Lamont, who has corresponded with the governors of 35 states in conducting a Commerce Department inquiry into the subject has released the estimate, along with a detailed report of the accomplishment of various states in the road building expansion.

The figures, which cover almost 75 per cent of the country, show contracts awarded for construction during the first quarter of this year valued at $114,101,383, the report said, against $50,910,133 for the corresponding period of last year, a net increase of slightly over 124 per cent for the group of states which have reported so far.

Pennsylvania with contracts awarded valued at $15,469,853 for the first quarter of 1930 against $2,282,813 for the same period of 1929, has the greatest dollar value. This is an increase of 577 per cent.

It is estimated that nearly 50 cents of each dollar spent for highway building and maintenance is paid for labor involved.

Washington Balks At Detour Routing

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 12.—Telegrams have been sent to the Highway Department by the Chamber of Commerce asking an explanation of the most recent detour bulletin in which it was advocated that through traffic on the National Pike go by way of Wellsburg and Steubenville to Pittsburgh. Chamber of Commerce officials say that a detour established west of here is suitable for traffic and would save mileage.

Nervous, Tired, Felt Miserable

"After my baby came I was so nervous and tired that I felt miserable. One day a booklet was left at our door and after reading it I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now on my fourth bottle and I feel much stronger. Please publish this letter because the Vegetable Compound has helped me in every way and I feel sure that other women in rundown condition will pick up if they will only take a few bottles."—*Mrs. Lloyd R. Yours for More Shopping and Less Hopping

ONCE stores made shopping as hard as possible, on the theory that after having gotten you into the store, the more obstacles placed in your way, the longer you'd stay to do your trading. Not a bad way of looking at it—from the standpoint of the days of the sideburn and the one hoss shay — but a bit archaic, we'd say, in 1930.

SO AT KAUFMANN'S we've tried to make shopping as EASY for you as possible. On the theory that if we can save you time AS WELL AS money, we'll see you more often even if we don't see you as long.

THAT'S why there are eight large, adult-size entrances to Kaufmann's, about twice the number you'll find elsewhere. That's why the Arcade Floor has its own separate entrances, and escalator service. That's why we've arranged the new first floor radially, with aisles and counters cut on the bias—because a straight line is still the shortest distance between where you are and where you want to be. That's why we put the Arcade Grille where it is—so that you could step in for a sip-and-a-bite without going through all the motions of Daedalus in the Labyrinth. That's the why of sixty-six escalators and twenty-one elevators.

The Main Idea Being, Less "Hopping" and More Shopping.

NEW POSTOFFICE CONFERENCE CALLED

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

There is another story of the late John Goettmann's famed restaurant in Diamond street. Many years ago a waiter served a sirloin steak to a prominent attorney who insisted he had ordered hamburger steak. The barrister stormed from the restaurant, only to be followed by the waiter, who called a policeman and had the indignant one arrested.

The lawyer sued and a jury which apparently felt the same way he did about steaks awarded him $3,000 damages. For several years the standing joke in the local vaudeville theaters was:

A—What is the difference between a hamburger steak and a sirloin steak?

B—I don't know; what is the difference between a hamburger steak and a sirloin steak?

A—$3,000 in Diamond street.

Grant Rigby, who is the Sun-Telegraph's hurdy-gurdy reporter, halted in his tracks when he saw a hurdy-gurdy man offering his wares in the East End, and obtained a report on hurdy-gurdy conditions. The hurdy-gurdy man rolled the ends of his mustache and complained that business was terrible, although it must be said to his credit that he did not blame the late stock market depression. He did blame the radio, which he described as music from the box. He said the people would not stop to listen to his melodies as once they did, because at home all they had to do was turn on the switch. He is thinking of giving up the business.

Observation: The hosts and hostesses in the cabarets have difficult jobs. They try to convince the customer that they're his best friends but they don't want him feeling that they're friendly enough to lift the cover charge. It is a trying task, shaking Al's hand, asking how the wife is, telling him unimportant gossip in the confidential manner—and having to appear preoccupied when he suggests that the cover charge be crossed off the check. We are not complaining, but simply pointing out one of the trials in the life of the hosts and hostesses. At a later date we may take up the tribulations.

When anybody asks us or tells us, "My, but it's hot," we retort that everybody always is complaining about the weather but nobody does anything about it. And we are credited with a bright remark because only one in 43 persons knows that Mark Twain, or somebody before us, is the author. Accused of misspelling, we plagiarize Twain again. We say: "It's a mighty poor word that can't be spelled more than one way."

Brady McSwigan, boss of Kennywood Park ("the picnic season opens Friday"), covered the annual election of directors of the Chamber of Commerce for Sidewalks. What he saw was an enterprising election teller in charge of one of the voting machines explaining at length all the intricate details of the machine to none other than Senator Frank Harris, who has been a vote-machine ballyhooer for more years than one.

Girl Scouts to Stage Brookline Plays

Girl Scouts of Troops Nos. 16, 20 and 100, Brookline, will present three one-act plays and a Girl Scout film at the Brookline public school auditorium Friday night.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 12.—Mother ruled the roost yesterday but we put her back to work again today and will keep her in her place till this time next year. Yesterday she had breakfast in bed accompanied by roses, but today we rolled her out early. It was a beautiful thought these florists had that proposed this day.

I propose a Father's Day. No flowers, no fuss, just let him use the car himself and go where he wants to. But we will never live to see such a contented day.

This is hospital day, our greatest and most humane insituation. The minute you lay this paper down send flowers or a donation to some hospital. That will please mothers as much as yesterday.

Yours,
WILL.

ABOLISH GRADE CROSSINGS AT CRAFTON

State Orders Subway at Estimated $340,500 Cost; Borough, County Assessed

The Public Service Commission at Harrisburg today directed abolition of two grade crossigs over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Crafton. The crossings are at Crafton avenue and Emily street.

The commission directed the construction of a subway midway madway between the present crossings. The subway will have a 30-foot highway and 7.5-foot sidewalks on each side. Pedestrian subways eight feet wide will be constructed at the site of the present crossings.

The total estimated cost of the subway projects is $340,500. The commission fixed June 1, 1931, for the completion of the project.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will do all the work incident to the construction of the crossings. The commission directed Allegheny County to contribute $75,000 and Crafton Borough $50,000 toward the cost of the work.

The commission out of its own funds also will contribute $25,000. Property damage, estimated at an additional $75,000 will be borne by the borough.

Discuss Widening Of Lockhart Street

Proposal for making Lockhart street a main thoroughfare will be discussed by the Business Men's Association of the East North Side at its monthly meeting Wednesday in the National Bank of America rooms. The traffic proposal includes cutting through East Park, widening South Diamond street and continuing through to Ridge avenue. H. A. Peck, traffic committee chairman, will speak.

Bellevue Traders To Discuss Bonds

The proposed Bellevue school bond issue of $450,000, which will be voted on at the primaries, May 20, will be discussed at a meeting of the Bellevue Board of Trade in the Borough Hall tomorrow night, to which all residents are invited. The Rev. Dr. R. F. Galbreath, chairman of the committee on education, will make a report. Members of the school board will attend and answer any questions.

Rankin Woman Struck by Auto

Struck by an automobile at Kenmawr avenue and Patterson street, Rankin, Mrs. Millie Melocci, 27, of No. 1 Boundary street, was injured seriously early today. She was taken to the Braddock General Hospital. Walter Buick, 5464 Rosedale street, was held by Rankin police in connection with the accident.

T. A. T. Passenger Traffic Increases

Officials of the T. A. T.-Maddux Air Lines reported today that in April the lines carried 1,082 more passengers than in March. During the first four months of 1930 the lines carried a total of 13,833 passengers.

A fleet of 18 multi-motored planes is now being operated by the company, the report shows.

Tom Tells Ardeth That He Cares for Her

CHAPTER XXIX.

When they whizzed down the long slide, Ardeth clinging breathlessly, with tightly shut eyes to Ken, they found Tom waiting at the end of the runway.

He turned on Ken, laughing but jealous. "You highbinder! snitching a ride!"

There followed a scuffle in the snow, which became a free-for-all when Fred and Bill Lane were dragged into it.

More breathtaking rides—first with one then the other. Snowball fights when the men pelted the girls and were secretly amazed at the vigor of their defense.

Then, a peaceful twilight hour, when dusk drove them back to the cabin to sit around the stove drying their wet feet.

Stamped forever on Ardeth's memory, this hour. She lay back in a low wicker chair, comfortably tired in body, but alert in mind. Alive to the strange peace of it all. The last thick daylight straining through the turkey-red curtains at the window. Smell of pine smoke and fresh lumber and wet wool drying. Laughing, effortless talk. The sprawling figures about her—a lazy grace in the slim bodies in the rough sport clothes.

And under everything—the thrilling consciousness of Ken.

Tall and trim, with that confident poise of head, he made Fred Eastwood look thick and clumsy. Ken's serviceable roughneck sweater and high-laced boots made Bill Lane's elaborate sports outfit ridiculous.

Ardeth Thrilled
She Is Proud of Ken

All evening her love was a magnet, drawing her close to him. Thrilling just t be beside him, feeling that he was tremendously aware of her in every inch of his body, though he kept on talking to Mary or teased Maida and Phyllis in turn.

The consciousness of him put a silver edge on her own laugh when she sat beside him at dinner. Her cheeks took on a sweet, warm flush. Her hands moved as she talked like fluttering birds, knowing that now and then Ken's glance came stealthily around to her with a look which was a caress.

In that moment the room receded to Ardeth and the others became pale shadows. Only Ken and herself here . . . vitally alive, thrilling to the marvelous fact of each other.

He was hers! She was filled with pride at once swaggering and humble. Only Ken and herself here, with this thrillingly sweet something playing like a flame between them.

Fearing lest too much of this showed in her face she turned to Tom and began an animated conversation, struggling to keep the singing note from her voice.

Surprised
Ardeth Angered by Tom's Remark

After dinner they went in a group to the small town dance. This was held in the room behind the general store. A long wooden space, heated by a barrel stove and aromatic with the evergreen branches nailed up for decorations.

Tom looked down at her tawny head when he had her for a dance. "Like it, Ardeth?"

He had a glowing look for reply.

"All right—it's all yours."

His words were laughing, but there was a serious note in the man's voice.

Ardeth adopted a purposely light tone.

"You mean I can have everything?" She waved her hand at the rough store. "Evergreens and all? Oh—not the evergreens, Tom! that's too much—"

"Don't pretend to misunderstand me!" he returned roughly. "You know I'm crazy about you, Ardeth!"

"Oh—sh-h-h!" She was suddenly in panic to keep him from actual words.

"Not a chance, have I? Not a chance—yet."

She was suddenly and unreasoningly angry. "Why do you say that—yet!"

"Oh—because some day maybe there will be. Things don't always turn out the way one figures them. . . . Don't look at me like that, Ardeth. What's so wrong with what I say? You might change your mind. Other girls have—that's my hope."

But it was the unspoken meaning under his words which stuck like a sword in her heart. That same warning she had heard in Mary Eastwood's words the other day. An echo of that unreasoning fear which underlay all her thoughts about Ken. She made a desperate effort to throw it off, to remain pleasant to Tom.

"So serious we are! Here, look—the music's stopped and we're still dancing!"

Thinks of Ken
True Richness to Be His Wife

She drew out of his arms and walked to the others.

Was this really herself, taking so calmly this proposal of marriage from a wealthy and presentable man? If she could have foreseen this in the grey days of the Harrison flat, how it would have thrilled her. She was a fool! some deep voice in her mind upbraided her. She would regret this all of her life! Who was she to refuse such a marriage?

Who was she?—sang her heart joyfully. She was the girl Ken Gleason loved! Ah—that was true richness, to be married to Ken. Even if they had nothing. Even if they fought poverty together!

The crown of the evening was the walk back to the cabin after the dance.

Bundled in their coats they made their slow way down the snowy trail over the hard packed snow. Their flashlights played back and forth like a swarm of glowworms. There was no moon, but myriads of low bright stars hung over trees black and unstirring in the chill, cold air. Now and then they passed little cabins, the windows rectangles of warm light.

Interrupted
Arrival of Telegram Stops Conversation

Bill Lane, an arm about Maida and Phyllis, led the way. They were singing. The voices floated back thin and sweet and a little wistful in the beauty of the night.

Tom, silent since that last dance with Ardeth, walked with Mary and Fred.

Ken, who had maneuvered to walk with Ardeth, lagged behind the others and when they had disappeared into the cabin he drew the girl into his arms. Mittened hands clinging. His lips coming down to find her own . . . warm lips in cold faces. She knew the sweet surrender of his kiss after fighting the thought of him all day.

"You darling . . ." She could see his ardent eyes shining down into her own. "All fire and sweetness you are. If you knew how darned jealous I got when I saw you dancing with Tom. Ah—honey, let's take the jump. Let's get married when we go back—I want you so."

Mary Eastwood's agitated figure suddenly appearing above them on the porch, so that they drew apart in confusion.

Mary's voice with a strained, frightened note.

"Ken—come in at once! A telegram came for you. Do you suppose . . . your mother . . ."

MODELING SOCIETY CHILDREN IN WAX

Children Portraitist Revives Old Method

By PENELOPE REDD.

Ethel Frances Mundy has been portraitist at large to the most attractive children in the United States. Her exhibition of miniatures in colored wax is now being presented at the Gillespie galleries while she is here modeling other subjects.

Penelope Redd

One inevitably associates Miss Mundy's name with children because she lends permanence to the persuasive beauty of childhood. From the Barbara Price in white bonnet, a modern "Baby Stuart," to the more complicated compositions such as two little girls in orchid frocks seen in a garden in hyacinth-time, or the gracious portrait of a mother and two small daughters, Miss Mundy makes an irrestible appeal.

REVIVES OLD METHOD

Fifteen or more years ago, Miss Mundy determined to revive the old method of modeling miniatures in colored wax. It was prevalent as an active art in the Italian Renaissance and ended in England at the end of the eighteenth century. To resume it was less a gap in time than a gap in technical knowledge.

Miss Mundy had no one to give her clues as to material, or ways of using them. Finally, she secured the interest of a woman chemist, who devoted more than two years in evolving a chemical formula for colored wax. Miss Mundy's wax is impervious to changes in temperature or to the effect of atmosphere.

Ethel Mundy has made portraits in the top flight American families, including the Vanderbilt, Whitney, Armour and other clans.

PITTSBURGH SUBJECTS

In Pittsburgh, she has modeled portraits of the children of T. Howe Nimick, of W. J. Jones, of Thomas M. Jones III, of C. Dudley Armstrong, of Harry Darlington, Jr., of Drayton Heard, of George E. Mohler, of Thomas Jones Hilliard, and of Mrs. Thomas Armstrong Robinson.

Miss Mundy has also modeled both Mrs. J. O. Burgwin and her children, and the same is true of Mrs. B. Lee Lord Chandler and her two sons; of Mrs. Theodore F. Smith and her daughters, Sally and Diana, and of Mrs. Herbert A. May and her children.

Among Miss Mundy's recently completed portraits in Pittsburgh is one of Mrs. Lewis A. Park with her dog, and of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr.

STORE TO OPEN PLANE EXHIBIT

An informal tea in honor of two noted German fliers tomorrow afternoon was to open a one-week's exhibition of German aircraft in Gimbel's department store. Miss Antonie Strassman, outstanding woman flier of the German Republic and Baron Koenig von Warthausen, who attracted attention on a round-the-world flight as a student flier, were to be honored.

The two are to give talks at the exhibition at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon this week, beginning Wednesday.

Displayed on Gimbel's fourth floor are models of the Dornier 150-passenger DOX, valued at $30,000, and the slightly smaller DOJ and DOS. Models of planes by Junkers, Heinkel, Rohrbach, Frederick Allihn, Fock-Wulf, Wasser and Luft, Gebr Muller, and others will show the trend of German aircraft design.

4 Fined on Charge Of Selling 'Numbers'

Four alleged "numbers" sellers were fined $10 each by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in the South Side Police Court yesterday. They were Joseph Talko, 24, a confectioner of 2915 Carson street; Peter Betlich, 26, of 3258 Arlington avenue; Michael Dadsovich, 16, of 2908 Carey way, and Harry Southworth, 25, of 2336 Carson street.

CITIZENS ACT TO SPEED PLANS

U. S. Architect Consults With Postal Heads Here; Blueprints Now Ready

Action of Pittsburgh citizens to take matters into their own hands in ironing out the traffic difficulties of Pittsburgh's new federal building without waiting on decisions of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies was revealed today in these developments:

1—A conference will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at noon tomorrow to complete the organization of a committee of citizens headed by Arthur E. Braun.

2—A movement is on foot to co-ordinate the plans for the Postoffice arrangements in the new Federal Building at Grant street and Seventh avenue with the major cross-town traffic scheme worked out by the City Planning Commission.

3—A large delegation of Pittsburgh business and industrial leaders will go to Washington next Monday and lay their suggestions before the government authorities.

4—To facilitate prompt action the Better Traffic Committee of the city of Pittsburgh, the City Planning Committee, the Public Works Department of Allgheny County, the transportation interests and the Chamber of Commerce special committee on federal buildings will act as a pathfinding body without waiting to report their findings to the directors of the chamber.

WORK QUIETLY

At a conference presided over by F. J. Chesterman in the Chamber of Commerce several weeks since it was announced that no publicity would be given to the canvass in the postoffice traffic situation until after a report had been given to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce for approval.

In the meantime the City Planning Commission's cross-town improvement scheme was presented with suggestions for the building of a ramp to the second floor of the postoffice building, allowing mail trucks to run upon the second floor of the postoffice.

It was decided to speed up the project and yesterday Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath, in charge of the government's building plans, came from Washington and discussed the problems with representatives of the various committees at the home of James Francis Burke, in Devonshire street.

Attending the conference were James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Braun, chairman of the special committee; E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; E. B. Lee, of the Better Traffic Committee; Norman P. Brown, director of public works of Allegheny County, and Frederick Bigger, of the City Planning Commission.

BLUEPRINTS READY

Draftsmen are at work on drawings embodying the committee's ideas on designs for a Federal Building which will meet Pittsburgh's peculiar traffic conditions. The preliminary blueprints will be submitted at the meeting tomorrow.

Further suggestions will be considered, it is stated, and a large delegation will go to Washington for a conference in the office of the assistant secretary of the Treasury at 10 a. m. Monday.

Boys Play Samaritan, Now Own Fine Dog

Ted Soles, 17, and Paul Walker, 16, Donora boys, are the owners of a well-bred collie dog today, after a midnight ride to Pittsburgh to give the dog medical attention.

Late at night the dog was struck by an auto and the owner was about to have it shot when the boys pleaded for its life and asked that they be given the injured dog.

They carried it to the home of Joseph Shelling, a Donora dog fancier, who, after a hurried examination said he thought the dog would live. Then with Shelling, the boys drove to Pittsburgh, where a veterinarian set a broken leg and ministered to other injuries. The boys with their dog returned to Donora about 3 a. m., and have been caring for the animal. In two weeks they expect the animal to be as well as ever.

BAIL DENIED 10 ARRESTED IN RUM RAIDS

Restaurants, Saloons and Club Yield Contraband; Homestead Man Released

Ten men arrested by prohibition agents in raids late Saturday night and early yesterday were held in the Central Police Station when bail was denied them yesterday.

Between 11 p. m. Saturday and 2 a. m. yesterday the federal officers raided nine places. Liquor law violations were discovered in each, they reported.

Places raided and persons arrested, according to the agents, were a restaurant at East Park way, Jack Slagle and Robert Meyer; saloon at 2220 Forbes street, Martin Murray; dwelling at 2714 Carey way, Joseph Jeska; store at 4212 Penn avenue, John Butler; club, rear of 1421 Wylie avenue, Chester Stanard; building at 142 Fullerton street, Harris McKinney, Harry Christian and Edgar Clark; building at 612 Wylie avenue, Nicholas Dewerei; restaurant at 128 Ninth street, no arrests, and saloon at 707 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, Joseph Armstrong.

BANDIT KILLERS SLAY WITNESS

DOWNERS GROVE, Ill., May 12.—(INS.)—Authorities investigating the roadhouse slaying of Edward Karesch, bartender, today were convinced that Karesch was slain by five bandits because he witnessed a similar killing last November.

Five gangsters believed to have been the same quintet that killed Jeff Wander, proprietor of a neighboring roadhouse, walked into the John Bangert resort near here early yesterday, flourishing automatic revolvers and shotguns.

Singling out Karesch, the leader hurried to the bar and commanded the bartender to put up his hands. Karesch hesitated and was shot dead by the bandit leader.

The bandits then lined up the patrons and robbed them of $150, but ignored the cash in the till. Karesch had boasted, it is said, of being able to recognize the murderers of Wander. Karesch's actions before he died in yesterday's raid indicated that he recognized the bandit leader although he was masked, police said.

Held in Burning Of Wife's Clothing

Albert Johnston, 52, of Forty-sixth street, came home drunk yesterday and promptly burned all of his wife's clothes, the wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston, testified in Morals Court today. Johnston was held for mental observation.

KILL 2 NEGROES IN DICE FIGHTS

Fights during gambling games climaxed in the slaying of two men yesterday and resulted in the holding for the coroner of their alleged slayers.

The first killing occurred at Liberty avenue and Twenty-third street, when, police say, Adrian Anderson, 40, a Negro, who lived at the Pennsylvania Railroad commissary, 2233 Liberty avenue, stabbed Edward Boswell, 34, a Negro, in the heart during a dice game.

Anderson was captured by Wagonman H. J. Rice and Joseph Brennan after a chase of a block.

Three other Negroes, Hardy Brown, 39; John Lott, 34, nad Otis Cook, 32, were detained as material witnesses. All lived at the commissary.

Chester Cropper, 29, a Negro, of 559 Wood way, Braddock, today was charged by Braddock police with the fatal shooting last night of Warren Alsten, 24, a Negro, of 547 Corey avenue, Braddock, according to the coroner's report. Alsten died in the Braddock General Hospital after being shot in the abdomen and wrist in a fight during a dice game in Center street, Braddock, deputy coroners said.

Ten Children Mourn for Brother, Stricken Day After Scuffle in Street

The 10 children of Dominick Grudowski, of 525 Talbot avenue, Braddock, today were mourning the loss of their brother, Raymond, 11, who, parents believe, was the victim of a friendly boxing bout. The boy died in the Braddock General Hospital yesterday.

Raymond and a chum donned boxing gloves for a bout near the Grudowski home Friday afternoon. During the encounter he was struck on the head and knocked against a fence. Saturday he complained to his mother about having a pain in the head. An hour later he became unconscious and was sent to the hospital.

Meningitis was the cause of death, according to a hospital report.

SON IDENTIFIES RIVER VICTIM

The body of an aged man, taken from the Monongahela River at Hays, has been identified as that of Michael Schnoter, 73, of 422 Seddon avenue, North Braddock. According to a son, Joseph F. Schnoter, of the same address, who made the identification, the victim disappeared last Armistice Day.

The son said his father spent Armistice Day in the Monongahela Cemetery, North Braddock, beside the grave of his wife. The man later was seen on the North Braddock Bridge over the Monongahela River. Morgue attaches believe the man was despondent over his wife's death and ended his life by leaping into the stream.

Two Communities On Daylight Time

Brackenridge and Tarentum residents will observe daylight time the remainder of the season, the advance in time having gone into effect in the two boroughs yesterday. The action followed closely a conference held between Burgess Harry Rupert, of Brackenridge, and Burgess E. L. Henry, of Tarentum, after Brackenridge Borough Council ruled that body had no jurisdiction in the time change.

The past commanders who will honor guests are L. B. Duff, E. B. Logan, Dr. O. H. Walker, George W. Conner, S. C. Goodnough, R. H. Miller, C. R. Halpin, H. S. Johnson and Phil K. Rodgers. Commander T. C. Barr will preside.

The Camera Question Box

Today's Question: A magazine writer making a survey of women in business learns that the country has three women railroad presidents. Are women to be complimented for such prowess or should they aspire to triumphs considered more within the realm of family life?

RUTH HENNINGER, Butler, student: Holding down the position of a railroad president seems a bit too mannish for a woman in my opinion. I believe a woman should devote most of her time to the home and some of her time to outside activities that will not occupy all her time.

Miss Henninger

HELEN BAUGHMAN, Jeannette: I can see no objection to a woman spending part of her life in the business world if she does not become so business minded that she cares little or nothing for a home. Homes are a necessity and the woman is the only one fitted to create home atmosphere.

Miss Baughman

ELIZABETH MAGERRY, North Side, student: A woman is much better fitted for a part in home life than she is for the presidency of a railroad. I see nothing objectionable in a woman having other interests than those of the home, but the home should be first.

Miss Magerry

DOLAS M. EBERT, East End, undergraduate: If any woman expects to devote her entire life to business she should certainly be complimented if she became a president of a railroad system. There is nothing radically wrong because a woman believes herself fitted for business and participates in it.

Miss Ebert

A. T. JONES, East End: If we wish to have our present order of society continued it is necessary for the women to stay at home while the men go into the world to make a living for the women and children. The average woman is not suited for business so let her stay at home.

A. T. Jones

JOE ZILTCH, Lynchburg, Va: It is my belief that the usual woman wants a home, regardless of those who loudly announce that our fairer sex is competing with the strong handsome males. Every woman should aspire for a happy home with lots of healthy youngsters that put finger prints on the walls.

WOMAN REGAINS STOLEN $300

Believed to have been the purse snatcher active in the East End for several weeks, Charles Johnston, 28, a Negro, of 7200 Burton street, was questioned by East End police today, after being held over at a hearing before Magistrate Charles Papale.

Johnston learned he picked on the wrong victim when he snatched the bag of Mrs. H. Robertson Boswell, Jr., of New York, who is visiting her mother at 591 East End avenue, police said.

The purse, containing $300, was seized from Mrs. Boswell's arm while she was walking in Forbes street, near Braddock avenue, Saturday night. Mrs. Boswell screamed and started in pursuit. Others joined in the chase, during which Johnston was overtaken.

The purse and the contents were recovered.

Kaufmann Initiated In Pi Lambda Phi

Edgar Kaufmann, head of Kaufmann's store, was initiated as an honorary member of the Pi Lambda Phi, national social fraternity, at the University of Pittsburgh yesterday. Following the ceremonies he was honor guest at a banquet in the Schenley Hotel. Eight under-graduates were initiated into active membership.

Harry Applestein, president of the Y. M. & W. H. A., was in charge. Speakers were Irving Lehman, Prof. Alexander Silverman, of the university, both honorary members of the society; Richard Rauh, Mr. Kaufmann and Eddie Jacoss, president of the fraternity.

PASTOR FLAYS PARKER

Refusal of the Senate to confirm Judge John J. Parker as a Supreme Court jurist was a "just rebuke," the Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, said yesterday in his sermon.

The Baptist minister said it would have been a direct slap at labor and the Negro race, to have seated a man in the highest court, who had made utterances so derogatory to a people.

Mr. Bleakney said that the Senate is to be congratulated for having the courage to take the action it did.

Magee Hospital Will Graduate 11

LINK PIAZZA TO GANG HERE

That Lugi Piazza, Jeannette racketeer, slain at a filling station near his home, was a prominent member of the Monastero gang and in possession of knowledge concerning many underworld slayings in Allegheny County, was the belief expressed today by City Detective William R. Harris. Piazza's murder was a reprisal for some of these slayings, Harris believes.

When he learned of the shooting Friday night, Harris hurried to the Westmoreland Hospital in Greensburg in hope of talking with the victim, but the latter died without regaining consciousness. He had been shot 20 times by four men who pulled up beside his car at the filling station.

The gang war which led to the latest killing is one of seven years' standing.

Mrs. Mary B. Snyder Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Black Snyder, widow of William P. Snyder, 657 Morewood avenue, who died yesterday, will be held from her home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be private. Mrs. Snyder, a daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Alex Black, spent most of her life as a resident of Pittsburgh. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She leaves a son, William P. Snyder, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. James B. Drew, wife of Judge Drew; a sister, Mrs. Neville B. Dilworth, and a brother, Gilbert M. Black, all of Pittsburgh.

17 HURT, TOLL TAKEN SUNDAY BY AUTOS

4 Injured as Car Plunges Down Hillside, Collisions Send 3 to Hospitals

Seventeen persons were injured in automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh district yesterday.

When their automobile, sideswiped by another machine, ran down an embankment on Frankstown road, Penn Township, early yesterday, four persons were injured and taken to the Columbia Hospital. They were Mrs. Ruth Heasley, 22, of 144 South St. Clair street; W. C. Cochran, of 567 South Negley avenue, driver of the car, and Mr. and Mrs. John Alder, of 144 South St. Clair street. The driver of the other machine failed to stop, it was said.

3 INJURED IN CRASH

Three youths were taken to Allegheny General Hospital after an automobile in which they were riding collided with another car at East Ohio and East streets early yesterday. Carl Hillig, 18, of Evergreen road, Millvale, the most seriously injured, suffered a probable fracture of the skull. Edward F. Asche, 21, also of Evergreen road, the driver, and Frank Abrams, 22, of Fox Chapel road, Aspinwall, sustained cuts and bruises.

Twenty stitches were required to close cuts in the left arm of Nathan Frommer, 41, of 1512 Brighton road, suffered when his automobile collided with a car driven by Frank Mertz, 29, of 1134 Voskamp street, at Cedar and East North avenue, police reported.

FOUR GIRLS HURT

Four girls were injured when two automobiles collided at the south end of the Liberty tubes last night. At South Side Hospital, where they were treated and sent to their homes, they gave their names as Mercedes Forney, 18, of 1123 Bellaire street; Anna Lepsick, 15, of 3802 Acorn street; Lillian Niece, 19, of 9 South Thirty-first street, and Mae Devlin, 18, of 954 Norwich street.

Robert Hackett, 27, of Aliquippa, and Victor A. Tokon, 21, of 2601 Chatsworth street, drivers, were arrested by Mt. Washington police on charges of reckless driving.

INFANT CRASH VICTIM

Elizabeth Johnson, 16 months old, and Margaret Ferguson, were thrown through windshields when automobiles driven by James Gerasole, of 339 Ladson street, Pittsburgh, and James E. Johnson, of Greensburg, R. D. No. 3, crashed in the Greensburg road, near the Kinloch mines, yesterday. Mrs. Johnson was injured also. All received treatment at the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington.

Ivan Gratison, 17, of 411 Maplewood avenue, Ambridge, was in the Sewickley Valley Hospital suffering from fractures of the right leg and a probable fracture of the skull. John Churchill, 17, of 85 Main street, Ambridge, slightly hurt, was admitted to the same hospital. Gratison and Churchill were riding a motorcycle which crashed with an automobile at Sixth and Merchant streets, Ambridge, yesterday. Dr. C. W. Melnick, of 208 East Ohio street, North Side, driver of the automobile, was uninjured, police said.

BREAK GROUND FOR CHURCH

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new Mt. Pisgah Presbyterian Church, Greentree, were held yesterday following services in the old building. The Rev. R. L. Biddle, pastor, officiated.

The first shovel of earth was turned by John Clatty, trustee of the church for 35 years. He was followed by Margaret King, great-great granddaughter of one of the first elders of the church.

Mrs. Adaline Kearns, oldest living member of the church, and the first person to be baptized in the church, turned the third shovel of earth. Emma L. Kohler, youngest member, removed the next shovel of dirt.

Mt. Pisgah was organized in 1830, when a church of logs was built. It was destroyed by fire in 1862, and a second structure, the one used now, was built shortly afterwards.

JULY 4 PLANS AT BROOKLINE

The Brookline Board of Trade will hold its regular meeting tonight in the Brookline School auditorium at which time arrangements will be considered for the annual Fourth of July celebration. Due to the great increase in the population of the district the celebration this year is expected to be the largest ever held in the community. The following officers and chairmen have been named:

General chairman, Arthur Hollis; general secretary C. Wickman; treasurer, O. Sherman Shock; refreshments, Edward S. Cook; parade, H. W. Keeler; sports, J. E. Schaffer; printing and publicity, C. A. Rawtinheimer; first aid, Dr. E. B. Henry; transportation, Paris N. Friday; stands and platform, H. L. Angloch; music, John F. Praeger; hats, L. M. Blockinger; moving pictures, R. E. Byrnes.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Harriet Ramsburg to Act As Bridesmaid at Wedding in East

May is an exciting month, boasting of events of its own and of anticipation of June events. And, of course, most of the events of June will be bridal in nature. There'll be many notable weddings here at home, and many of interest in the East which Pittsburgh folks will attend. And a number of our young folk will be attendants at out-of-town weddings as well as those here at home.

Harriet Ramsburg, daughter of the Charles J. Ramsburgs, of Sewickley, will be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Marie Glover Lynah, daughter of the James Lynahs, of Shippen Point, Conn., and George Sherrill, which will take place Saturday, June 7.

The ceremony will be performed in St. John's Episcopal Church there with Mrs. Joseph H. Garrison, of Savannah, Ga., sister of the bride-to-be, as matron of honor. And the bridesmaids, in addition to Harriet, will be Ruth Smith, Frances Allen and Gertrude Hatch, of Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. Phil Benson, of Cohassett, Mass.

Malcolm R. Hitt, Jr., of Stamford, will be best man, and Russell Sherrill, brother of the bridegroom-elect; Alfred R. Hitt, Jr., a cousin; W. H. Bartwell, of Admas, Mass.; J. B. Bartram, of Greenwich; George A. Cluett, Jr., of New York; Herbert T. Hand, Jr., of Bingham, Mass., and Valentine Ely, of Rye, N. Y., will be ushers.

Following the wedding there'll be a large reception in the Stamford Yacht Club.

More and more bridal becomes the atmosphere of the social world, and will remain so until torrid July drives folks to the coolness of summer resorts.

To Wed June 7

Among the weddings of early June will be that of Helen Hoch, of Chicora, Pa., who has named Saturday, June 7, as the date for her marriage to William M. Schroeder, son of the George Schroeders, of Oak Hill Manor, Wildwood.

The ceremony will take place in the Second United Presbyterian Church of Butler, with a reception in the Sterling Club to follow. The Rev. C. F. W. Brecht, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Chicora, Pa., and the Rev. William M. Woodfin, of the Third United Presbyterian Church, of Pittsburgh, will officiate.

Mrs. George Schroeder, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom-elect, will be matron of honor, and Mrs. John F. Hoch, of Linden, N. J., and Mrs. Leroy Hoch, of Butler, Pa., cousins of the bride-elect, and Dorothy Kerr, of Bellevue, and Martha Arnold, of Pittsburgh, will be bridesmaids.

Henry Schroeder will be best man, and the ushers will be George Schroeder, Jr., Leroy Hoch, Frank A. Hunter, Jr., Karl W. Kreimeier, George Wittmer, III, and Jack Strauss.

Every morning one may see members of the Sewickley society, from grandmothers to granddaughters and grandsons, out exercising their mounts in the Allegheny Country Club horse show ring on Sewickley Heights in preparation for the annual horse show on June 5, 6 and 7. Others drive up to the ringside for a few minutes to watch the practising of jumps.

Prepared For Show

Yesterday I saw the H. N. Van Voorhises watching the riders from their automobile parked at the ringside. And Mrs. Van Voorhis wore a smart printed ensemble of green crepe and a coarse egg-shell straw hat. Mrs. Henry Clay Bughman and Mrs. Harry Darlington, both in riding habits, were chatting about the coming equine event. Mrs. Darlington will ride in the show for the first time next month, by the way.

Mrs. John C. Neale was exercising her mount, as was Mrs. Albert Benney.

And I saw J. O. Burgwin talking with Frank Voss, the noted painter of horses, at the ringside. Mr. Voss is painting some of the finest horses in the Burgwin stables.

Josephine Nicola was there riding, and Virginia Goldsbury, in a sleeveless yellow crepe frock with a sun-tan back, was out with her dogs to watch the riders. Another spectator was Mrs. McCleane Brown in a white crepe sports dress. Margaret McCready and Rachel McCready were also among the spectators, and Mary Oliver was riding, as was Mrs. Lewis A. Park. Mrs. Donald Bakewell, in a blue knitted ensemble, was watching her little daughter, Cherry, riding.

Many Riders

Others I noted out riding were Henry Clay Bughman, his daughter, Betty, Peggy Milligan, Mrs. James A. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Cyrus Miller and John Richardson.

Sitting on the hood of her car, parked at the ringside, was Mrs. Alexander L. Robinson in a three-piece knitted ensemble of blue with a sleeveless blouse of white with blue diamonds. Mrs. Ledlie W. Young and Mary Rhodes, in a red print frock and a red straw hat, were spectators, too.

And there were a number of small children there, some riding and others watching their young friends. Anne Jones and Augusta Jones were there and Luella Jones with Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr. And I saw little Peggy Orr, Priscilla Painter and Billy Painter.

The W. D. Georges, of Sewickley, and their daughters, Rebekah and Elizabeth, sailed for Europe Saturday on the Cameronia. They'll disembark at Londonderry, and after a fortnight in Ireland, will tour the continent.

Varied News

And now I happen to know that several members of the younger set have gone to a house party at Lehigh University. Virginia Adeline Porter, of Pittsburgh, and Alice Beatty, of Sewickley, are among those to attend the affair.

Now horseshows are beginning all over the country, and not only in Pittsburgh. Many Pittsburghers are attracted wherever horses are on exhibition, and the J. Frederic Byerses, of the North Side and Sewickley Heights, have taken a box at Belmont Park for the coming spring meeting of the Westchester Racing Association, to be an event of May 11 to June 10, inclusive. The Byerses have but recently returned from Aiken where they spent the early spring riding.

The women members of the Pittsburgh Field Club, at a recent meeting in the club, elected members for various committees for the year. The general committee includes Mrs. J. B. Kelly, chairman; Miss Katherine Kuhn, Mrs. R. M. Rush and Mrs. W. Arch Irvin. On the golf committee are Mrs. Karl W. Warmcastle, chairman; Mrs. C. G. Vilsack, Mrs. H. F. Gleason and Miss Mary B. Kuhn; handicap committee, Mrs. J. Pierre Vogel, chairman; Mrs. W. A. Royston, Jr., and Mrs. W. Duncan Taylor. Mrs. Joseph T. Somers is chairman of the finance and recording committee, assisted by Mrs. Marshall Lasher and Mrs. R. G. Robbins; on the prize committee are Mrs. H. E. Lovett and Mrs. Joseph N. Succop. And on the women's hospitality committee are Mrs. J. Kennedy Irwin, chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. B. Aikin, Mrs. H. H. Meyer, Mrs. A. W. Sherrill and Mrs. J. G. Steitz.

Delphian Assembly Hears Interesting Program At Saturday Lunch

A luncheon of especially attractive appointments was given Saturday in the Congress of Clubs by the Pittsburgh Assembly of Delphians. Topical discussions, music and readings made up a program of interest for the afternoon, with Mrs. Joseph B. Drake presiding. The music—vocal solos—was by Mrs. Raymond R. Gehring, accompanied by Mrs. Herman L. Grote.

There were short talks on publicity by the club editors of the Pittsburgh newspapers and a talk concerning the work of the Delphians by Miss Emma G. Dunn, of the national organization.

Mrs. John Ramsey led the discussion on "Prohibition in Relation to Women" and a second discussion, "The Effects of Communism on the Position of Women in Russia," was led by Mrs. J. Walter Hunter, of Sharon. The readings were contributed by Mrs. Annie O. Wilson.

Fifteen tables were in play at the bridge-luncheon given Saturday in the Congress clubhouse by the Bridgeville Woman's Club Juniors. As special guests the girls had Mrs. E. R. Davis, of Carrick, county chairman of Juniors; and Mrs. J. L. Wible and Mrs. T. P. Richey, two of their own senior advisors. The luncheon, which was arranged by Miss Maude Warrensford and Miss Lois Gallagher, was immediately followed by reports from the group chairmen regarding the activities which they have carrted on to raise funds. The entire membership is divided into working groups, as is the senior organization. The money raised by the juniors will probably be turned into the general clubhouse fund, buf this is not to be decided until the June meeting.

RARE TEMPLE EXCAVATED

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania has announced a report from the archoeological expedition in Mesopotamia by the University Museum and the British Museum, stating that one of the best preserved temples ever found there has been uncovered in what appeard to be an insignificant mound.

The report, by C. Leonard Wooley, director of the expedition, states that the temple was built by Nebuchandnezzar about 600 B. C., and was added to and restored by Nabonidus 50 years later. Wooley said:

"The walls of the temple stand 20 feet high and the whitewash on them remains in good condition." In all Iraq there is no other temple so well preserved. Once inside, one obtains an astonishing effect of completeness. It is the only place in Iraq where one can stand in a Babylonian temple and forget for a moment that it is a ruin."

Three Persons Hurt In Auto Collision

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 12.—Three passengers were cut and otherwise injured Saturday in a head-on collision of automobiles near Dunbar. Mrs. Anna Cooper, of Uniontown; Beatrice Cable, 19, of Dawson, and Helen Saboe, 14, of Leisenring No. 3, were taken to the hospital for treatment.

PERSIA QUAKES KILL 3,000

TEHERAN, Persia, May 12.—(AP.)—The death roll in recent earthquakes in Persia today was stated to be nearing 3,000 persons. The earthshocks are continuing, but have lessened in their intensity at Tabriz. They still are very severe around Salmas.

The horror of the situation in that district today was heightened by terrific thunderstorms, whose rumble added panic to the already terrified inhabitants.

The American Mission for Relief Work has begun to receive funds, but waterlogged roads have made it impossible for motor lorries to approach Salmas. A rift in the earth two miles wide has opened between Urumyah and Salmas.

SKIRT LENGTHS DETERMINED ACCORDING TO THE HOUR

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph,

PARIS, MAY 12.—That there is length, amply demonstrated in union many women who themselves oppos- ed to the short, skimpy skirt for the most pictures- que of all clothes — the eve- ning frock, demanded the long, grace- ful skirt. These stand patters with the willing assistance of the leading couturiers have found that their views have found favor with nearly all women, and contrary to expectation, have been most heartily welcomed by the young girl, who was described as having been unwilling to give up the short, straight up-and-down skirt. The full, long-all-around skirt with flaring flounces, panels and circular godets have found immediate and enthusiastic acceptance, and it would seem that knees will continue to lead a sequestered life for some considerable time to come. For daytime wear, of course, the sensible, comfortable length prevails much to the joy of the woman who gets about a great deal, and likes to take part of her exercise in walking with long, vigorous strides without wearing skirts that end somewhere above the knees.

THE TRAINED evening frock has not won vast favor for it is not suitable for dancing, and it has already been the cause of some most embarrasing moments, for it tears and rips so easily if stepped upon. Both of the dresses shown have long skirts, but no trains. The first is of a dinner dress made by Worth and called by him "Cocktail." The bolero bodice curves down at front and back over the top of a wide, flat sash of gold lame ribbon which forms a flaring bow at the back. A double peplum effect covers the hips and the full skirt, circular in front, has unpressed folds at the back stitched at the top in the manner of pleats and reaching quite to the ground.

THE INTERESTING silhouette of the evening gown from Lucien Lelong is typical of the current models of this house. The princess bodice is eased at the waistline to give the softly supple effect, and is then tight again at the hips. The flaring flounces, placed over a narrow and shorter underskirt is stiffly circular in line and just clears the floor. The material is a crisp, heavy satin in a lustrous apple green shade. Three stiff little bows trim the intersections of the diagonal piecings at the front of the dress.

"Smooth Skin is any girl's Greatest Loveliness," says JAMES CRUZE, famous Hollywood Director

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

"FEW PEOPLE can resist the spell of smooth lovely skin," says James Cruze, prominent Hollywood director—and sums up the experience of 45 leading directors.

"The close-up is the final test of a star's popularity," he goes on to say, "since practically no make-up is possible.

"Only a perfect skin, exquisitely smooth and fine, can stand the blazing lights."

Never was this more true than since the talkies, with their hundreds of close-ups, "arrived." Unless a girl has the smoothest, the most exquisite skin, she can scarcely hope to go far.

LILYAN TASHMAN uses this method

It is because lovely smooth skin is so vital to the screen stars that 511 of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It was at their request that all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The stage stars, famous in Broadway successes, have also been using Lux Toilet Soap for a long time—and never were they so grateful to its gentle care of their skin as since so many of them have been playing in the talking and singing pictures. In the European capitals, too, the screen stars have adopted this soap—so velvet-smooth does it keep the skin!

ESTELLE TAYLOR always uses it

Short Sleeves Are Smart

Pattern 1899

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

One of the loveliest models presented this season is sketched today in printed and plain fabrics. The graceful cape collar and corresponding short sleeve flares are interesting details of the new mode. The frock is molded slightly to the figure, the graceful fullness of the skirt obtained through the cleverly placed flare.

Pattern 1899 is charming fashioned of georgette, chiffon, voile or flat crepe. The trimming may be of self material in plain color, or organdie or silk pique may be used effectively.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 3 yards of 39-inch fabric and ⅝ yard of 36-inch trimming.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to the Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.

P. WANER LOST TO PIRATES

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Early Buc Brace Likely. Still in Good Position. Runs and Hits Mount. | Giants Praise Powley. Famous Sprinter Dead. Homers Pass 200 Mark.

FANS CAN HELP IN BREAKING SLUMP

IT'S WHEN A ball club's down that it needs support and encouragement most urgently, and the thing for Pittsburgh fans to do right now is to get behind the slumping Pirates more solidly than at any previous time. True, the Bucs' showing of late has been keenly disappointing. When Dazzy Vance held them to four hits and two runs in Brooklyn yesterday the adverse result marked their fourth straight defeat, their seventh in the last eight games, and their ninth in the last 11 contests. Naturally, there can't be the same enthusiasm when a team that has won eight of its first nine games turns around and loses 10 of the next 13.

Dazzy Vance

But after all, it's only one of the bad spells that come to every club at intervals during the course of a pennant race. There isn't another flag contender in either of the major leagues that hasn't already had a slump of its own, similar to the present one of the Corsairs, and that the locals, on the whole, haven't done much worse than the rest is shown by the fact that in spite of their long losing streak they were today only two and a half games below first place.

AND AT THAT no other outfit has been so severely handicapped as the Rovers in being deprived of the services of two such stars as Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner. The substitutes did great work for a time, but the difference is that reserves can keep up only temporarily a pace that Traynor and the younger Waner are able to maintain practically every day throughout a season. The Giants wouldn't be so hot without Jackson or Lindstrom and Ott.

If it had been known at the start that the two ailing regulars would still be missing from their posts at this date, it is doubtful if the most optimistic rooter would have expected the Pirates to do as well as break even in their first 22 games, 12 of which have been played against the three other acknowledged pennant contenders—the Cubs, Giants and Cardinals—and three with the possible dark-horse entry of Brooklyn.

BUT THEY HAVE succeeded in doing that, they're still very much in the fight, only a couple of steps behind the leaders, and the season isn't yet a month old. The off spell hasn't put them out of the running nor proved that they're not a good ball club.

The Bucs will get going again, and the more encouragement they receive the sooner they'll do it. It isn't a time to quit or criticize. It's a time to boost and to root harder than ever. The season has almost five months to go. The players are not losing heart nor letting down, and neither will any loyal fan. Get out and root.

Lloyd Waner

IN VIEW OF the new high marks for the season that were reached yesterday, when the Cleveland batters bombarded the Athletics' pitchers for 25 hits and the same number of runs, the fan may be pardoned for wondering what the limit is going to be if the major league powers do not take some action on the increased liveliness of the ball. The fact that three two-hit games and one of four hits were pitched during the last two days does not weaken the case against the rabbit pill, meaning only that the hurlers were enjoying a flash of exceptional form or that the hitters were in a slump.

WITHIN A COUPLE of weeks, one club has scored 25 runs in a game, two others have rolled up 19 and two others have made 16. On two occasions a team that scored 15 runs has been defeated. Four times 20 or more hits have been made by one club in one game. In a single contest the two clubs made 41 hits. Only 10 shutouts have been pitched in a total of 177 games up to today.

At that, Cleveland set nothing but a new record for the present season in yesterday's slaughter. The all-time major league marks are 38 runs and 36 hits, and the modern records (or since 1900) are 28 runs, scored by the Cardinals against the Phillies on July 6, last year, after losing 11 straight games, and 31 hits, made by the Giants against the Reds on June 9, 1901.

THOUGH THE CHIEFS of the New York Giants have every confidence that Harry Powley, the Verona slab ace, whom they recently farmed to Bridgeport in the Eastern League, will eventually make good in the big show, it is not as a pitcher that they are counting upon him for the future.

They believe he will have a better chance to succeed as an infielder or outfielder, and are keeping a stout string attached to him with a view to recalling him after a period of seasoning.

Harry Powley

"THERE IS NO doubt in my mind that Powley is a coming ball player," said Dave Bancroft, former star shortstop and now coach of the Giants, while New York was playing here last week. "I feel sure that he will make the grade in time, but not as a pitcher. He is by no means a poor hurling prospect, at that, but I think he has a brighter future as an infielder or outfielder. He is a strong, fast boy, who can run, throw and hit, and I can see no reason in the world why, with more experience, he should not develop into a big league player."

ONE OF THE most famous of Pittsburgh's old-time sports figures, and an athlete who attained international prominence in his heyday, passed yesterday in the death of George Smith, 74, at his home, 510 Chalfont street. Half a century ago he was ranked as one of the greatest sprinters in the world.

Smith's most notable achievement in a brilliant career that extended from the '80's into the '90's was the winning of the Sheffield Handicap in England. He was the first American runner ever to win that famous annual event, which was the world classic in footracing. In this section he was considered in a class of his own, defeating all

ALL-STAR CARD TO CLOSE GARDEN

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

An all-star card of talent makes up the closing boxing show of the season in Motor Square Garden tonight, comprising one of the most attractive billings ever arranged here.

Three 10-round bouts and a six-rounder are scheduled, with Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, clean-hitting middleweight star, meeting Young Saylor, of Charlerol, left-hand wizard, in an elimination test in the windup.

In the two other 10-rounders, Benny Schwartz, bantamweight star, of Baltimore, meets Frisco Grande, hard-hitting Filipino, of Buffalo, and Young Rudy, of Charlerol, trades blows with Tom Malco, welterweight slugger, of Soho. Freddie Smith, amateur bantamweight, of Carnegie, makes his professional debut against Mose Butch, of Oakland, recent National junior amateur bantamweight champion, in the six-round first bout.

OUTDOOR OPENER THURSDAY

The program promises a lot of interesting milling and ushers in a busy week of mitt-slinging in the Western Pennsylvania sector. Shows are scheduled at Washington, New Castle and Johnstown as well as Motor Square tomorrow night, and the Meyers Bowl, in North Braddock, opens its outdoor campaign Thursday night with Battling Battalino, the world featherweight champion, meeting Vic Burrone, of New York, in a non-title match in the 10-round windup.

Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, and Steve O'Malley, of Bellaire, O., are in the windup at the Washington Coliseum, with Paul Ogre and Freddie Edwards boxing the semi-final. Young Chiodo, of Johnstown, and Eddie LeRoy, of Williamsport, meet in a return bout in the Johnstown windup. Mickey Solomen, of New Castle, and K. O. Huske, of Akron, box the main bout in the New Castle Jolly Bowl.

PANKA TO BOX HANSEN

Matchmaker Charley Luck, of the new boxing club which will stage open-air shows in Hickey Park, Millvale, this summer, is trying to close a match between George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, and Knute Hansen, of New York, for his opening main bout on the night of May 22. A slight difference in the financial arrangements is holding up the deal. Hansen holds a one-round knockout victory over Phil Scott and has met most of the other good big fellows, including Monte Munn, Riccardo Bertazollo, Franz Diener, Paulino Uscudun, K. O. Christner and Roy (Ace) Clark, and has an international reputation. Bunny Buntach, manager of Panka, thinks his big fellow is ready now to meet any of the outstanding heavies and Hansen is the best man he has been called upon to face so far.

GIZZY VS. BABE RUTH

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, was signed today to box Babe Ruth, of Louisville, in a 10-round windup in Wheeling, May 19. Allen Batty, McKeesport Negro, now a stablemate of Gizzy, will meet Jackie Herman, of Wheeling, in the semi-final.

DOGS RETURN TO SPEEDWAY

Dog-racing is coming back to Pittsburgh. Announcement was made today that a spring meeting of approximately 20 days will be held at the Bridgeville Speedway, beginning Saturday night, May 24.

The popular sport was successfully introduced at Bridgeville last summer.

Boxing Bouts Carded for Tonight

Buck McTiernan vs. Young Saylor, Benny Schwartz vs. Frisco Grande, Young Rudy vs. Tom Malco, 10 rounds each, and Mose Butch vs. Freddie Smith, 6 rounds, Motor Square Garden.

Duke Netmen Beaten By Allegheny, 4-3

The Duke Varsity net squad suffered 4-3 setback at the hands of Allegheny College in Meadville on Saturday. Capt. Andy Smeaton of the Red and Blue easily accounted for Booth, Methodist top man, and thereby extended his victory string to three in three starts. The Bluffites dropped the four remaining singles tilts, all but one of which were decided only after an extra set. The Dukes annexed verdicts in both doubles debates. The summaries:

Singles—A. Smeaton, Duquesne, defeated Booth, Allegheny, 6-1, 6-2; Heinrich, Allegheny, defeated W. Smeaton, Duquesne, 6-4, 6-4; Johnson, Allegheny, defeated Campbell, Duquesne, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3; Gordon, Allegheny, defeated Bullion, Duquesne, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; Bugbee, Allegheny, defeated Casey, Duquesne, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Doubles—Smeaton and Smeaton, Duquesne, defeated Johnson and Heinrich, Allegheny, 6-3, 6-2; Campbell and Casey, Duquesne, threw from Gordon and Bugbee, Allegheny, by default.

Wilson to Assist Sasse at Army

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 12.—(AP.)—Second Lieut. Harry E. Wilson will report next fall to assist Maj. Ralph I. Sasse, head coach of the Army football team.

Wilson, who was a star halfback at Penn State before he entered West Point and continued his brilliant football career, was graduated in 1923. He was assigned to the Army flying school in Texas, and won his wings as a pilot. He has been a member of the crack pursuit group stationed at Selfridge Field.

Wilson, who won his letter four times in football at West Point, captained the 1927 team.

MRS. LEE MIDA DEFEATED

FORMBY, England, May 12—(AP.)—Mrs. Lee Mida, of Chicago, one of the strongest of the American contestants in the British women's golf championship, was eliminated in the second round of the tournament here this afternoon when she lost a gruelling 19-hole match to Miss Millar, England, 1 up.

Miss Mida lost to Miss Millar after the stoutest comeback of the day. The Chicago player went 4 down at the twelfth and was 2 down with only 2 holes left. She negotiated a dead stymie to win the seventeenth and after sending her second into a trap at the home hole, she played the ball out and dropped a 12-foot putt for a par four to win and carry the match an extra hole.

Glenna Collett and the other American players gathered at the eighteenth, excitedly congratulating her on her remarkable recovery.

LONGER DRIVE

Her drive at the nineteenth was longer and in better position than that of Miss Millar. Her opponent's brassie was dangerously close to the out-of-bound markers while Mrs. Mida's ball halted on the edge of the bunker.

Miss Millar chipped to the green and Mrs. Mida had an easy shot compared to the ones she had been making for half a dozen holes. However, she topped her ball as she tried a delicate chip over the bunker and, barely missing the trip, sped across the green to heather beyond. She chipped back 10 feet from the cup, but missed the putt and took six, while Miss Millar was down in five to win the match.

GLENNA ADVANCES

Glenna Collett, American women's golf champion, won her way into the third round by defeating Kitty Beard, 8 up and 6 to play. Miss Collett drew a bye in the first round so her first match was in the second round. Her opponent had no chance against the

Keeler Scores Hole in One at Chartiers

A thrill that comes once in a lifetime, was enjoyed by John Keeler yesterday afternoon, while playing the Chartiers Heights Country Club course, when he scored an ace on No. 4 hole, a distance of 175 yards.

Keeler was playing with Cliff Gray and Ad Walker when his ball disappeared from site to nestle in the cup, giving Keeler a good reason to slice and miss putts the rest of the day.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER

Well, folks, I was just as well pleased that I did not have to go to Brooklyn to watch that affair yesterday. I was out ridin' around with Socko and hopin' all the time that the gang would send Vance to the showers early, and when we got back and heard the score we was too sick to eat.

It's tough to have the pitching staff crack wide open just when Pie and Lloyd are on the shelf. The first time one of our pitchers works a nine-inning ball game, Jule will feel like throwing a banquet for him. I think I saw Chic Fraser and Bill Hinchman buying some 1000-mile shirts on Saturday. I wouldn't be surprised if the two scouts are getting set to go into the sticks to try to find some guys who can throw that ball where the home-run hitters ain't swingin'.

PLAYERS HUSTLING

Here's one fellow that won't ride anybody on the club, because I know every fellow in there is hustlin', but right now they can't do the right thing. I was singin' the blues Saturday night around some of the older players and they began to kid me a little for quitin', but I ain't quittin', Somebody was telling about the Braves of 1914 that was in last place up till the Fourth of July and then went out and won the pennant a the World Series. Well, all as I can say is we don't want to be in the cellar on the Fourth, and I don't think we'll be near it if Pie and Lloyd get back.

The fans are stickin' to the club good, don't forget that. Of course they'll be a lot of razzin', but that's part of the game. I think every players on the club is takin' good care of himself and Jule is not ridin' anybody too hard.

It's a funny game, anyhow, when a team like them A's gets knocked off like the Indians trimmed them yesterday.

SORRY FOR PIE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

More misfortune visited the camp of the Pirates today. Manager Ens announced shortly after the arrival of the club from New York that Paul Waner is lost to the club with an injured hip. Paul hurt himself sliding a few days ago. He stayed in the game and apparently aggravated the condition to such an extent that he was ordered out of action.

Big Jim Mosolf will be in right field this afternoon in the absence of the star rightfielder.

Manager Ens said he probably would work out a new batting order before the final game with the Dodgers starts this afternoon.

The demoralized Pirates are back in Pittsburgh today after a short and very unhappy journey to Brooklyn. With them came the Robins who, yesterday in the Flatbush, humbled the staggering Bucs in a one-sided game. The score was 10 to 2.

The distressing series will come to a close this afternoon at Forbes Field. In the three games played in Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, the Buccos have tasted three setbacks, the reversal of yesterday running their losing string to four. Moreover, the Buccos have tumbled into fourth place, and they don't have an unqualified right to this spot. The Reds and Cardinals are deadlocked with them for the position.

ENS IN DESPAIR

Skipper Ens is anxiously longing for the pitcher who can "go" nine innings without allowing basehits to rain like an April shower. He is likely to use Ervin Brame or Steve Swetonic against the invaders this afternoon. Uncle Robbie has Ray Moss and Clise Dudley in shape to fling.

The skidding Pirates are trying hard to put on the chains with two of their brightest stars out indefinitely, Capt. Pie Traynor went to Baltimore last night, where today he expects to place himself in charge of an eye specialist. Lloyd Waner has been taking treatment in Baltimore for some time. Lloyd has had his tonsils and adenoids removed, the attending physician being of the opinion that he will soon be able to return to the diamond.

Manager Ens sees a ray of hope in the favorable report on his star outfielder, but the condition of Traynor is no comfort to the pilot. The season will be one month old tomorrow and neither of the stars has been able to help to any extent on account of rather serious sickness. Traynor played in three games against the Giants, but the reaction took him out of play. Lloyd has yet to start a game.

TWO MANY THROWERS

Ens doesn't know what to think about his pitchers. Aside from one or two the staff at present consists of "throwers," to use the language of the diamond; that is, the twirlers are doing little else than throwing the ball. The unusual basehits totals compiled every day for the past week or more indicates that the pitchers either have little to show or they are all pitching to the enemies' strength instead of their weaknesses.

And to further mess up the works for Ens, his offensive has cracked in the last two games.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, May 12.—I had a chat with that blushing beauty of the White Sox today, Arthur Shires. He is still talking .800 and batting for less than half of that. I said, "What's the matter with the White Sox?" Shires said, "They are weak in eight positions." I said, "All except first base?" Shires said, "You guessed it. If Nick Altrock Donie Bush had nine Shires playing for him he would be leading the league." I said, "If Donie Bush had nine Shires playing for him he would be leading a dog's life." Donie has already got a cauliflower ear from listening to Shires talk.

BIG SCHEDULE MARKS EARLY COMPETITION

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

When the Hotel, Club and Restaurant Men's Association golfers parade through the gates of the Stanton Heights Golf Club this afternoon, at the same time they will be throwing open the gates to another competitive golf season in Western Pennsylvania, one of the biggest this district has ever faced. The first week of tournament golf, while it does not see an event each day, shows no less than five competitions of more or less interest, including the official beginning of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania team league matches. Due to an early spring, the early-season schedule of competitive events is much bigger than it has been in past years.

Two big contests are slated for Friday, one at the beautiful Pittsburgh Field Club layout, where Section I, of the women's team league plays, beginning at 10 o'clock, and the other at Altoona, where the Frankstown Country Club's team encounters the linksmen of Kiski in a team match.

More than 100 members of the O. D. G. A. of Carnegie Steel will cavort on Edgewood's links Friday, and on the same day, Johnny Farrell, former national open champ, will give an exhibition at Joseph Horne's.

The first complete publication of an official golf schedule, including the major tournaments throughout the country, as well as the local events, is released herewith. It will be noted that the schedule provides for one of the toughest programs ever asked of golfers, which is at least a slight indication of the progress the game is making in the hearts of American folks who love their bit of athletics. The schedule follows:

West Penn Golf Pro-files

NO. 38.
CAPT. V. A. SMITH
New Castle Field Club.

A man of military bearing, who has seen service in the British Army in Africa, Argyll, France, and many other "out - of - the-world" places as a soldier, who knows the golf game well enough to have gained an enviable reputation as a teacher, and who can still hold his own as a competitor, is Capt. Vernon Arthur Smith—just plain Art to his friends—pro at the New Castle Field Club. But after all, possibly, Smith's best recommendation to golf, is the fact that he is another of Western Pennsylvania's Carnoustie products. His first job on this side of the Big Pond was at Allegheny Country Club in 1920, from where he went directly to New Castle in 1921, assisting there in laying out the new course, which was opened in 1922. Capt. Smith is well liked by his members and fellow professionals, and, indeed, is an admirable Highlander.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

PAIRINGS SET FOR GROGAN CUP PLAY

Samuel M. Parks, Sr., chairman of the golf committee of the Highland Country Club, has announced the pairings and starting times for the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole Grogan Cup matches to be played Wednesday afternoon at the West View course, with members of the Shannopin Country Club vieing for the trophy, which is emblematic of golf supremacy between the two clubs.

Play will get under way at 12:30 o'clock, the teams playing in foursomes, two matches to a side. Scoring will be three points for each match, the final tabulation carrying over until after the second 18-hole round is played next month at Shannopin.

T. Thomas, of Shannopin, plays Dr. E. V. Weller, of Highland, and C. H. Buchman, of Shannopin, meets Dr. C. E. Whitehead, of Highland, in the opening match at 12:30. The foursomes will continue to leave the tee at five-minute intervals until 4:15, when the last quartet will tee off.

One hundred seventy-nine members of both clubs have been entered and given starting times for the event, one of the biggest of the season's club competitions. The pairings and starting times follow:

12:30—T. Thomas, Shannopin, vs. Dr. E. Weller, Highland; C. H. Buckman, Shannopin, vs. Dr. C. E. Whitehead, Highland.
12:35—William Mercer, Jr., Shannopin, vs. G. W. Snodgrass, Highland; C. V. Waugh, Shannopin, vs. W. D. Clasper, Highland.

Jimmy Pleased With Victory Of Thompson

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 12.—(INS.)—Jimmy McLarnin, contender for the welterweight crown acquired last Friday night by young Jack Thompson from Jackie Fields at Detroit, was pleased with the result of the fight.

"Thompson suits me better than Fields," he said. "Fields has been beaten twice recently and Thompson is a much better drawing card."

The baby-faced scrapper declared he was ready to meet Thompson any time, now that his right hand, broken in two places in his recent fight with the Oakland Negro, has mended.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

leave. I guess he got back in the lineup too soon. What a great fellow he is on a club; he was workin' out yesterday just to keep in good condition. I hope he gets better soon, because it means a lot to the team. The Giants wouldn't be so hot, maybe, if Jackson and Ott was in the hospital, and them Cubs won't go so good if Hornsby and Stevie stay out long.

I didn't get the straw hat yet, but I'll wear the old kelly for awhile. I don't feel like dollin' up with the club losin'.

NET TOURNEY COMMITTEE TO MEET TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

With several important propositions to engage attention, the Western Pennsylvania net championships' executive committee will go into session at noon today. Chairman Ed Seitz has declared himself strongly in favor of the addition of consolation events in men's and women's singles to the regular program of tournament contesting and is prepared to submit his views upon the subject to his cohorts at the luncheon conclave.

The argument of Seitz is impressive. "Many players, particularly the youngsters, have been staying out of our competition because of the fact that they are usually drawn against superior men in the first round," stated the West Penn chairman in a confab last week. "Even if they do come in, and they are beaten on opening day, they are lost to the tournament thereafter and interest in the event suffers correspondingly. We are working hard to make this forty-second annual Western Pennsylvania meeting the best in history and I feel that consolation contests offer fine solution to the problem of sustaining enthusiasm to the final round."

The lone difficulty in the path of consolation play is the scarcity of courts. Stanton Heights, where the West Penn fray will be run off, boasts but four rectangles and will be taxed to capacity to accommodate the early rounds of regular jousting.

Another matter on the committee card today is that of selection of a tournament referee. This responsible office was discharged most efficiently last year by David I. McCahill, donor of the McCahill Cup, emblematic of the men's singles crown of Western Pennsylvania. It is entirely probable that McCahill will be urged to accept the post again.

Today's college bill includes the opener of the yearly Pitt-Carnegie feud and the resumption of Duke-Bethany hostilities at Bethany. The Panther-Tartan affair, which the Blue and Gold is overwhelmingly favored to cop, is on the book for the Stadium.

Trotter Drops Dead While In Race

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 12.—(INS.)—Alicia Watts, 6-year-old harness racing mare, was dead here today, having toppled over yesterday in the first mile heat of the Washington Park driving class 1 trot when only 40 feet from the finish line. The mare, owned by Edward Radtke, was leading at the time. Radtke was injured in the spill.

KILKERRY OUT OF DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—(AP.)—Kilkerry, which had been the chief reliance of the Three D's stable to win the Kentucky Derby, is believed to be out of the race as a result of an injury yesterday. Dick Vestal, trainer, said today the colt ruptured a tendon in a workout, and while he would not say definitely, pending another examination, he indicated that it was very unlikely that Kilkerry would start Saturday.

MAXIE MAULS PARTNERS IN WORKOUT

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 12.—(INS.)—Three of Max Schmeling's sparring partners knew today what a stiff puncher that German heavyweight can be. Opening training for his title match with Jack Sharkey in New York, June 12, the Teuton "Dempsey" treated his sparring mates to a hot bombardment yesterday and he plans to keep up the furious pace for almost a full month.

Max boxed four rounds in all, engaging Andy Wallace, a former target of Sharkey, for two cantos and going one each with Vincent Babin, of New York, and Sylvan Anderlite, of the Army.

A short right uppercut caught the soldier and he almost dropped for the count.

A crowd of 15,000 paid $1 each to watch Der Maxie in his initial workout.

SHARKEY OPENS CAMP

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 12.—(INS.)—Jack Sharkey set up his training camp here today and began light workouts for his world heavy title bout in New York, June 12, against Max Schmeling, of Germany. He plans to start boxing Thursday.

Mrs. Sharkey accompanied her husband from their Boston home and will remain at the camp during the entire training period.

Italian Cup Team Wins Over Egypt

ROME, May 12.—(AP.)—Italy made a clean sweep of its second round Davis cup tennis tie with Egypt, completed yesterday.

Already leading 3-0, and with the series clinched, the Italians won both of the concluding singles matches.

Girls' Meet Team Results Changed

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 12.—Announcement was made here this morning of a change in the team standing of the girls' teams in the Beaver County interscholastic meet Saturday, due to the disqualification of the relay team of Aliquippa High School. Rochester, instead of Aliquippa, wins the meet with the following point score:

Rochester, 11 points; Ellwood City, 9 points; Aliquippa, 8 points, and New Brighton, 4 points.

of the best sprinters in these parts, as well as many of the leading stars of other parts of the country.

NONE OF THE other new pitchers in the big show has started out as flashily as Benny Frey, the Cincinnati recruit, who came from Nashville in the Southern Association. He registered his fourth straight victory by toppling the Phils yesterday.

Two of his four wins were 1-to-0 triumphs, in another the score was 2 to 1, and yesterday the count was 5 to 4. In the four games, Frey allowed only five runs and 20 hits, holding the opposing clubs combined to a grand batting average of .160.

Babe Ruth

HOME RUNS IN the major leagues have passed the 200 mark in less than four weeks of championship play. Up to today 206 four-baggers had been poled in the main tent, 115 in the National loop and 91 in the American. The Giants are leading both circuits in number of homers made, having a total of 25 to their credit. The Cubs rank second with 21, followed by the Athletics with 19 and the Dodgers with 18. Babe Ruth is having plenty of opposition for the honors in circuit clouting this spring. The Bambino made his fifth homer yesterday, but is still trailing in the race. Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson head the major parade with seven each. Babe Herman, Travis Jackson, Bill Terry and Jimmy Foxx have each made six, while Chick Hafey, Walter Berger, Del Bissonette and Al Simmons are tied with Ruth, each being credited five.

PRICES SMASHED

CHRYSLER "77"

SAVE $200 to $350

Effective at once, prices of current Chrysler "77" models are reduced $200 to $350—the greatest price slash in all Chrysler history.

This price reduction is occasioned by the fact that Chrysler will introduce—sometime in midsummer—a new model to take the place of the present Chrysler "77". Other current Chrysler models—"70", "66" and new Chrysler Six—are being continued unchanged.

Here is the greatest bargain ever offered in brand-new motor cars. At $200 to $350 off, the supply will not last long. Act now. Your present car will be accepted in trade. Chrysler's liberal financing facilities are available.

By TOM BIRKS.

Going into the second week of the sandlot diamond league campaigns finds the races going merrily along. Another big list of games are scheduled for this evening, and some interesting battles should be waged.

The West Penn League has two games worth while, both of them in the Homestead section. Whittaker will play its third game and another big test awaits Vogt's club. Dormont will make its first appearance in the circuit by meeting Whittaker and due to the fact that Whittaker has had a few games under its belt, Vogt and his club may break into the win column.

The other battle will find Homestead Aces opening their home season by meeting Wilmerding at West Field. Wilmerding won and tied its games last week. The Aces will be a tough obstacle for the Airbrake aggregation to overcome.

COSLETTS PLAY FINTEX

In the Central League the Coslett's clash with Fintex while Soho Board of Trade hooks up with the Y. M. H. A. This should be a real battle seeing that Johnny Hornyak's club won both of its games last week.

The City League's big battle is carded for Olympia Park where Book Shoe and Stowe Civics meet. Lots of interest should mark this game, seeing that quite an exchange of players between these clubs was made prior to the season's opener. Murphy, formerly of Book Shoe, will be with Stowe, while Ed Book has Latusick and Steve Roscoe from Stowe's last year club.

The Steel City loop finds Demor, still undefeated, meeting St. Joachims at Moultrie Park, while Fox A. C. clashes with Dom Mazzei.

PRESBYS TACKLE INGRAM

One game will be played in the Crafton-Ingram Church League as the Presbyterians clash with Ingram.

In the North Side Twilight League, the North Side Lafayettes meet Troy Hill on the latter's ground. The Greater Pittsburgh loop has two games. Dan Heeps meet Edgewood and the Universal aggregation clashes with Verona.

The big independent game of the day will find the Homestead Grays clashing with St. Johns at Sullivan Field. Pat O'Shea is going to have a real lineup on the field opposing Posey's hard-hitting aggregation and while City Leaguers hardly expect to win, they may at least hold the Posey boys to a close score.

St. John's scored a 7-to-1 victory over Etna yesterday in an independent battle. In a Greater Pittsburgh League contest, Reliance Life walloped Whittaker, 9 to 0, Spencer limiting Whittaker to a pair of hits.

FROGS WALLOPED

National Union downed St. Clair Frogs, 18 to 6. Immaculate Heart shuggred out a 21-7 victory over the Duquesne Traders and St. Joachim pounded out a 23-11 victory over the Hays Cardinals. The Kokino Cards defeated the Lineys 12 to 1 and the Option Whites won over the Williams A. C., 9 to 8.

Phil Grabowski's D. J. Broderick nine scored a decisive 9 to 5 victory over the Adam Club at Marshall Field.

GEORGE SMITH DIES

George Smith, former semi-pro pitcher, noted for his feats in the early eighties and nine, died at his home, 116 Chariton street, yesterday. He is survived by a son, George Smith, Jr., a local amateur baseball umpire.

Sport Vignettes

There ain't no such animal as a rabbit ball in baseball, take it from your old pal, Babe Ruth . . . . But try to tell the pitchers that . . . . It all depends on the point of view, of course . . . . When you make your hits, you make 'em on your merits; when they make 'em off you, it's the lively apple . . . . Young Jack Thompson looked like a fellow who was all through when he boxed Billy White, a push-over, at Motor Square Garden some months ago . . . . Now he's the welterweight champion of the world with two great fights against Jimmy McLarnin and Jackie Fields under his belt in his last two starts . . . . Perhaps he's one of those ringmen who reach great heights against real opposition and sink to the mediocrity of their foes in non-important contests . . . . Anyway, he has dented many a pocketbook and kicked the dope bucket end over end in those two stands against McLarnin and Fields . . . . And he will make money faster than even his manager, Ray Alvis, can spend it for the next year . . . . Ray is the young man who pilots the largest stable of fighters in captivity, including Tony Herrera, a favorite around here . . . . The only way Alvis could make the stable larger would be to add the bulk of Prime Carnera, and the Primo probably would eat up all of the profits . . . . For more than six months, the multi-millionaire president, $35,000-a-year general manager and $20,000-a-year matchmaker of the Madison Square Garden Corporation have been trying to make a Jackie Fields-Jimmy McLarnin bout without success . . . . Now their problem is solved . . . . Fields no longer is champion and McLarnin lost much of his prestige in his tough battle with Thompson . . . . Fields wanted $100,000 to defend his title against McLarnin and took $37,500 and a beating in his clash with Thompson . . . . Just another case of a fighter and his manager outsmarting themselves . . . . It's being done every day . . . . The New York commission, by the way, recently put thumbs down on a Fields-Thompson match on the ground that Thompson would not be a fit opponent for Fields . . . . Thompson now is wanted to box Young Corbett, Fresno (Cal.) southpaw and former Pittsburgher, in San Francisco and also in Chicago . . . . Corbett holds two decisions over Thompson and also has fought a draw with the Negro star, while he defeated Fields in a non-title bout in California last February . . . . Do you believe in numbers? Well, here's one to think about . . . . Dave Zacharias, who won the mile bicycle race in the A. A. U. meet at the Stadium Saturday, wore No. 302 on his back and covered the distance in 2:02 . . . . Perhaps it was only a coincidence, but Jess Carver, covering the meet, noticed it.—HARRY KECK.

The Homestead Grays, crack Negro baseball team, is off to another great season, having been undefeated thus far, following an extensive Southern training trip. The Grays defeated the Youngstown club, 10 to 1, in the home inaugural at Forbes Field Saturday evening and won over the Goodyears at Akron yesterday, 9-2. M. Harris is missing from the above group.

GENERALS, JAYS, SCOTTIES COP

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 12.—(AP.)—Brewer's triple in the tenth with the score tied 4-4 followed by Proctor's bunt which went for a hit gave Clarksburg a 5-4 victory over Fairmont here yesterday.

April tied the score in the eighth with a home run. Walters and Shatzer pulled out of many tight holes safely during the early innings but were yanked for pinch hitters in the eighth. Proctor finished for the Generals under wraps. Morrison's relief pitching was erratic.

STOGIES BEAT GOVERNORS

WHEELING, W. Va., May 12.—(AP.)—Wheeling's Stogies turned back the Charleroi Governors in the opening home game of the season yesterday, 8-6. Wheeling took an early lead of four runs and scored two more in the last of the seventh to nip a five-run challenge of the visitors, then made it safe with a pair in the eighth. Fourteen hundred fans watched the opener. Five pitchers saw service.

SCOTTIES WIN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—Scoring seven runs in the first inning, Scottdale managed to pull through to a 12 to 10 victory over Johnstown in a game on the local field yesterday afternoon. Johnstown duplicated Scottdale's first inning feat by crossing the plate on the same number of occasions in the fifth inning.

WHITE HURLS SHUTOUT

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 12.—(AP.)—McAllister's home run smash over the left field fence with two on base in the third inning featured Jeannette's 4 to 0 victory over Cumberland here yesterday. Larry White limited the Colts to three hits and fanned five. The Jays' infield executed three snappy double plays. Sixteen hundred people witnessed the opener here.

The Shannopin Indians will invade the heather of the Highland Kilties on Wednesday for the first half of their annual 36-hole match for the Grogan Cup. Play starts at 12:30.

Helen Hicks won her first round match by defeating Doris Chambers, former champion, 3 and 1.

Miss Hicks had to stage a spectacular rally on the last nine to win over Mrs. Chambers, who won the championship in 1923. The English veteran held a two-hole lead at the end of the first nine holes. The cards:

MAUREEN ORCUTT WINS

Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., turned in the second American victory of the day, defeating Mrs. R. Wynne, of Rotterham, 5 and 3.

The first American reverse came with the defeat of Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., by Mrs. A. N. Holm, of Erie and Earlsferry, 3 and 2.

Miss Orcutt never was in such a shaky position as Miss Hicks. Her 50-year-old opponent, who is the mother of a large family and has been playing golf only a few years, showed some fine putting, but Miss Orcutt generally outclassed her. The cards:

Dazzy Vance allowed only four hits yesterday and on the previous afternoon, Jim Elliott shut the door in the boys' faces on two safeties. So it will be seen that the Pirates, as a whole, at the present writing are less impressive than the Braves or Phillies.

Brighter days probably will come before many weeks are past. If Pie and Lloyd are able to get back on the job before the first of June there will be ample time to pick up the lost ground.

The Robins found Larry French for 17 hits yesterday, their smashing drive of the eighth driving the Coast League southpaw from the mound in favor of Lil Stoner.

SCHOOL STAR'S MARK BEST

By JESS CARVER.

A high school kid from Grove City and a former Duquesne sprint star, making his second appearance of the year on the cinders, turned in the two best performances in 100-yard dashing that were given in this sector on Saturday.

Henry Snellenbach

The high school kid, young Bill Bohlender, hammered over the finish in 9.9 in the Mercer County Interscholastics at Groye City, setting a new meet and section scholastic mark. If not the fastest school boy sprinter in the state, Bohlender is one of the fastest, and gives promise of developing into a great runner.

Hank Snellenbach, who holds both the 100 and 220 yard A. M. E. championships, turned in a pair of 10 second times in the 100-yard dash at the A. A. U. meet in the Stadium. Running his second race of the year, Snellenbach appeared to be as fast as he was when he raced to such glory last spring for the Dukes.

Bohlender won the 100-yard dash at the Carnegie Tech Interscholastics two weeks ago and will make another appearance in Pittsburgh one week from next Saturday when he runs in the Pitt school carnival.

The Tipoff

In the four collegiate track and field meets of Saturday, the Pitt-State, Duke-Georgia and Westminster-Allegheny duals and the state championship meet at West Virginia, athletes from Penn State turned in five best records. Pitt and West Virginia accounted for three each. Westminster had one and tied with the others in a second.

Bowen, of Pitt; Thomas, of Geneva; Ferraresi, Westminster, and Waggoner, of W. Va., all were clocked at :10 1-5 in the hundred. According to that, Bohlender and Snellenbach would have licked 'em all.

Thomas, of Geneva, and Bowen, of Pitt, divided honors in the furlong, both covering the 220 yards in 22 2-5 seconds.

Pete's :30 1-5 was the best quarter mile of the day. Bachman, of State, ran a 2:01 3-5 half-mile for the edge in this event.

Baker and King, State distance men, ran a dead heat in the mile in 4:30 flat. Then Meisenzahl and Detwiler, also of State, crossed the line in step in the two-mile, their time being the best of the day. It was 9:52 2-5.

Ed Kaschtck, with his :55 second low hurdle race and Harry Brownlee's :15 1-5 performance in the highs, topped the field of timber toppers.

Thad Hill, W. Va. s field star, scored a double triumph. He won the honors in the shot with a mark of 42 feet, 6¼ inches and in the discus with a heave of 132 feet, 8¾ inches.

Lenny Friedman entered the 200 mark in the javelin toss at the Geneva fling, anyone next by an inch, and was a flock of feet better than anyone else did all day, anywhere.

Rubin, an aspiring Mountaineer, cleared 12 feet for the boys in the pole vault, setting a new university record of 12 feet, 3 inches.

Palmer, of State, leaped 6 feet in the high and Everett Utterback, Pitt, hit 20 feet, 11 inches in the broad jump for best marks in those events.

WILLING LOSES IN PLAYOFF

SANDWICH, Eng., May 12.—(AP.)—Once more the St. George's vase, noted golfing trophy, has eluded the grasp of Dr. O. F. Willing, of Portland, Ore.

Dr. Willing was soundly beaten by Rex Hartley, youthful Briton, yesterday in the playoff of a tie in which they finished after the regulation 36 holes of play on Saturday. Hartley scored 79 for the 18-hole playoff to win by six strokes.

Off his game from the first tee, Dr. Willing never did get started. He needed 43 strokes on the first nine to give Hartley, who played brilliantly, an eight-stroke lead at the turn.

Thus far the second time in his career Dr. Willing muffed his chance of winning the vase. Seven years ago he and Francis Ouimet, Boston veteran, finished the 36-hole competition in a tie but Ouimet won the playoff.

LOCAL HOCKEY CLUB SALE IS DENIED

By CARL W. SHATTO

Attorney James F. Callahan, president of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, today denied that the Pittsburgh franchise in the National Hockey League has been sold.

News service reports on the business transacted at the annual National League meeting at Toronto last Saturday were to the effect that the Pittsburgh franchise had been sold to Lincoln Dickey, of Atlantic City, and that the Pirates would play at the New Jersey resort until a new rink is available in Cleveland.

Callahan, who attended the league session in Toronto, today said that this report was 100 per cent erroneous.

The National League rules require a club owner to obtain the league's sanction to any proposed franchise transfer before a club can be sold. Attorney Callahan, representing Benny Leonard, owner of the ice Pirates, notified league officials that a group of Clevelanders, headed by Lincoln Dickey, sought to purchase the Pittsburgh franchise, and asked the league chiefs if the sale of the club to the Dickey group would be permitted.

The league officials voted to sanction such a transfer, Callahan said.

Callahan further stated that the league's sanction of a possible transfer made him free to negotiate with Dickey, that the negotiations now are under way and that a definite decision will be reached within two or three days.

Callahan denied that Dickey is representing the Van Sweringen interests in Cleveland. It previously was reported that the Van Sweringens planned to build a rink in Cleveland and were seeking a National League franchise.

In the event Dickey buys the Pittsburgh club, he will take the team to Atlantic City until his group finishes construction of a rink in Cleveland.

22 U. S. STARS ARE PAIRED

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 12.—(AP.)—America will be represented by 22 entrants in the British amateur golf championship, play in which starts here May 26.

This strong United States challenge, revealed today with announcement of the draw for the championship, is supplemented by three entries each from Canada, France and India, and one each from Cuba and the Philippines. All told, 272 have entered, a record for the event.

Except for the clashing of the two Bostonians, Joshua Crane and Francis Ouimet, in the second round, the Americans are well scattered throughout the draw.

Bobby Jones and Cyril Tolley both have drawn byes into the second round and, being in the top half, will meet if successful in their first two matches. Jones meets S. Roper, of Woolston Park, in the second round. Other Americans who received byes into the second round in the top half were:

F. C. Stevens, Jr., vs. C. H. Longstaff, of Aldeburgh; Robert T. Hunter, Portland, Ore., vs. J. D. O'Hanlon, of Kingwood; George Voigt, New York, vs. Edward Tuck, Langley Park; G. Parker Toms vs. E. B. Tipping, Royal Ashdown Forest; J. Caldwell vs. G. D. Forrester, Royal St. Davids.

First round pairings for the Americans: Paul Ashill vs. J. D. Dewar of Turnhouse; Harrison E. Johnston, Minneapolis, vs. Bernard Darwin, Harvey Bates Farrin vs. P. B. Bradshaw, Royal and Ancient; G. R. Thornton vs. W. Hope Fisher, Royal and Ancient.

Americans receiving byes into the second round in the bottom half were—Howard C. Davis vs. John McCredie, Morton Hill; Francis Ouimet, New York, vs. J. R. Bark, Sunningdale Park; Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., vs. W. Spark of Victoria Montrose; J. B. Gwaltney vs. E. L. Archibald, Ingenuity of Aquella; C. Gore vs. J. D. Dear of Stoneham; George Von Elm, Detroit, vs. Dr. H. Gardiner Hill, Royal and Ancient; Richard Mackenzie, Washington, vs. H. M. Cairnes, of Portarlington; F. H. Chambers vs. R. Craig, of Aberdovey; Joshua Crane, Boston, vs. Francis Ouimet, Boston; Rowland Sanders vs. Stewart Forsyth, of Royal Burgess; Don Moe, Portland, Ore., vs. Jess Harley, Linden Beach; Walter G. Forsyne vs. Archibald Clarke, Roehampton; Norman Newton of Havana, meets T. F. Whittaker of Royal Worlington, in the second round.

GIANTS, CARDS, YANKS, TRIBE VICTORS

Associated Press.

When a team that has been having a hard time holding a place among the league leaders, although it holds the club batting lead, and one which has stretched a winning strak about as far as possible get together, something is bound to happen. It did yesterday when the Cleveland Indians entertained the Philadelphia Athletics and an overflow crowd of Cleveland fans.

The Indians have shown plenty of hitting power all season while the Athletics had a bad beating coming to them after winning 9 out of 10 games. The beating was inflicted to the tune of 25 to 7, by far the biggest score of the major league season.

ROMMEL CHASED

Cleveland started by clubbing Ed Rommel from the mound with five hits and three runs in the first inning. And they kept improving this pace, scoring in every inning up to the eighth, 25 hits.

Wesley Ferrell held the world's champions to four hits in his six innings on the mound. He allowed five runs but his mates beat that in two different innings, getting seven in the fourth and six in the sixth.

Cleveland's batting feat stood out on a day of rather light hitting. The only game that approached it was Brooklyn's 10 to 2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Robins made 18 hits for their third successive victory in the series, while Dazzy Vance held Pittsburgh to four. The game put Brooklyn in third place in the National League, dropping Pittsburgh into a three-way tie for fourth.

CARDS WIN TWO

The St. Louis Cardinals made 25 hits but they had to win both ends of a double header from the Boston Braves to do it. The scores were 5 to 3 and 7 to 6, carrying the Cardinals to six successive victories and Boston to as many defeats.

The New York Giants made their hold on the league's first place safe for the current series with the second place Chicago Cubs by winning their third encounter, 9 to 7.

Ben Frey, who has taken part in nine of Cincinnati's 22 games, hurled his fourth complete game and won his fourth victory by limiting Philadelphia to seven hits while the Reds pulled out a 5-to-4 win.

MORRIS BEATS BROWNS

Ed. Morris produced the day's best pitching feat as he held the St. Louis Browns to two hits for the second day in succession. The Boston Red Sox won the game, 2 to 1, on Regan's home run. Charley Ruffing made his debut in a New York Yankee uniform and helped the Yankees beat Detroit, 7 to 6, given a good start by Babe Ruth's fifth home run of the season in the first inning.

Ted Lyons, of Chicago, hurled 10 innings to defeat Washington 5 to 3, in a fine duel with Bump Hadley.

Former Cue Champ To Perform Here

William Clearwater, three-time holder of the world pocket billiard championship, and an expert shot-maker, will give an exhibition of his prowess at Chris Dimling's billard rooms, Smithfield street, tomorrow evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Clearwater will meet local cue stars in exhibition matches and will give an exhibition of fancy and trick shot making.

STOCK TRADING PROFESSIONAL AND DULL

Sporadic Efforts to Push Prices Higher Meet With Immediate Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—The stock market appeared to lack conviction as to its position at the beginning of the new week today. Commission houses were inclined to advocate steering close to shore until current levels are tested. Trading was extremely dull and highly professional. There were sporadic efforts to push prices higher, meeting with moderate success in a few issues, but there was a distinct tendency to take quick profits on advances.

Week-end trade reports emphasized moderate gains in retail trade, which encouraged speculation for the rise in some of the merchandising issues. The large-scale buying of copper metal during the last few days caused an upward revision of ¼ of a cent a pound for the metal, making the domestic price 12¾ cents, which was reflected in further strength in the copper issues. News from the petroleum industry was a little less cheerful, as threats of further price-cutting to force adherence to the curtailment plan on the Pacific Coast were heard but the shares in this group were dull.

GROUND UNCERTAIN

On the whole, traders appeared to feel that the sharp rebound last week represented only a technical correction of an oversold condition reached in the sharp reaction which came to a climax a week ago, and that the market again finds itself on uncertain ground. Speculative sentiment was none too cheerful, the more optimistic quarters holding that a quiet, irregular market may be expected, with selected issues making substantial progress, while the feeling in less cheerful circles was that a sustained rise would have to start from lower levels. Credit conditions held stationary, with call loans still commanding 3 per cent. It was felt that the new offering of $100,000,000 in treasury bills might cause a slightly firmer tendency at the end of the week.

Considerable pressure appeared against Radio, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric during the early afternoon, but losses were limited to a point or two. Market observers were inclined to link this feeling to the fact that the Department of Justice is planning to test the legality of the new alignment of these companies, but this fact has been public knowledge for several days. U. S. Steel fluctuated uncertainly, with the 216,433-ton reduction in unfilled tonnage during April apparently causing some liquidation.

United Corporation was sold in large blocks, but showed strong resistance. Auburn Auto dropped about 10 points, in response to the first quarter statement showing earnings of only 55 cents a share. J. I. Case declined nearly as much.

GAINS RECORDED

Some of the more high priced or erratic issues sold up several points, those gaining 5 points or more including Macy, Vulvan Detinning, Detroit Edison and International Business Machines. Manhattan Electric Supply, which developed acute weakness last week, rallied several points on publication of a reassuring financial statement.

Shares gaining 3 points or more included Anaconda, Howe Sound, Byers, Du Pont, Air Reduction, Best & Co., and American Power and Light. Warren Bros. was firm, reflecting announcement of a $12,000,000 Peruvian road building contract. Johns Manville sold up 3 points, then lost its gain.

Warren Brothers Get Peruvian Contract

BOSTON, May 12.—The Warren Brothers Company has been advised by cable that it has been awarded a contract by the Peruvian government for construction of 800 to 1,000 kilometers of road, mostly country highways, which are a part of the national highways system. The contract will amount to a minimum of $12,000,000 and may reach $15,000,000.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Curb stocks fluctuated narrowly today and trading in the earlier hours was even duller than in last Friday's stagnant session as operators made little effort to move the general list in either direction.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Commodities Now Nearing Bottom? Stocks May Rise

—By B. C. FORBES—

CHEERFUL SPEECHES are more numerous than cheerful statistics. Yet the underlying trend is, on the whole, in the right direction, and confidence in the continued improvement is unshaken.

The stock market continues to run true to the course predicted ever since the panic, and the probabilities are that it will continue to follow the path generally expected.

WHEN STOCKS were being sacrificed last fall it required no genius to foretell that there would be substantial recovery. That recovery duly set in. It began last month to be carried too fast and too far. The point was finally reached where responsible financial authorities had no hesitation in predicting that a setback would be logical, inescapable.

The setback came. It proved more sharp, more severe than anticipated.

What will be the next development?

Of COURSE, much will depend upon what happens outside of Wall street, in industry, in agriculture, in employment, in trade, in the money market, in Washington.

ASSUMING THAT THE GENERAL TREND CONTINUES FORWARD RATHER THAN BACKWARD, THE NEXT REAL MOVEMENT IN STOCKS SHOULD BE TOWARDS HIGHER LEVELS.

The writer did not hesitate to buy stocks during this latest break. Many sound bargains are still available for anyone who doesn't fancy he's smart enough to jump in and out of the market at a profit every time the list advances or recedes a few points. It is hardly conceivable that well selected stocks purchased at current levels will not enhance in value by and by.

It is entirely possible that before this year ends speculation will again run beyond reasonable bounds, carrying manipulated stocks far above present prices. You can depend upon it that the latest setback was taken advantage of by many wealthy individuals and by investment institutions to accumulate desirable securities.

SOMEHOW, the writer cannot resist the conclusion that the down swing in commodity prices has gone far enough and that the next substantial change will be upwards.

For six months or more consumers have ordered parsimoniously. This is true not only of ordinary individuals and families who buy retail, but is true of retailers and of wholesalers, is true of manufacturers using raw materials—in short, it is true of every class. Panics do not stop consumption. They have far more restrictive effect upon the placing of orders than upon actual day-by-day consumption. But in time supplies on hand before the boom burst became exhausted and ordering has to be resumed.

We should be very near that stage in many directions.

MONEY HAS AGAIN become cheaper in New York. Day loans are freely available at 3 per cent officially and 2½ per cent unofficially. Time funds are quoted 3½ to 3¾ up to 90 days, and 3¾ to 4 per cent for longer maturities—contrasted with 8½ to 9 per cent a year ago. Commercial paper is done at 3¾ to 4 per cent, against 6 per cent last year. Bankers acceptances were lowered last week to 2½ to 2⅜ up to four months. Brokers' loans were reduced no less than $200,000,000. Commercial borrowings are unsually light and the Reserve banks have raised their reserve ratio to 83 per cent.

The influence of this cannot but spread throughout the whole country, so that borrowers will be encouraged to exercise a larger measure of enterprise.

Also new offerings of bonds and stocks will be stimulated, especially once the German reparation bond issue is out of the way, perhaps before the end of this month.

CHEAP MONEY is not in itself a panacea. It cannot wholly offset the daily appearance of quarterly statements which, in most cases, make unfavorable comparisons. But cheap money has potently tonic qualities. Supplemented by general confidence, it is calculated to bring gradually the return of prosperity.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 12.—Rail issues continued their climb at a slow pace and foreign issues were firm as trading in bonds continued dull today. Sales were unusually small for a full trading session, and the movement was confined to narrow limits in a restricted list.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows. Odd omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

NO. 197.
AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing an Agreement between the City of Pittsburgh and the Duquesne Light Company for electric motor driven pumping equipment for use at the Brilliant Pumping Station of the City of Pittsburgh.
SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works for the City of Pittsburgh, are hereby authorized and empowered to execute an agreement with the Duquesne Light Company, whereby the said Company leases and lets, and the City leases from the Light Company electric motor driven pumping equipment to be used at the Brilliant Pumping Station of the City of Pittsburgh, which agreement shall be as follows:
ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT,
MADE and entered into this ..... day of ....., 1930, by and between the City of Pittsburgh, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter called "City"), acting in this behalf through Charles H. Kline, Mayor, and Edward G. Lane, Director of the Department of Public Works of said City, they having been duly authorized thereto by Ordinance of the Council of said City, approved the ..... day of ....., 1930, as party of the first part, and the Duquesne Light Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter called "Company"), a party of the second part.
WITNESSETH
WHEREAS—The City of Pittsburgh proposes to construct, operate and maintain an electric motor driven pumping station on its property known as the Brilliant Pumping Station Property; and
WHEREAS—The City desires the Company to furnish certain electric equipment for said Station.
NOW, THEREFORE KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That for and in consideration of the premises, and the mutual covenants contained herein, it is agreed by the parties hereto:
FIRST: The Company agrees to furnish and install, or have installed on foundations to be constructed by the City at the Brilliant Pumping Station, the following equipment:
Six motor driven centrifugal pumping units, each unit consisting of two centrifugal pumps in series and one synchronous motor, to be used for the purpose of pumping filtered water to the Highland No. 2 Reservoir.
Three pumps shall normally serve each reservoir, but the City may specify the design of certain of the units so that either reservoir may be served by such units.
The said units shall be of the motor, backplates and interframe pumps, and shall in all other respects conform to the specifications prepared by the Bureau of Water of the City of Pittsburgh.
SECOND: The Company will purchase such equipment at Pittsburgh after due advertisement and the submission of sealed competitive bids. The award of the contract for the purchase of said equipment shall be subject to the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works, who shall also have full right of inspection and access to the pumping units during manufacture and erection and shall be authorized to make acceptance tests of the guaranteed characteristics. The Company agrees to find payments for the same by the City as paid. Partial or final payments for the units shall be only made upon estimates of the Company approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works.
THIRD: The City agrees to construct all foundations necessary for the installation of the new electric equipment.
FOURTH: The Company agrees that in purchasing the equipment to be furnished it will obtain the best that the South manufacturer and the Company further agrees that it will extend every effort to deliver or have delivered one of the pumping units for the Reservoir at the earliest possible moment. The said units shall be erected upon temporary foundations in the present station building to serve as a reserve and standby unit. Upon the completion of the proposed new station the said units shall be moved to new station at the cost of the City, the said units remaining the property of the Company as herein set forth.
FIFTH: It is agreed that the electric equipment furnished by the Company will be installed on the foundations furnished by the City, and the City will make all pipe connections and wiring connections necessary, and will also provide the necessary machinery for excitation of the aforesaid motors.
SIXTH: The Company agrees to lease and demise the City by these presents does lease and demise all of the said electric equipment furnished and installed by the Company for a period of ..... years from the date of installation, and the City agrees to pay to the Company when all the equipment is accepted by the Director of the Department of Public Works.
SEVENTH: As rental for the said electric equipment furnished by the Company to the City, the City agrees to pay the Company annually an amount equivalent to 13.6% of the total cost of the equipment installed on foundations, said rental to be paid in ..... installments. The first payment shall be made one year after date of installation and the remaining payments at intervals of one year thereafter, until ten payments have been made, providing, however, that the City may, at any time during the ten years, elect to purchase the said equipment from the Company, in which event the City shall pay to the Company an amount equivalent to the total cost of the equipment installed on foundations, plus interest at the rate of 6% per annum thereon, deducting therefrom the rentals previously paid to the Company by the City, and interest on such payments, at the rate of 6% per annum to the date of such purchase.
For the purpose of defining the total cost which is to be the basis of the rental charges, the cost shall include the prices actually paid under aforesaid contracts with manufacturers and also interest at the rate of 6% per annum upon all partial payments from their dates of payments, to the date of installation.
At the end of the ten-year period, providing the City has not elected to purchase the equipment at an earlier date, and providing further that the City is not in default in any of its annual payments of rent or otherwise in default under this lease, the title to said equipment shall forthwith vest in the City of Pittsburgh.
EIGHTH: So long as the City does not exercise its option to purchase the equipment at an earlier date, and until the final payment of rent has been paid, title to all of the equipment shall be and remain in the Company, and no title thereto shall pass to the City.
NINTH: The City agrees to maintain, operate and repair all of said equipment during the term of this agreement, and further agrees to indemnify and save harmless the Company from and against all claims, charges, costs or liabilities of whatsoever kind, which may arise by reason of the operation of said equipment on City property, and operated by the City.
TENTH: The Company shall have the right, at all reasonable times, to enter upon the premises known as the "Brilliant Pumping Station Property" for the purpose of inspecting the equipment hereunder, or the Company, provided, however, that the Company has given to the City notice of its intention to enter upon the premises for the purpose aforesaid.
ELEVENTH: The City further agrees that it will take, while the lease herein provided is effective, electric service from the Company for the operation of the electric equipment, and will enter into a contract with the Company whereby the City agrees to take, and the Company agrees to furnish, electric service under the regular rate tariffs of the Company.
TWELFTH: It is understood and agreed that this agreement is subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and in event that the Commission should refuse to approve this agreement, then the same shall become void and of no effect.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the contract is signed and executed for the City of Pittsburgh by Charles H. Kline, Mayor and Edward G. Lane, Director of the Department of Public Works, and the Duquesne Light Company has hereunto affixed its common or corporate seal, duly attested by the proper officers thereof.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Kindness

"The good, the kind, the faithful are always rewarded," intoned Grandpa Fosdick.

"If they hustle, meanwhile," muttered Greg Fosdick, his grandson.

"What say, Gregory?"

"I said, Grandpop, that you are right by a mile," the young man said, loud enough for the old man to hear.

"In a pig's snoot you are," the young man murmured.

"What say, Gregory?"

"I said you bet your boots you are, Grandpop."

"Yes, yes."

The old man tapped the floor with his cane.

"Did you fetch me some of them cheroots, Gregory?"

"Yup."

He went to his overcoat and brought forth a package of the old time twisted black cheroots and gave them to the old man. He flashed his pocket lighter and helped him light one up. The smoke was strong, almost acrid. Gregory wanted a cigaret, but it wouldn't do. The old man despised them. The old man was wealthy, and his days were not only numbered, but he was close up to the last numbers, Gregory thought.

Grandpa Fosdick had plenty of relatives, scores of them, from very distant third cousins by marriage to three grandchildren, one wealthy son, who was in the Argentine, and plenty of nieces, nephews and the like.

Grandpa Fosdick also had plenty of money.

He was no millionaire, to be sure, but the relatives guessed all the way from fifty thousand to half a million.

Grandpa was foxy. Much of his fortune was in gilt-edge securities, stocks and bonds. No one knew how much he had.

Gregory Fosdick was the son of Grandpa's favorite son, who had died many years ago, and he was the favorite grandson. Gregory knew it. He intended to remain the favorite grandson. That was why he always drove out to Grandpa's old home in High Village on Saturday afternoons, remained over Sunday and drove back early to job on Monday.

Not at Week-End Doings

Gregory's mother was dead. He had been hustling for himself quite a while. His grandfather sent him to a business school and Gregory was an accountant in the New York office of a big motion picture concern.

Gregory would have preferred to have remained in town and played around, but that would have been rank foolishness.

Grandpa expected him every week. Old Mrs. Cutting, who kept house for Grandpa, made him comfortable as to food and keeping the house neat, but there were so many things to do that she couldn't manage.

Greg had fallen rather hard for Pearl Bennett, one of the bright girls in the publicity department. Pearl liked Greg, but she also liked a good time. Greg was never around for Saturday night parties or to go week-ends out on the island and Pearl informed Greg that if he didn't want to take her, there were plenty of others.

"I'd rather take you than all the rest of the dames I know, to date, you little crate of peaches," Greg told her, "but I have to drive out to a hick burg in Jersey and look after my old grandfather. He's alone and needs me."

"That's a hot one—what's this Jersey girl's name, Greg? I'll bet she's got money."

"You got me wrong, Pearl, honestly—"

"I haven't got you. I don't want you. I want a live one. You and your poor old grandfather gag!"

Pearl gave him the laugh.

Greg was tempted to quit going out to see Grandpa. He told Tom Parmenter about it. Tom roomed with him.

"Listen, Greg, to your Uncle Tom—dames are plenty—you can get nice lookers anywhere, any time, but a guy never has more than two rich grandfathers and darn few have even one. You be good to the old gent and take your reward in millions."

Just a Hick Place

So Greg continued to spend week-ends with his aged grandfather.

High Town was surely one hick place, but there was little Amy Reynolds living here. She was pretty enough and classy enough for the big town, only her invalid mother had to live at that altitude in the quiet country.

Now and then Amy came over to see Grandfather Fosdick and to bring him some jellies or something nice and tasty. Amy was not related to him at all and her mother had 10 times the fortune the old man possessed, so no one could say she was playing the kind Samaritan in the hopes of being remembered in his will.

Greg met Amy at his grandfather's.

He liked her at once.

This was right after Pearl Bennett had thrown him over. But he would have fallen for Amy, anyway.

After she had gone he asked his grandfather about her.

"She don't like fellers," the old man said. "I knew her ma, who was borned here. They're awful rich. Her ma has been sick for years. She told me she knew Amy wouldn't never marry because she didn't like men. Too bad, Greg," and he chuckled, "if there was a chance you might set your cap for her."

"Not thinking of women, Grandpop. I've got to make my way up in the world first, that's the important thing," he lied, with fluent ease.

"That's right, Greg—you got sense, and, as I always tell th' others, you got a good heart. Th' Lord rewards them that is kind and good, especially to the old, and I'm getting on."

Greg was human, and tired of waiting and his thought was "Don't let me detain you," but he said: "Shucks, Grandpop, we'll plug along here and have good times for many and many a year."

It seemed to Gregory that he was right about it. All through the Summer and Fall and Winter Grandpop Fosdick hung on.

Greg met Amy Reynolds now and then. He didn't have to try to be nice to her—he couldn't help it. He found that he was getting crazy over her, but he couldn't hand her a line the way he did other girls. He didn't want to frighten her, he wanted to make a good im, ..ssion—and he wanted her. Even if she had been a poor girl he would have wanted her.

Praised by Amy

In the spring Grandpa Fosdick said: "Greg, this Amy Reynolds thinks you're a pretty nice boy. That's because she knows how good you are to me."

"Nice girl, Grandpa, but I can't afford to think of girls."

"You'll be prosperin' in your work some day, then you can afford to think of girls."

Greg worked in the garden until dark. Amy stopped in her car and asked about the old man.

"He's so fond of you, Mr. Fosdick. I tell him he ought to be, for so few young men are as kind and thoughtful.

"He's alone and feeble, Amy, and this is the least I can do."

"Yes," agreed Amy, turning red and getting a thrill out of the way he called her "Amy."

"Now, Greg, I got somethin' particular for you to do," the old man said when they finished the midday dinner. The old man believed that dinners were made to be eaten at noon.

"Hells bells," muttered Greg.

"What say?"

"I said 'Very well,' Grandpop—what is it you want me to do?"

"I got a box of books and things in the open attic, you fetch it down. I want to read some of them old books again before I pass on."

"Make it snappy, the passing on," Greg grumbled. He had hoped the "something particular" would be a talk about the old man's will.

"What say, Greg?"

"I said it would make me happy to bring 'em down, Grandpop."

The old man nodded and smiled.

"You mark my words, Greg, the good and kind and faithful are always liberally rewarded. Git down that box. I don't guess I could make two flights of stairs."

Greg brought down the box.

There were a dozen old books, bound Poor Richard's almanac and such ancient things, also some Civil War papers and a globe, one about a foot in diameter. The old man spun it around.

"Greg," he said, "you remember that?"

"Sure, Grandpop."

"I taught your father all th' countries on that globe and when you was a kid you uster get on my knee and I taught you where to find England and how Italy looked like a boot, remember?"

Grandpa Dies

"Sure," lied Greg. He didn't remember a thing about it.

"Lots of memories with that old globe," he said. "It's only painted tin and comes apart, but I've spent many happy hours over it. Help me dust them books and set 'em on the table where I can get 'em."

Greg drove back to the city at sunrise next morning as usual.

A month later Grandpop Fosdick died.

Greg had to rush back to work after the funeral. The lawyer said he would notify him.

Worse luck, Greg had to make a flying trip to the coast for the company, to explain some accounts in person. When he got back there was a package and a letter in his room. Tom Parmeter was reading. Greg unpacked the thing. It was the old globe.

Greg told Tom about it and opened the letter.

It was a copy of the will that had been read. All that concerned Gregory was this paragraph in codicil:

"To my faithful and beloved grandson, Gregory Fosdick, I leave the globe he and his father studied from at my knee. I know he will cherish it, and as he is young, and has a good position, he is in need of nothing."

Tom Parmenter roared. Gregory stared at the old globe.

"Why, ——— ——— that ——— ——— thing!" Greg yelled and he gave it a mighty kick.

The globe's twin halves flew apart and a bundle of papers fell out. Greg examined them.

Bonds—fifty thousand dollar gilt-edged bonds, five of them! And a scrawled note from the old man, a letter from the grave, it seemed to the awed Greg. He read:

"What my other relatives don't know they won't fuss over, Gregory. These are for you. I told you that goodness and kindness are always rewarded. Now you can afford to marry that girl named Amy."

Which is exactly what Gregory Fosdick did.

All names of characters in this story are fictitious.

Author of Whole Story.

CHAPTER II

(Eleven, Not No. 1)

Let us see where we go back to last Saturday and find where we left off with lovers. Do you remember who is Miss Fay? She is jealous girl who will not say she is in love with Mister Black but it is a true fact and that is why she hastens to tell him that Tulip Brown is breaking promise and causing flirtation with boy her own age in Boston by letters back and forth. "What?" says Mister Black, "if you make a lie to me I will not fail to strike straight from shoulder, but if you tell truth I will strike Tulip Brown who is only woman I ever love. What! She is making love to stranger. Get me hat and I will go see to it."

And so we leave scene in hardware store and jump mind's eye elsewhere tomorrow.

Davis Depends on Record; Grundy on Corporations

Intelligent Workmen Will Resent Attempted Coercion.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for the United States Senate, has made a serious charge against his chief opponent, Senator Joseph R. Grundy. The charge will carry more weight than usually attaches to accusations made in the heat of a political campaign, because Secretary Davis is not a hot-headed, impetuous man and is not in the habit of going off half-cocked.

He accuses Grundy of bringing pressure to bear on big corporations to influence their employes to vote for Grundy. He speaks of factories being shut down and the workers driven to political meetings, and rightly denounces it as a form of coercion that should have no place in our governmental system.

If Grundy has been doing this, it is no more than to be expected in view of his record as a manufacturer who has used his position as head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association for political purposes. Of course Grundy relies on the corporations to "put him over." He has always relied on them.

But it is hard to understand why corporations, unless seeking privileges to which they are not entitled, should feel they must rely on Grundy. Grundy stands for a protective tariff, but so does Davis. Grundy stands for little else, so far as national legislation is concerned, while Davis, a man of infinitely broader vision, is interested in and advocates many other things equally important for the advancement of the citizens' welfare.

Intelligent workmen will resent attempted coercion and will not permit themselves to be hoodwinked into believing that the best way to assure themselves of employment at good wages is by voting for Grundy. A study of the two men's records will reveal Davis as a better friend of the workingman.

Pittsburgh Population Shows Prideful Growth

Pittsburgh's official population, estimating 3,000 as the number of residents of two missing districts, is 663,101. That is for the city proper, whereas our real population is shown only when the community is considered as a metropolitan district. The showing for the city limits is not at all bad when it is recalled that there has been large removal of population from downtown and other wards as industry and commerce advances into districts formerly largely residental. Since such removal has been to boroughs and townships it has meant permanent loss to the city.

That we have been able to show an increase over the official figures of 1920, which were 588,343, is a matter of comfort. It shows that although many city districts suffered loss of population the community at large has grown because some of the districts to which population has moved have become part of the city by annexation. Yet most of our more populous residential suburbs remain on the outside.

So, as we state, our real population will not be known until the metropolitan district has been polled completely and computed. In the 1920 ceusus the population of the Pittsburgh metropolitan district was 1,207,504.

Official figures have long had the habit of shrinking "estimated" populations, so there need be no disappointment about the Pittsburgh showing. Part of every such estimate is hope. Our community, considered in any light, is a fine place to live in regardless of size. Our commerce and industry and mercantile business are the real indexes of position in the world, and in all of these Pittsburgh is among the leaders, even if many who help to make it so live beyond the city limits.

Senate Delays Passage of Most Important Prison Bill

Ohio's prison holocaust that burned to death 320 inmates of the Columbus penitentiary has stirred the United States Senate to action.

Seven of the eight House bills to alleviate the desperate conditions in federal penitentiaries have finally passed the Senate and will promptly receive the approval of the President.

Enactment of this legislation will provide for a wider and more effective use of probation. It will expedite action on parole cases. It will permit the establishment of road camps and prison industrial projects.

But the most important of all the eight House bills has been held up in the Senate. And unless it is passed before adjournment federal officials will find themselves unable to cope with the emergency due to the brutal overcrowding in federal penitentiaries.

This is the bill authorizing the construction west of the Mississippi of a reformatory to care for young first offenders, many of whom must now be herded with hardened criminals.

This bill also provides for the construction of a new penitentiary in the thickly populated northeastern section of the country to relieve the congestion and idleness and lack of training to which many federal prisoners from that part of the country are now doomed.

All the most reliable penologists agree that construction of additional institutions and not enlargement of existing ones is absolutely essential if the inmates are to be rehabilitated before they are released.

Attorney General Mitchell has warned the Congress, in appealing for this legislation, that over 98 per cent of federal prisoners are ultimately released and returned to society.

That is why, aside from the Christian duty to treat even prisoners humanly, "THE PUBLIC INTEREST REQUIRES THAT THEY BE NOT ALLOWED TO DEGENERATE PHYSICALLY, MENTALLY AND MORALLY, BUT THAT THEY BE BUILT UP SO THAT WHEN RETURNED TO SOCIETY AS MANY AS POSSIBLE SHALL BECOME USEFUL CITIZENS."

OUR LEGION OF HONOR -:- Drawn by Nelson Harding

Our nation's honoring the ones
Whose gone but not forgotten sons
Are living in the memory
Of those who now shall cross the sea,
In sorrow, but in pride depart
The mothers whom the nation's heart
And spirit truly go afar
With wearers of the golden star.

His honor, the Jimmsy, mayor of New York, traveled to Bermuda incognito. He was mugged in the books as plain Mr. Walker.

"Bugs" Baer

All the papers carried his picture which made him as obscure and indiscernible as a mule in a mortar bed.

It is now the habit among great and famous human binks to travel in code.

World dignitaries are as difficult to handle as sheep in wool clipping time. They refuse to give forth interviews, will not recite Mother Goose for the news reels with sound and hire White House spokesmen to take up the shock of recoil.

In the olden days before knighthood shed its tail feathers, a great man liked to let the neighbors' children know that he was en route, bigger and better than ever.

He billed himself like a three-ring circus and marched in peace and quiet behind a brass band so big that Paul Whiteman couldn't hide it.

A cloud on the horizon no larger than the belfry of a needle was the signal for a fanfare of trumpets that made 'em send the welkin to the repair shop.

At the village elders lined up on the burgomaster's steps like smelts frozen in ice. The village maidens put on their best bib and bobs. They made the duke's itinerary a path of roses, violets and other flora and delicatessen.

Then it happened. One day the king had his eyebrows burned off by the world's first flashlight.

If his eyebrows were burned off you can imagine what happened to his whiskers.

Since then, anybody who can keep his name out of town topics travels incognito.

When the Prince of Wales spins around the latitudinal track he goes meekly as Lord Renfrew. He can also use the guaranteed labels of Duke of Cornwall or Duke of Rothesay.

But he prefers to be Lord Renfrew, incorporated, a member of a very well known firm. He is tired of listening to the testimonial body squeaks of respectful and bowing burgomasters.

Fame, like obscurity, becomes as monotonous as the thumps in a Punch and Judy show. Most of us have no trouble in attaining the privilege of traveling incognito.

In fact, it is quite a compliment to the rest of us when a traffic cop asks to see our driver's license.

SCIENCE AND BUSINESS

By Archibald Henderson

Industry and big business today, especially in America, exhibit the results of an industrial revolution far more significant than that of a century ago.

We hear much of mass production—as if that were a derogatory term. In reality it should be a highly approved term, since it means production for the masses. It is the economic mode of diffusing education generally.

By putting necessities, conveniences and even luxuries within the reach of all, or at least an overwhelming majority of the population, industry is enriching individual and social life in an incomparable degree. Big business and mass production are among the greatest educative influences of today.

The keystone of the arch of mass production is science. The key to business success on a vast scale is scientific management.

In earlier days, as Edward A. Filene has recently pointed out, chief executives succeeded in business largely by haphazard methods. It was all a matter of individual judgment. The executive who had the best "hunches," whose business opinion was nearer the mark than that of his competitor, won in the sharp race of industrial competition.

This form of industrial control was extremely hazardous; the percentage of failures was immense. The industrial heads guessed wrong too often. They acted upon insufficient data. They had not assembled the essential information indispensable to business success. They don't know the facts.

To continue this policy today would be ruinous. The markets of the world are crowded with competitors. Industrial opportunism and haphazard methods spell failure and ruin. A dogmatic control, on the basis of insufficient data, will get you nowhere. An answer, handed down ex cathedra from on high, will not suffice today. The great executive must search the field over and arrive at the facts, by means of scientific experts, authorities, fact-finding boards.

Key men are needed everywhere, men who know what is what — and how! — in business industry. The need for scientific experts in all branches of business and industry today is pressing and acute. Without scientific management the great plants in the basic industries could not run successfully for a month.

There is a growing trend for the establishment of a closer connection between industry and education. As Filene puts it:

"The ancient theory of business was to add a profit to the cost of production, however great the cost of production was, and the search for the few customers with sufficient buying power to pay such a price. The new principle is to set a price which the masses can pay and then enlist all the available science in the world to discover how the thing may be produced and sold at a profit within that price."

The machine civilization not only needs this truth but is rapidly becoming conscious of the need. Business needs fact-finders with adequate equipment and adequate buying power. And it needs fact-finders not only in the realm of chemistry and physics but in every science which points a way to a larger human life.

A supreme need of today and of the immediate future in big business, particularly here in the United States where mass production chiefly flourishes, is the full recognition of the need for scientific knowledge in business.

The research scientists in our colleges and universities deserve adequate reward for their indispensable services. In proportion to these services, estimated in terms of immediate or ultimate financial value, the research workers in science are the most underpaid men in the community.

Economic studies recently carried out show that their salaries should be doubled, to maintain the true ration of the value of their services to society.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

If you must lie—lie out loud. If you must make excuses—make them to others. If you must cheat—cheat your friends and family. But don't lie to yourself. Don't make excuses to yourself. Don't cheat yourself.

There may be hope for your ultimate decency if you are dishonest and cowardly to outsiders. For then you will meet with such contempt and punishment that you may be forced into honesty and courage. But there is very little hope for you if you lie or alibi to yourself. For you will speedily smother the only guardian which you have within you—the "still, small voice of conscience." And after that all things will seem the same to you. The barriers that once stood tall and straight between right and wrong, beauty and foulness, will slowly but surely crumble. Presently you will feel that any act is justified by the fact that you are doing it.

This thing may be a very comforting feeling at first. You will have a confidence and complacency which conscientious people do not feel. It will give you a certain sort of power. Success and wealth may come more easily. But you will not be growing more powerful inside, nor wealthier, nor more successful.

You will be going deeper and deeper into a darkness which will presently hold no beauty for you at all, and no delight—only a deadly monotony of sensation, as though scar-tissue had grown over your soul. Which it has!

The most frightful thing that can happen to a man is that he should lie to himself and gradually come to believe his own lies.

There is, in the Bible, a certain mysterious phrase — "the sin against the Holy Ghost"—which sin was said to be unforgivable. As a child I used to wonder, with a shivery horror, what this frightful sin could be. Nor has anyone ever enlightened me. All men have different definitions. But to me, the sin against the Holy Ghost has come to mean self deception—the lies one tells oneself.

If there is anything holy in life—if there is any sacred "ghost" on guard within our animal stupidity, it is that urge we call conscience—that sense of right and wrong. That sense may change with every generation, as man's knowledge of right and wrong develops.

It may be different in each individual, according to his growth. But in each man there is some standard of right, some "still small voice" that rules his particular world.

If a man is honest with himself he can take pride in himself, even though all other men despise him. A man will say to himself, "I have done a wrong thing. I may keep other men from discovering this wrong thing. I may manage to excuse myself if they do discover it—and hide behind lies. But I will not excuse it to myself or lie about it. I did it, and I know I did it, and I hate myself for doing it" . . . if a man will say that to himself he may still feel clean, even though his act is discovered and he is punished.

But if he lies to his own conscience he is in a desperate way. For the light that is within him will go out—and he will be lost in the night.

Isn't It So?

Some rich people are stingy because that's how they got that way.

The other half gets all the happiness out of marriage that the better half puts in.

The man who is doing his share of pulling on the oar, never has time to rock the boat.

Few men want an old-fashioned girl for a wife, and if they did they wouldn't know where to find one.

Text for Today

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shall believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.—Romans x:9, 10.

Those who still doubt or reject the truth of Evolution, should ponder their own. For their own private and particular evolution, even though it was all compressed into a nine months' span, was just as spectacular as the slow evolution of life as a whole.

H. G. Wells

Even that valiant apostle of Fundamentalism, William Jennings Bryan, began his existence as a single cell, passed from this stage to Protozoan resemblance through the stage of a cell-colony; hinted at ancestral polyps as he became two-layered; re-revealed himself akin to amphioxus in producing a notochord, only to destroy it later in favor of a backbone; indulged in reminiscence of the sea-life led by his fishy forebears by constructing with his amnion a little "private pond" of fluid in which he might embryonically float, and by piereing his neck with gill-clefts, only to do away with them when he subsequently recapitulated his ancestor's greatest feat, the conquest of the land; recalled the furry, four-footed stage of his genealogy by his tail, all ready to be wagged, and his coat of flaxen down; and even after birth, was unable to help recalling what he later regarded as a blot on his escutcheon—his simian past—by the active, semi-prehensile big toes on his babyish feet and his soon-lost ability (probably never exercised, but undoubtedly present in the first weeks of his free existence) to support his own weight when hanging with his hands.

We are thus no exception to life's rule. The human species has come into being like the rest, not from a sudden act of creation, but slowly, laboriously, by gradual and often devious ways.

And having been evolved, man, we are bound to suppose, must still go on along the lines of biological change. So far as our scientific data, we are bound to believe his present lordship is a precarious one.

He may become extinct, like the great beasts of the Age of Reptiles; nothing in his past or in his structure assures us against that; he may linger on in subordination to some new type evolved from another line of life, as the crocodiles and turtles and other reptiles of today are subordinated to us mammals; or he may become transformed age by age into something wholly and unrecognizably new, something more powerful or more specialized, as the Eohippus was changed into the horse.

In any case let us remember this simple fact—an elementary corollary of Evolution, but never seriously considered before Darwin's time—that there is not the slightest reason for supposing that the powers, intellectual, spiritual and emotional, which we human beings happen to possess, are the highest of which this planet is capable.

Our amphibian ancestor, which certainly had no more brains than a frog, could give rise to descendants with the brains of men. There is no reason whatever for supposing that another such stride and yet further strides in mental possibility, may not occur.

The one sure thing of which the spectacle of Evolution convinces us is that things will not remain as they are.

4. MAN'S PLACE IN TIME

Evolution we now perceive is a present reality, a going concern. There is no sign in man's incomplete being that it has culminated or is in any way arrested. We have a vividly interesting question before us: How long can the evolution of life go on? To that question it is now possible to give tentative answer.

The dating of fossils by rocks, as we have explained it in an earlier chapter, can be at best only a relative dating; it tells us that one kind of animal or plant lived and died before a second kind and after a third; but it tells us nothing as to any absolute date in years.

Yet the reader will have remarked that we have been giving the absolute age of different rocks with every considerable assurance: Early Cenozoic fifty million years ago, and so forth.

It is possible because, as the work of recent years has shown, some of the rocks of the earth's crust contain what we may call, without any fantastic exaggeration, geological clocks.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 12.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Out in the sparkling sunshine for a polka dot tie for myself and Meredith Nicholson, selecting patterns sedately befitting our august years. Breakfasted at a waffle parlor and returning to my chambers was nearly struck by a gigantic gold tooth falling from a dental sign.

In high spirits when a presser called with a $20 bill he found in an old surtout, but sad when he called later to announce it a mistake. So talked to Ernest Booth who wrote "Stealing Through Life," also George Longan, of the Kansas City Star, and to say farewell to R. Long against going abroad.

With my wife in the evening to see the comic Bert Lahr, and his risque drolleries gave me a side stitch as they did Dudley Field Malone across the aisle. Afterward we put in at the Flea circus, in passing, and so great is the power of suggestion I itched all the night.

Talbot Mundy has evolved a plan of "getting away from it all" while in the throes of creating a novel. He engages passage on a slow boat from New York to Liverpool, making the round trip and returning with the completed manuscript.

Few writers write by rote, but there are exceptions. Irvin Cobb has an office, but does most of his writing at home of his friend, Will Hogg, on Park avenue. He begins at 9 in the morning and quits promptly at 12:30. Octavus Roy Cohen writes from 9 until 1 p. m. and attends a movie every afternoon.

Rupert Hughes does most of his work after midnight, often putting the lid on the typewriter at sun-up. His wife stays up with him and reads. Edna Ferber has a telephoneless hide-away near her apartment, and averages four hours a day, quitting at sundown to tramp around the gravel path of the park reservoir.

Kathleen Norris is an early riser and is usually at her desk on her California ranch by 7 o'clock. Meredith Nicholson has an office in a downtown building in Indianapolis and observes regular hours. Sinclair Lewis will work furiously for six months and loaf six months.

Personal nomination for the best dressed Frenchman in New York—Pierre Cartier, the jeweler.

Romantic fiction featuring love interest between silent he-men of the West and New York's millionaire daughters is responsible for many cow-punchers losing jobs on dude ranches. The debutante likes to return to the city boasting of the handsome roper who fell for her charms.

As a result hundreds of rich young thrill seekers journey to the dude ranches to try out their wiles on the be-chapped and full-chested Adonises of the pampas. All of which is dandy fun for debbies but is often rough on the punchers.

Dude ranch owners have an inviolable rule that hired hands must not be "made." The minute they began to cast sheep-eyes toward the girls from the East, they find themselves looking for a job. They are instructed to be courteous but never flirtatious.

Incidentally, dude ranching is becoming a fad of movie and stage celebrities. Gary Cooper operates countless rolling acres in Montana. Hope Williams has one of the retreats in Wyoming and Julian Eltinge in California. Ed Wynn is negotiating for one in Colorado.

* * *

A visitor shoots a scathing letter to the press about a Russian taxi driver who upon being engaged for a three-block haul roamed about for three miles. He should be tolerant. The gypsy strain, you know.

A real estate letter gurgles: "We have a 20-room house on the Jersey coast overlooking the sea which will appeal to you. At night you can throw open your windows and be lulled into dreamless slumber by the gentle swish of the ceaseless waves. In the morning you can awaken and without leaving your bed gaze out at the majestic expanse of ocean, dappled in sunshine. It can be acquired for an initial payment of $100,000."

Thanks, but I'm just a creek boy.

Over a blind and legless service man's news hutch: "Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday."

* * *

"What woud you do," writes, S. M. C., "if five doctors told you six upper teeth must come out."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You have an opportunity to learn certain things, but you cannot see where you will ever have any use for it.

You hesitate and finally decide against it.

You have the time and ability and the opportunity, but lack the desire at the time it is presented.

Some day you will regret a lost opportunity.

You can't see ahead, and perhaps experience also is lacking.

You have not come to know that all knowledge is correlative.

Everything you learn today dovetails with what you learn tomorrow, and so on through life.

It all depends upon your being able to see the relation and use it.

Some persons are so dumb or so obtuse that they go on learning what they call "separate subjects" and their knowledge does not make them educated.

To put to work every bit of knowledge you have shows education.

To stop studying when you can't see where it is going to help you is the best sign in the world that you will not progress.
